ROSENGARTH IS HELD FOR JURY

$5,000 Bond Set For Appearance—Mann Act Violation Charged.

Louis Rosengarth of Bend was held to the federal grand jury here last night by United States Commissioner H. C. Ellis under $5,000 bonds on a charge of violating the Mann act. On the stand during the preliminary hearing, Rosengarth admitted that he had paid the passage of 21-year-old Anna Konetzka from Westphalia, Germany, to New York, had furnished her fare from that port to Bend, and after her arrival he had kept her at his home for several days.

The case, first handled by local officers, was turned over to Tom Word, federal investigator, when he arrived here yesterday in response to a wire from Chief of Police Willard Houston. Word filed the complaint last night after Rosengarth had been arrested on his instructions, and sent to Portland today for a United States marshal to take Rosengarth to Portland. Deportation proceedings, Word said, may be started against Rosengarth, who is not yet an American citizen despite the fact of his 11 years' residence in this country.

Flashing angry glances at Rosengarth, the girl told her story in fluent German. "I would not marry him, never," she declared emphatically when the commissioner questioned her on this point. Already she has written a complete report of the case and sent it to relatives in Germany to be referred to the German consular service in this country.

AID IN PLACING DISABLED VETS ASKED OF CLUB

600 Vocationally Trained Men Ready Soon

WORK IS DESCRIBED

W. T. McNulty Asks Cooperation of Bend Business Men—92 Vocations Represented—Need of Road Signs Is Discussed.

Assistance of the business men of Bend, through the Commercial club, in finding employment for disabled war veterans who have received vocational training, was asked today by W. T. McNulty on behalf of the Veterans' bureau at today's forum meeting. Six hundred men whose training has been completed will be available for employment within a few weeks, he declared. Over 92 vocations have been taught to these men in the schools and universities of the northwest.

Business men who have work for these men are asked to let the Veterans' bureau know of their needs. A man will be sent at no expense to the employer, and if he is not suitable, a second man will be sent, or the first man will go back for any additional training which may seem necessary.

Suggests Local Committee

A permanent committee in Bend to assist the bureau in placing these men was asked. McNulty suggested that, as in other cities, this committee be arranged by the Commercial club. The national chamber of commerce and practically all local organizations are assisting, he stated.

Appreciation of the work of the Veterans' bureau was expressed by Dr. Fred Thompson of Salem, of the state industrial accident commission, and by Dr. D. H. Leech, district superintendent of the Methodist church for the district in which Bend is located.

Dr. Leech complimented the Commercial club on its efforts toward community betterment.

"People measure their culture in two ways; by their ability to criticize, and by their ability to appreciate," Dr. Leech remarked, adding that he was assured through watching activities here, that the appreciative type of culture prevails in Bend. He announced the coming dedication of the Methodist church here.

G. W. Ager, superintendent of the Bend schools for next year, made a short talk.

Symons Urges Signs

The urgent need of road signs was pointed out by M. H. Symons, particularly leading to the Century drive, inside the city limits of Bend. "We are sending our tourists to the city dump," he declared. Symons offered to place signs all the way around the drive, if the club would have them prepared. On motion of D. G. McPherson, the old signs committee was revived, and Symons placed at the head of it.

A map which is being distributed by local merchants, put out by some private concern as advertising matter, was condemned by McPherson, who declared it to be out of date and misleading. The members of the club were asked to refrain from using this map. Secretary Antles reminded the members that the State Tourist and Information bureau has headquarters at the Commercial club office, and that they may secure accurate maps there, published by the bureau.

Young Cox was hunting rabbits, but the muzzle of the rifle was pointed in the wrong direction when the hammer was released. The bullet, entering the breast, passed through the body, making its exit from the back. A physician called from Redmond to dress the wound stated that the boy was in no danger.

WILL REBUILD PIPE FACTORY

Concrete Plant Construction To Start At Once, Says Easterday.

Announcement of plans to rebuild immediately the Bend Concrete Pipe Co. plant, destroyed last Friday night by fire, was made today by Phil Easterday, general manager of the Concrete Pipe Co. of Portland, on his return from Klamath Falls this morning. The plant will be replaced practically as it was before. Construction will be begun as soon as the loss on the old plant is adjusted, so that the debris may be removed.

Practically all of the machinery was warped so badly that it cannot be used, Manager C. H. Knowles of the local plant stated.

All but three carloads of the order of 10 cars of pipe for the Madras sewer system had been supplied previous to the fire. Knowles stated today. These three cars will be shipped from the Portland factory.

Work on the Klamath Falls plant is being rushed, and it will be put in operation next week, said Knowles. A number of men who were employed at the plant here will go to assist in starting the new plant.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN IN VOTE

Harding Candidate Sweeps Ohio—Klan Wins In Little Rock.

Three state primaries, in Ohio, Arkansas and Alabama, Tuesday, failed to reveal any indication of "new sentiment" and provided no upsets, according to returns tabulated today.

Carmel Thompson, Harding administration candidate for governor of Ohio, swept the state with a huge majority. Vic Donahey was chosen democratic nominee. Governor T. C. McRae is apparently nominated in Arkansas to succeed himself.

The Ku Klux Klan nominated its entire ticket in the Little Rock district. Judge W. W. Brandon was nominated by Alabama democrats for governor.

HEAR REPORTS OF DELEGATES

Legion And Auxiliary Hold Joint Business And Social Session.

Activity of the local Legion post and auxiliary unit was revived last night, after being suspended for several weeks except for participation in the department conventions at The Dalles. Last night's meeting was called for the purpose of hearing the reports of delegates who attended those conventions.

The Central Oregon posts, which presented a united front on all matters coming before the convention, were an important factor in all issues, Frank R. Prince declared. By holding together in this manner, they not only secured three important offices in the department, but further cemented the unity between the posts in this part of the state, and increased the respect which the other delegations had for Central Oregon.

Appraisers Blamed

Investigation of the bonus commission's work revealed that most of the delay has been the fault of appraisers and attorneys and the men making application, it was reported by Lynn B. Covert, who was a member of the committee which conducted this investigation.

Charles W. Erskine explained the changes in the department constitution, making the adjutant appointive, making the last past commander a member of the executive committee to take the place of the adjutant. An attempt to have all past department commanders named as delegates-at-large to the convention, and another to prohibit appointive state and government officials holding Legion office, failed, he stated. State dues were raised to $1, he reported.

Mrs. Caroline Horner reported on the auxiliary convention, to which she was a delegate. Hospital work was the most important subject before the meetings, she said. Plans for aiding the disabled veterans in the Portland hospital were worked out. Mrs. Horner was on the membership committee, and was elected to the state executive committee.

Postal Aspirant Endorsed

"It was some wreck," was the report of M. Connolly, captain of the 40 et 3 wrecking crew which initiated 45 new members at The Dalles. The candidacy of R. W. Van Vleet for the Bend postmastership was endorsed by the post. Reports were made by the radio and roundup committees.

An important decision in regard to retention of the Legion building may be made at the next meeting, which will be at the first regular meeting date in September.

DEALER IN HARDWARE GIVES UP GAS SALES

Announcement that he had given up the sale of gasoline and service station facilities at his hardware store on Wall street was made this morning by N. P. Smith. The reason for the action is found in the increase in the number of garages. "When I began this business," Smith said, "there were just two garages or repair shops in town and no service stations. Now there are many better able to give the service and they are entitled to the business. Furthermore, with the crowded traffic conditions on Wall street, I was blocking the street. Hereafter I shall devote myself exclusively to the hardware business."

BISHOP COMES TONIGHT

Bishop W. O. Shepard, who will dedicate the new Methodist church Sunday, will arrive in Bend tonight to spend several days here. He will make the Century drive while here.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today declared that conditions are serious in 50 other places.

M. Jewell at Washington today. David Williams, secretary of the central strike committee, advised Jewell that the men are ready "for a fight to finish."

The seniority issue must be decided on its merits, not on a basis of compromise, the men demand.
