Southern Pacific Embargo On Perishable Shipments Necessitated—Arrest of Bombers Expected.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
PORTLAND, Aug. 14.—Railroad brotherhood officials announced from headquarters here today that no trouble or strikes are feared in the northwest. They admitted that the situation, however, is far from normal. They said they were discounting the reports of defective equipment turned in by members because of the uneasiness of the men making the reports.

Southern Oregon fruit men are fearing heavy losses due to the south-bound Southern Pacific embargo on perishable goods.

EMBARGO HALTS FRUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Fruit shipments were practically halted from California today. Large losses are feared, as great quantities of fruit start eastward annually about this time. Quantities are being put in cold storage, and other shipments are being accepted subject to heavy delays.

Passengers are being moved to San Francisco from Roseville and Orville by electric trains, no attempts being made to move trains on regular schedules.

The Western Pacific, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific all report effective blockades of their transcontinental lines due to trainmen's strikes.

Arrests of alleged bombers at Roseville are expected by the authorities as the result of rounding up men who have been terrorizing that railroad town.

Several bombs were thrown into the yards last night.

Harding, Pershing, Marine Corps Head, Gompers to Attend Convention

CINCINNATI, Aug. 14.—New Orleans will be center of national interest during the American Legion national convention October 16 to 21, as a result of the presence of numerous famous political and military leaders.

President Harding has written convention headquarters that he will attend if the pressure of public affairs does not interfere. A similar reply has been received from General John J. Pershing, who led the legion men in France, and who met with them in Kansas City last fall.

Major General John A. LaJone, commandant of the United States marine corps and a former resident of New Orleans, has definitely accepted the convention invitation. During the last week, convention headquarters has been advised that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Renssaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of organized baseball, will be among the distinguished guests.

Within the next few weeks, the legion expects to receive word that a number of distinguished World war leaders of allied powers will come to New Orleans. The convention committee hopes to entertain more notable than the convention in Kansas City last year, which was attended by Marshal Foch, General Diaz, General Jacques, Admiral Benty, General Pershing and Vice President Coolidge.

DEFICIT LIFTED FROM BUILDING AT DEDICATION

Auditorium Crowded for Impressive Services

BISHOP IS SPEAKER

Widened Influence of Christianity in Bend Heralded—Other Churches Send Greetings—Over $7,000 Pledged.

Sums sufficient to pay off the entire deficit on the new Methodist church building were pledged by the congregations which attended the dedication services yesterday. This was done before the formal dedication took place at the afternoon service. Over $7,000 was pledged.

Using the simple but impressive dedication service prescribed in the ritual, Bishop W. O. Shepard dedicated the completed edifice before a congregation which taxed the seating capacity of the new auditorium. In his dedication sermon Sunday morning, before a still larger attendance, Shepard had predicted that through having this well equipped and attractive home, the Methodists of Bend will be able to do things which they have failed to do in the past, and will exert a wider influence in the community.

Churches Congratulate

A hope that the building just completed may become a center for the Christian activities of Bend was expressed by Rev. Jackson L. Webster of the Presbyterian church, speaking for the churches of Bend, declaring that no true Christian of any denomination envies the Methodists their beautiful home. This statement was borne out by a pledge of $100 toward the church deficit, on the part of the Presbyterians.

After describing in glowing terms Bend's economic opportunities in the way of tourist trade, lumbering and agriculture, Dr. D. H. Leech declared that the greatest promise was contained in the building then being dedicated, and in the other churches.

Greetings from the other churches of Central Oregon were brought by Rev. C. M. Brown, pastor of the Redmond Methodist church, and from the Centenary by Dr. Edward Laird Mills, formerly a Centenary worker, but now editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate. Mrs. Harvey McKenzie sang "I Will Dwell in the House of the Lord."

About 200 people took part in the basket dinner in Epworth Hall after the morning service. Out-of-town visitors were guests of the local church members.

Bishop Able Speaker

Bishop Shepard's dedication sermon was one of the most able ever heard in Bend. Raising the seemingly theological question, "Is God happy?" he applied it in a striking way to the building just completed, and the tasks which Christian people have undertaken. Solos were sung by W. E. Robertson and Charles G. Wilson.

At the evening service Dr. W. W. Youngson of Portland preached. Mrs. C. B. Silvis, Mrs. Elmer Ward and Mrs. Ashley Forrest sang a trio.

Ladies Pledge $1,000

The highest amount pledged toward the building fund deficit was $1,000, by the Ladies' Aid society of the church. The Epworth league pledged $250. In addition to the deficit, a fund was raised to pay for the William Clyde Stewart memorial window. Tribute to Stewart's service as pastor of the church here was paid by Bishop Shepard and other speakers.

The name of Rev. J. Edgar Purdy, present pastor, appeared Sunday morning on one of the side windows, it having been presented by the business men of Bend in recognition of Purdy's service to the community.

HALF HOUR'S RAIN TOTALS .45 OF INCH

Young Folks Frolic on School Roof, But Officer Spoils Party; Lecture From Chief is End of Perfect Day

Seven Bend young people who were seen frolicking about on the roof of the Reid school yesterday afternoon, were taken from their playground when Officer Tom Carlson, answering a complaint from a resident in the neighborhood, escorted the aptitude to police headquarters for a lecture from Chief Willard Houston. School authorities are considering whether or not a definite charge shall be preferred.

Phil Lawrence, H. A. Hartson, H. A. Gix and Jack Loom, all of the East hotel; Henry Hiatt of 424 East Quilby; Susie Meiser of 213 Riverside, and Helen Foss of 64 Gilechrist, were the members of the roof party.

Others have frequently been seen of late on the Reid roof, and considerable vandalism, both there and on the school lawn, has resulted, it is reported. A determined effort will be made to see that such offenses are not repeated, declares Houston.

Access to the roof was gained by the fire escape, it was learned.

SERVICES HELD FOR LON L. FOX

Business Houses Close To Honor Pioneer Auto Stage Manager.

Business houses of Bend closed their doors from 2 to 3 o'clock this afternoon in honor of Lon L. Fox, pioneer auto stage manager, whose funeral was being held at that time at the Methodist church. Music for the service consisted of a solo by Mrs. C. V. Silvis, and two songs by a male quartet consisting of Jab B. Noble, Charles G. Wilson, Sylvester Staats and Oscar Kregness. Pallbearers were R. M. Smith, C. L. Simpson, W. H. Staats, E. D. Gilson, E. P. Mahaffey and J. O. Gibson.

During Sunday's dedication services, when the church building committee was called to the altar to present the building, Rev. Purdy explained that Fox had been chairman of the committee, and had given liberally of his time and funds toward the completion of his service. As a recognition of his service, a minute of silent prayer was observed, followed by a short prayer by Purdy.

The following resolution was prepared by Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208:

Whereas, the membership of Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208, I. O. O. F., has suffered a severe loss in the untimely death of Brother L. L. Fox, whose name is inscribed on our charter, and

Whereas, our loss is but insignificant as compared with the loss to his loving wife and children.

Therefore, he it resolved that we deeply deplore the passing of the spirit of Brother Fox on August 11, 1922, and we extend to the bereaved family the deep and sincere sympathy of the lodge collectively and individually and beseech our loving Heavenly Father, the all wise Ruler of the Universe, to build up the broken hearts and give comfort for as no earthly being can, and

Be it further resolved that in token of the deep feeling of the loss sustained by this lodge, our charter be draped for a period of at least 30 days, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the family and a copy be spread upon the records of this lodge and a copy be given the Bend Bulletin for publication.

Done by order of the Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208, of Bend, Oregon, in regular session assembled this 11th day of August, 1922.

Disregard of Self in News Work Blamed For Death of Lord Northcliffe.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Viscount Northcliffe died today after a long, mysterious illness. He will be accorded a public funeral Thursday noon, with services at Westminster abbey.

Alfred Charles William Harmsworth Viscount Northcliffe was the most influential and most feared journalistic figure in Europe. He was the owner of over forty publications and wielded more power than many trans-Atlantic prime ministers.

He taught the uneducated masses of Great Britain to become newspaper readers and he supplied the news for the educated intellectuals as well. He raised the "backs of Fleet street" to position of self respect by paying them high wages and rewarding enterprise lavishly. No other personality in European journalism has left behind as wide an influence as Northcliffe.

Northcliffe was born July 15, 1865, in Dublin, Ireland. His father wanted him to study for the law, but journalistic genius pressed for expression and Northcliffe went to London to seek his fortune in Fleet street. After various experiments had led him to believe in the democracy of news, he founded his greatest success, the London Daily Mail. Previously to Lord Northcliffe's whirlwind appearance in Fleet street, British journalism had been a staid affair of intellectual lethargy. Popular appeal was ignored contemptuously. But Northcliffe realized the masses were hungry for news, and he made his fortune by catering to them.

The middle and upper classes in England were shocked by the Daily Mail. There was no reason to be, for its news was accurate and interestingly told. But class feeling sided against Northcliffe because his paper circulated so largely in the East end. It became a sign of culture among snobbish people to deny the Daily Mail. Northcliffe never succeeded in righting himself with this class of Englishmen. Even his purchase of the London Times, the most cultured daily newspaper in the world, and his elevation to the peerage, failed to

STRIKE IS RESENTED

Santa Fe Officials Brand Walkout As Conspiracy—Passengers For Most Part Rescued From Stranded Trains.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Following the collapse of President Harding's latest effort to end the rail strike, and in view of his apparent willingness to allow the roads and unions to fight to a finish, representatives of the rail unions today prepared to lay their case before congress.

Just what will be asked of congress is not known, but Warren Stone, and the labor "Big Four," to whom the strikers have entrusted their claims, probably will take action tomorrow when the house reconvenes.

CONSPIRACY ALLEGED

THE SANTA FE today branded as "conspiracy" the strike of trainmen on transcontinental trains in Arizona and Nevada.

"Leaving passengers suffering with thermometers at 120 was a violation of the unions' solemn agreement with the railroads," said Vice President A. G. Wells of the Santa Fe.

Most of the passengers have now been rescued and brought to safety. Bombings continued at many points, scores of innocent persons being injured.

The Southern Pacific embargoes on freight out of California was the most serious development of the strike in that state today.
