BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

anger endureth but a moment: in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.—Psalm 30:5. JOY FOR WEEPING: - His

MOTHER'S DAY

At the time of the observance of Mother's day last year we ventured a remonstrance against the idea connoted by the setting apart of a single day on which each of us should honor his mother. It seemed to us that to spur one's sentiment on one day of the year was not the evidence of true affection. One's mother should have his best thought and affection every day of the year.

When we said this a year ago the idea was mildly criticised by some of our friends. They said that the observance of the day was to be compared to that of other special occasions in the year which no one would think of celebrating right through the year and the Fourth of July was cited for comparison.

We have let the year go by before trying to answer with the idea that if any thought were given to the subject in that time our friends would find their criticism answered in their own minds. The answer to the Fourth of July comparison is that that day is an anniversary as is practically every day especially observed. If not an anniversary the idea back of the observance is one that is fitted for annual notice. The thought of one's mother, we say again, is not a matter of that sort If one thinks of his mother at all and who does not? if he reveres her memory or cherishes her living affection he will honor Mother's day every day in the year.

We do not mean to be taken as objecting to the idea to be expressed tomorrow. But we do say that the time for thinking of your mother is not tomorrow alone but always.

Flappers

My aunt was once a flapper, and flapped rebellious wings; but now she is a scrapper for old, time-honored things. I've heard some ghastly rumors that when she was eighteen she wore a pair of bloomers upon the village green. And there were protests priestly, and every righteous dame denounced her course as beastly, and said it was a shame. The moral weekly paper gave auntie half a page, and said her shameful caper discredited the age. Revolt was auntie's passion, when she was young and fair; she rode a horse man fashion, and bobbed her sorrel hair. The flappers now around us imagine they're unique, determined to confound us by some unseemly freak. But it's old stuff, my masters; the damsels of the past were wont to shock their pastors, and make them stand aghast. We see the pullets moulting as hens have always done, and damsels were revolting way back in '81. My aunt was busy flapping in bygone sunny springs, and now we hear her yapping for old and changeless things. And maidens now rebelling against the whichful whence, when older will be yelling that young girls have no sense.

Uses for Turpentine. Turpentine has many uses which the housekeeper will appreciate. A tittle of it in the suds on wash day lightens the laundry labor, and a teaspoonful to a quart of water, if applied to plants once a week, will make the leaves greener and cause the blossoms to become brighter. It is a sure pre-ventive against moths by just dropping a trifle in the bottom of chests, drawers and cupboards.

Valuable Pair of Fish. Two fish from the Amazon recently arrived in London, England, having winglike fins colored red and yellow and black stripes on the body, are valued at $100 the pair.

The Noblest Classic.

The translation of the Bible is the remarkable and interesting event in the history of translations; it is an ilnation, the language; it is, properly speaking, less a translation than an original, having most of the movit of the former as to style, and all the merit of the latter as to thought; It is the noblest, best, most finished classte of the English tongue,-T. S.

MOST PEOPLE

Accept the statement that milk is necessary for growing children, but many do not realize that it is really indispensable.

Badly bowed legs of little tots are directly caused by lack of the lime needed to harden the bones, and not, as some suppose, because the children walk too soon. The same cause is responsible for early decay in children's teeth.

Good, pure milk is rich with the lime needed to feed and harden the bony structure, and the growing child should be given a liberal supply of it at every meal. Not less than a quart a day should be consumed by each child.
