

Hitting, Errors And Brilliant Plays Keep Score Uncertain

SHEVLIN TEAM WINNER 10 TO 7

Tallies Start From Opening Inning

Better teamwork and steadier pitching were responsible for the 10 to 7 victory which the Shevlin-Hixon baseball team won from the Brooks-Scanton team Sunday afternoon on O'Donnell field in a game replete with hitting, errors and spectacular plays.

Neither team was at its best in the field, a rough diamond contributing to the number of errors. These, however, only added to the uncertainty of the game and kept the bases well filled in every inning except that Brooks-Scanton did not get anyone to first base in the fifth.

Shevlin-Hixon scored twice in the first inning, F. Russell and Moody getting on bases through infield errors and scoring on W. Russell's three bagger. Brooks-Scanton took the lead in the third, Workman, Grindle and Stokoe scoring as a result of three errors and hits by Grindle and Stokoe.

In the fourth Shevlin-Hixon got three more, two of them earned. Gibson, Moon and Stow each singled in this period, and F. Russell hit a two bagger. Gibson scored on an error. Brooks-Scanton got one run in their half, Slate and Oliver hitting safely. Hodgson of Shevlin-Hixon spoiled the opposing team's chances to score in the fifth by racing back to the fence and catching a fly ball that looked like a sure two bagger. It was the most spectacular play made on the local field so far this year.

After two were out in the sixth, Shevlin-Hixon raced around the paths for four runs. Montgomery had singled and stolen two bases. F. Russell walked and Stow was safe on an error. Montgomery rearing, Moody walked, and with the bases full, W. Russell hit his second three bagger. He was caught at the plate trying to score on R. Russell's grounder.

Brooks-Scanton added one in the eighth when Cain doubled, stole third and came home on a passed ball. Shevlin-Hixon scored in the same inning when Slate walked the bases full, served three balls to the next man. Bruns took the box and walked that man, then pitched his team out of the hole. He fanned Moody and Hodgson was caught off third base.

The Brooks-Scanton team came near evening things up with a ninth inning rally. Grindle walked, Stokoe hit for two bases and Bruns drove them across the plate with a two bagger. W. Russell spoiled the rally by catching a foul fly close to the grandstand.

With the newly recruited players, Brooks-Scanton put up a much stronger game than it had previously shown, and is expected to break into the win column before long.

Eastern Ball Teams Leading Percentage Column

Even Much Abused Yanks Pull Out of Trip With Moral Victory and a Few Games Won As Well

NEW YORK, May 25.—Superiority of the eastern teams was shown in the first of the inter-sectional major league games which ended yesterday. With the exception of the two Boston clubs—the "weak sisters" of the east—all of the other eastern clubs split even or better.
 After being kicked around at home by rival eastern clubs, the New York Yankees got together on the road and managed to break even with seven victories, seven defeats and one tie.

The champion Washington Senators won nine out of 15 games. They are moving along well and will improve when the weather gets warmer. The Brooklyn Robins made a successful defense of the home grounds in winbox 11 out of 16 games. Pittsburgh won eight out of 14 games on their eastern trip.

With a lot of hustle and some great hitting, the Philadelphia Phil-ies proved to be the sensation of the early season in the National. No one gave the Phillies a tumble but they'll probably get it before long as the team hasn't the class to stay up in the first division. The Detroit Tigers are still the big bust of the season. They lost nine out of their 15 games against the eastern clubs and they have won only one series all year.

The White Sox won eight out of their 14 games against the eastern teams and are riding comfortably in third place.

With Ruth out and everything else going wrong, the Yankees probably look upon their trip as a moral victory even if they are still in sixth place.

The New York Giants did the best of the eastern teams. They won 12 of their 15 games, losing only one game to the Pirates, Cubs and Cards.

The Athletics did about as well on their trip through the west, winning 11 out of 14 games, losing two games to the White Sox and one to the Browns.

The Athletics are setting about the same pace in the American league that the Giants are in the National league, and that is some pace. The breaks are turning against Connie Mack, however. Sam Gray, one of his star pitchers, is out of the game with a broken finger and Cochrane, his young catcher, the sensation of the year, is laid up.
