In the Lighthouse."

George Dyer appeared in a whistling solo which drew much applause, but this was an audience that was determined to laugh, for which reason Dyer's encore, a story interspersed with accurate and vivid imitations of the calls of animals and birds, both domestic and wild, brought down the house. The bird calls were good, but the dog fight, the cats' concert and the familiar barnyard sounds were appreciated more.

The Golden Bear quartet, members of which were Smale, Courtright, Morrison and Cowan, proved to be one of the best in existence from the standpoint of close harmony, and its numbers, especially one in which billboard ads became badly mixed, were well chosen to suit the mood of this particular audience.

Quayle & Kelley appeared in some buck and wing dances which were exceptionally clever, and the spontaneous comedy which filled in between the dances was equally enjoyed. Hal Rosenblum sang a number of popular numbers with ability, but his performance at the piano was even more appreciated. Frank Roberts scored a distinct hit with his baritone solos.

The club gave a well attended dance at the school gymnasium following the concert. It will appear in a matinee and an evening show today and will give another dance this evening.

Members of the club who are making the summer tour, with Alaska as their present goal are Holmes, Morrison, Cowan, Courtright, Matthews, Toles, Diddle, Smale, Richardson, Sapiro, Rhoades, Rosenblum, Kelley, Quayle, Erbes, Shuey, Nissen, Carpenter, Roberts, Dyer and Director Morse.

Plan Musical Features For Club Forum Program

A program of music, a report of the meeting of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce and the introduction of L. K. Cram, new secretary, will feature the weekly meeting of the Bend Commercial club in the Pilot Butte Inn Wednesday noon. The report on the Klamath meeting will be made by H. H. DeArmond, who, accompanied by C. S. Hudson, returned from Klamath Falls Monday evening.
