MOVIES

ERICH VON STROHEIM

UNDERSTANDS WOMEN

A new type of villain has appeared. No more do the galleries reverberate with the hiss of the beetle-browed, bewhiskered villain as he corners the tearful heroine and demands the "papers." No longer does Desmond the Desperate stalk through act after act or reel after reel, running the gamut of human villainies.

It has remained for Erich von Stroheim, author, director and principal actor in "Foolish Wives," to create the perfect villain—a parlor-snaky sort of villain who glides through life wrecking homes by the lift of an eyebrow—a suave heartbreaker with a jaunty monocle and the most expressive of canes.

No curses soil his lips—only the dainty suspicion of a lip stick and the delicate perfume of his cigarette. He never gets blue with rage—the color of his cheek could never pale. In fact, he is a sartorial, tonsorial model whose manners are perfect.

"Foolish Wives" will be shown at the Liberty theater tonight for the first time.

William de Mille's Paramount production of "Miss Lulu Bett," a superb picturization of Zona Gale's novel and play, triumphed at the Grand theater yesterday. The picture is one of the best with which de Mille's name has been associated this season and presents a splendid cast of players who are most artistic in their portrayals. They include Lois Wilson, Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts, Helen Ferguson, Mabel Van Buren and others. It will be shown again tonight.

PREHISTORIC BONES FOUND BY MEXICAN

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)

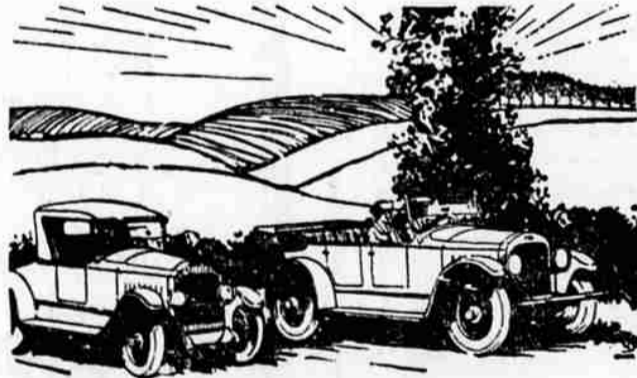

ROY, N. M., July 25.—What is believed to be the remains of some prehistoric animal were found near here recently by Encarnacion Lucero, a rancher. Lucero discovered part of a huge tusk protruding from the sand of a creek bed. Nearby he found two teeth and part of the jawbone of the animal. The tusk measured 19 feet 6 inches in length and 30 inches in circumference. The teeth are 9 by 5 by 11 inches.

BIG POWER for SMALL CARS

"Red Crown" enables your car to develop the maximum of power and per-gallon mileage that its makers designed it to give.

It vaporizes rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor—that means quick starting. It is consumed completely in the cylinders—that means a steady stream of power and more mileage at less cost.

Run your car with "Red Crown" and nothing else, and you won't have to bother with carburetor adjustments.

Fill at the Red Crown sign—at Service Stations, at garages, and at other dealers.
