DEBS ALSO A TARGET

Foster Wanted as Leader of American Labor By European Radicals—Documents Taken At Bridgman Give Clue.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Department of justice officials believe that "Big Bill" Haywood, now in Russia, is working with the soviet officials to incite violence in the United States during the present industrial crisis. It is believed that radicals in this country are communicating with Haywood and Lenine through "underground" channels, and that one aim of Lenine is the overthrow of Eugene Debs and Samuel Gompers as leaders of American labor, and the elevation of William Z. Foster to a powerful position in this country. Documents captured at the Bridgman, Michigan, raid on the communist convention substantiate this belief, according to Allen Myers, who is investigating the communists in Michigan.

Housing Problem Most Acute Since 1917; No Dwellings Available

Bend's housing problem is the most acute that it has been since early in 1917, real estate men report, and new arrivals in the city register a fervent "amen." While numerous families remain in hotels for lack of a house, others who desire modern homes are forced to dwell in shacks, and a few tents are in use. The real estate men have no houses for rent. This condition has been particularly noticeable since the recent announcement of plans for building an addition to the Shevlin-Hixon mill, bringing a large number of new families here.

BIG CON GAME IS DISCOVERED

Arrest Of 33 Alleged Operators Believed End Of Huge Swindle

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
DENVER, Aug. 25.—Thirty-three alleged confidence men were arrested here today. Operatives of the department of justice and the district attorney's office believe they have wrecked the largest "con" office in the country. Stakes ran into the millions, and the operations were country wide. The organization maintained an elegant suite of offices here. It had branches in many lodging summer and winter resorts. It maintained a complete "stock exchange" with a large corps of stenographers and clerks.

FEMININE TREND ON SKYLINE TRAIL SEEN

Chocolate And Gum Wrappers Take Place Of Tobacco Cans—Trail Much In Use.

Chocolate and chewing gum wrappers now litter the Skyline trail where formerly tobacco cans and discarded "wheat straw" books predominated, according to F. V. Horton, grazing examiner for the forest service, who today ended a horseback tour over the Cascades from Crescent to Odell lake, on range appraisal work, accompanied by H. E. Vincent, formerly deputy supervisor here but now in a similar position with the Cascade forest, with headquarters at Eugene. In other words, says Horton, the Skyline trail is being used more and more by parties composed largely of women. It is in good shape, and travelers on foot and horseback are frequent. Range conditions are good, says Horton, as a result of a great amount of rain. Deer are plentiful.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
SEATTLE, Aug. 25.—Paul Stoness, aged 31, a San Francisco mechanic, was arrested here today after terrorizing passengers on the steamer Dorothy Alexander, between Victoria and Seattle last night, when crazed with drink. Stoness staggered from the ship's saloon to the ballroom, fired a shot into the floor, and laughed loudly as the passengers backed against the walls in fear of their lives. He marched Jack Marion, a passenger, about the ballroom for half an hour with a pistol pressed against his side. Stoness was finally overpowered by the crew.

WESTON APPEAL BASIS IS MADE IN EXCEPTIONS

Bill Comprises 181 Type-Written Pages

NEW STEP IS TAKEN

Third Trial Of Lengthy Murder Case May Be Asked For By Attorneys For Man Serving Life Sentence.

Another step in the appeal of A. J. Weston, now serving a life term in the penitentiary for the second degree murder of R. H. Krug of Sisters, was taken today when E. O. Stadler, associated with Earl Bernard and John Collier of Portland for the defense, filed a bill of exceptions comprising 181 typewritten pages. Twenty-eight exceptions listed form the basis of the appeal. Weston has twice been convicted of the murder of the Sisters section. Arrested in the fall of 1920, he was tried at the November term of court, and after a hung jury seemed likely, a verdict of "guilty" was brought in. His first appeal resulted in the case being remanded for trial, the opinion of the supreme court being given when Weston had been in the penitentiary at Salem for a year. The second trial came in the 1922 April term, and the length of time taken by the jury in reaching a verdict is believed to have established a record in the history of criminal proceedings in Oregon. Occurred in 1919. Krug was killed in the spring of 1919, and his house burned about him in an effort to conceal the crime, according to the state's testimony at both hearings. Robbery was the motive assigned. Throughout both trials, the prisoner steadfastly asserted his innocence.

CUPID UNPOPULAR IN CLACKAMAS COUNTY

Divorces Lead Marriages At Oregon City—But It Isn't All Home Folks' Fault.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
OREGON CITY, Aug. 25.—Among other unpopular persons known in the Clackamas county court house here, Dan Cupid's name leads all the rest. It appears so, one might say, from the divorces filed and granted in the cool court room and contiguous chambers within the ancient pile of masonry. Dan is thought well of at Vancouver, Wash., which is a sort of Gretna Green for the marrying folks, but he's the ugly duckling in this place. For the past two and a half years 711 marriages have been solemnized in this city, and 980 divorces have been as solemnly granted. Since January 1, 1916, exactly 1,667 marriage licenses have been handed over the counter at the court house here, and 2,070 divorces have been handed down from the bench. So far this year only a few over 150 couples have been married, while over 200 divorce suits have been filed. County officials hasten to point out that Clackamas county has not made all these mistakes. Oregon City is just a few minutes' ride by interurban from Portland, and the roads are all paved, so mismatched couples anxious to avoid publicity and split up in peace where they cannot live in state, come here instead of doing their stuff in Portland. Here they are shielded by semi-private proceedings conducted by a referee, a state of affairs which is highly appreciated, according to the records.

Minister and Recorder Shun Dice In Deciding Ownership of Shirt; Merchant Fills Role of Solomon

A problem which might have settled Solomon in his prime was settled with ease yesterday by Emil Pearl, proprietor of the Golden Rule store, when he decided the ownership of a shirt to which Rev. Jackson L. Webster, Presbyterian pastor, and Ross Farnham, municipal court judge, both laid claim. The difficulty all grew out of the merchants' picnic Wednesday. A feature of the day's athletic program was the three legged race, and the winners were Rev. Webster and Judge Farnham. The prize was a shirt. One picnicer suggested that the winners wear the garment on alternate days, while another urged that the two parts of the three-legged team shoot craps to remove the cloud to the title. This seemed logical but hardly proper when the official positions held by Rev. Webster and Farnham were considered. So, like the rival mothers of biblical times claiming one child, the minister and the judge appealed to Pearl, who had donated the prize, for a solution. "It's easy," said Pearl. "I'll give you each a shirt." The units of the three legged champion expressed themselves as satisfied.

SCHOOLS TO BE BEST IN YEARS

Efficiency In County This Year Highest Since War, Indicated

Efficiency of the Deschutes county schools this coming year should be at its highest point since the war, according to present indications, declared County Superintendent J. Alton Thompson this morning. Many of the special features which grew out of the war and which have consumed so much of school time during the years since, are being eliminated, allowing more time for regular courses; and more experienced teachers are available this year than for several years past, says Thompson. All of the schools now have teachers under contract. The "thrift" idea is to be kept in the curriculum, being considered an essential part of education. "Good English" week, however, has been done away with, to be substituted by "Good English year." There will be the usual essay contests. Agriculture as a regular study, taught by the regular teacher, is being resumed. Oregon history will be taught, and from now on the eighth grade history examination will include questions on Oregon history, so that it will be necessary for both pupils and teachers to have some knowledge of this subject. The schools will open on various dates between September 5 and September 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson visited for four days with Mr. and Mrs. Asa Battles of Prineville before coming here. They are stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. W. Nixon here. Even though a honeymoon should be a pleasant affair from beginning to end, Nelson has had his little troubles. Eleven punctures occurred on the way from Portland here, and a set of rear bearings were burned out. After purchasing four extra inner tubes on the way, he finally had to send for Sidney Hubble, fellow legionnaire, to bring him a tire before he could make the last four miles to Bend.

Efforts For Separate Peace With Certain Roads In Vain—B. & O. Head Issues Statement—20 Carriers Negotiate.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Prospects for railroad strike peace were shattered again here today when the railroad executives flatly refused the mediating brotherhood chiefs' suggestions for restoration of full seniority to the striking shopmen. Efforts to arrange a separate peace between certain railroads and the shopmen failed for the same reason. Statement Issued. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, issued a statement expressing regret that no adequate settlement basis had been reached. Twenty carriers had negotiated today for a separate peace, the minority which continued to hold conferences with the brotherhood chiefs after the other 128 roads had bolted the conference.
