O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker. For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture.—Psalm 95:6, 7.

THE SCHOOL EXHIBITS

Within the present week three exhibits of the work of students in various departments of the Bend high school have been held. This is the first time that such demonstrations have been given here, although the idea is by no means new. It has evolved from the entertainment which used to be an invariable custom for the last day of school in country districts—an ordeal well remembered by men and women who were pupils in those days.

The demonstrations given this week, however, were in distinct contrast to the painfully artificial entertainment of the "little old red school-house," in that they really showed to the parents who attended, what their children were being taught, and in one case, the manual training and machine shop exhibit, the actual classroom routine and the conditions under which the training was given.

The idea is an excellent one and might well be extended to other and more academic departments of school work, unless the rush of work at the close of the school year prevents. The success of these demonstrations was undoubtedly gratifying to the instructors for many reasons and in particular because of the large attendance of parents at each one. Throughout the year and throughout the school system there is an effort made to persuade parents to visit the schools and to acquire a better understanding of its aims and problems, with a view to better cooperation between parents and school authorities.

THE FIRST BANK IN CENTRAL OREGON WAS THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PRINEVILLE, WHICH WAS OPENED APRIL 4, 1885, IN A FRAME BUILDING ON THE EXACT SITE OF ITS PRESENT STONE STRUCTURE ON PRINEVILLE'S PRINCIPAL CORNER. IN ADDITION TO BEING BORN HERE "AT THE SAME OLD STAND" DURING ALL OF THE 37 YEARS SINCE THAT TIME, THE BANK HAS BEEN UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF ONLY TWO CASHIERS DURING THAT TIME—T. M. BALLOON TIRES Improvements every day we see, to better things the race aspires; pedestrians now view with glee the big, inflated, mushy tires. High pressure tires have had their day, they've done their work, they've played their games; I knew they were not here to stay—they were too hard on human frames. Pedestrians have certain rights which motorists should all respect; they're often highly moral wights, in whom no blemish we detect. It isn't fair to run them down with tires pumped up to eighty-five, when we are scorching through the town, rejoicing that we are alive. The old style tires cave in their slats, and rip their clothes and muss their hair, and oftentimes their Sunday hats are flattened out beyond repair. I've had small flippers, large sedans, and other cars run over me, and crawling from beneath those vans, I surely was a sight to see. The tires, as hard as iron wheels, reduced me to a ghastly wreck; they tore away my rubber heels and wound my coattails 'round my neck. But now that tires are soft and fat, contrary to the ancient styles, pedestrians will come to bat, and take their medicine with smiles. It is no hardship to be downed by tires so sumptuous and fair, that only carry twenty pounds of costly, non-explosive air. I seem to see th evictims rise, astonished and delighted men, and cry, with laughter in their eyes, "What fun! Please run us down again!" Thus things grow better every day, the new is born, the old expires, and I am putting on my dray a set of fat and squashy tires.

Society News

Notices for publication in the social column in the Saturday issue of The Bulletin must be not later than 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the day preceding.

Social events during the present week and those planned for the week to come are principally those related to the closing of the school year and commencement exercises for the high school graduating class. This evening the high school alumni will entertain the seniors with the annual dance, which will be held at the school gymnasium. In addition to the guests of honor, all former students of the high school, their wives or husbands, and the high school faculty are invited. The alumni decorated the auditorium Friday evening, and the refreshments and entertainment committees have been working. Music will be furnished by Hosmer's orchestra.

The baccalaureate exercises will be held Sunday evening in the Methodist Episcopal church with Rev. Frank James, pastor, delivering the baccalaureate sermon. Next Thursday the seniors will hold their annual picnic, going to Little river near the Vandeventer home-stand. A full day's program of sports and games has been planned. The formal commencement exercises will be Friday evening.

The Sunshine club will meet on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Schuman, 503 Newport. Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church entertained with a surprise party Wednesday for Mrs. A. M. McKinley, vice president of the society for the last two years, who is moving to Joseph. She will have a beautiful picture of the Three Sisters, a present from the Methodist ladies, to remember the Bend country by. Mrs. E. D. Gibson, retiring from the presidency of the society after eight years' service, was presented with a linen table cloth as a slight recognition of her work for the organization in that period.

Another member of the society honored at the Wednesday afternoon gathering was Mrs. A. J. Erickson, who is leaving for Minnesota to spend the summer. Other members of the organization present were Mrs. John Doveaux, Mrs. Ralph Spencer, Mrs. E. J. Moore, Mrs. George Childs, Mrs. R. A. Muncy, Miss Alice Spaulding, Mrs. J. O. Gibson, Mrs. L. L. Fox, Mrs. W. H. Staats, Mrs. R. W. Nicholson.

The Elks' Ladies club held its regular bridge party on Tuesday afternoon at the Elks' club rooms, five tables being played. Mrs. Grant Skinner and Mrs. J. C. Wright were hostesses. Prizes were won by Mrs. A. R. Johnston and Mrs. A. A. Symons.

The Mooseheart Legion initiated 13 candidates at Thursday evening's meeting. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed, with a program of music and readings, and refreshments were served. Those initiated were Mrs. Lula M. Cook, Mrs. Wanda Marvin, Mrs. Grace Ewing, Mrs. Lily Sawyer, Mrs. Sally Ewing, Mrs. Bonnie Haynes, Mrs. Alma Markoe, Mrs. Emma Johnson, Mrs. Virginia Elliott, Mrs. Kitty Walker and Miss Freda McLemon.

Your Electrical Wedding Gifts

Where will they all "plug in" You've been visualizing all your lovely electrical gifts in your new home—the colorful lamps, the graceful coffee urn at the dinner table, the waffle griddle in the breakfast nook. But how are you going to use all these electrical appliances? Where will you attach them?

Install Convenience Outlets-- At Least 4 to Every Room

If you're building, make sure that your electrical contractor understands about this. Indicate in the blue prints where you want these outlets installed. If you're renting the house, ask the landlord to have convenience outlets installed. Electrical appliances are intended for daily service and enjoyment. Make them convenient to use by insisting on enough convenience outlets.

When Your Pocketbook says "Ouch!"

Did you ever notice how sensitive your pocketbook is to pain? Ever notice how it yells "Ouch!" on the slightest provocation? For instance, you're a salesman. You have a sudden attack of indignation. It hurts. It makes you grouchy with a customer. You lose a sale, thereby losing several dollars in commissions. "Ouch!" says Mr. Pocketbook.

Again, you're a buyer. You happen to have a bilious attack—bad headache and all that. You're in pain. Salesman comes to sell you a bill of goods. Your judgment is a trifle clouded, for the time being. You buy unwisely. "Ouch!" says Old Man Pocketbook.

Or you may be engaged in any kind of work. Your system is in a rundown condition. You are languid, weak, nervous. You just simply can't do a good day's work. And top-notch cash income always depends on top-notch working efficiency. So, you make less money than if you were in perfect health. "Ouch!"

Whenever you're a bit below par physically your business efficiency is lowered, and the result that your pocketbook suffers.

You doubtless have great regard for your pocketbook. Most folks have. You would not willingly cause it to suffer. So, then, the thing for you to do is to go to a Chiropractor TODAY and have him give you a Chiropractic spinal adjustment. "But," you say, "I'm not sick. Even if I were, why should I go to a Chiropractor?"

Not sick? Well, that's fine. Listen carefully, though, to your pocketbook. Hear anything? "Ouch!"

Official tests show that only about three persons in every hundred are wholly normal physically. Ninety-seven out of every hundred pocketbooks are suffering, in greater or less degree. And why should you go to a Chiropractor? Because he will adjust the little bones of your spinal column to proper position, thus removing pressure upon nerve trunks branching away from the spinal cord. Then nerve energy will flow freely to every body part and your whole body will function normally as Nature intended. You will be able to do more and better work because you will be physically fit.

And your pocketbook will smile.
