NEED NOT FACE BRIBE CHARGES

Hart Complaint Demurrer Sustained

May Take Appeal or Amend Information In Case of Former Executive

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

TACOMA, June 6.—Ex Governor Louis F. Hart will not have to stand trial on the Pierce county information charging him with an attempt to solicit a bribe.

Superior Judge Gover Teats today sustained the demurrer to the information which was argued before him Thursday afternoon. He ruled that the elements of a bribe were not set forth in the information, sustaining the objections raised by Attorney Maurice Langhorne in behalf of the former executive.

The information charged Hart attempted to obtain a division of fees to be paid Forbes P. Haskell, Jr., deputy state bank supervisor in charge of the liquidation of the Scandinavian-American bank, and Guy E. Kelly, attorney assisting in the liquidation.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Frank D. Nash in the absence of Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Selden who is out of the city, asked for an exemption to the ruling, which was allowed, and given 10 days in which to further consider the state's next step. In that time it will be determined if the information will be amended, or an appeal taken to the supreme court on the sufficiency of the present information.

Decision Explicit

Judge Teats' memorandum decision covering eight pages recited that the law on the matter of corruption of public officials prohibits asking of a gratuity in consideration of some act the official would or would not perform. The legal meaning of bribe means that a public official shall perform or not perform some act in the interest of the party who pays the bribe, the court declared.

The only charge in the information, Teats held, is that Hart is governor; it does not assert that a fee was asked but alleges that the bank officials were asked to add to their fees; it does not set forth that Hart did anything to earn a fee.

Decision of the court on the demurrer was not unexpected in legal circles, as lawyers declared it was very much of a moot question whether a sufficient charge could be set forth under the statute under the facts as set forth in the affidavits of Haskell and Kelly. It was the information contained in these affidavits detailing conversations with the ex-governor that led Prosecutor Selden to file the information.

Love's Old Sweet Song In the Auto Ads

Husband (reading the motor car ads over the Sunday breakfast): "Listen, Gertrude. 'Here is distinction further distinguished, luxury such as you never thought possible. It's the new Flight Six.'"

Wife: "Do y' want another cup of coffee, George?"

Husband: "How's this, 'The utmost for your money — utmost power, utmost comfort, utmost smartness—that's the Overmobile, and . . . '"

Wife: "Another piece of toast, George?"

Husband: "Well, here we are. 'Some' radiant morn, when the weather smiles, when blue skies call to the greening earth, and airs blow soft and wooing, step into the Morland with the girl of heart's desire and speed away to the Happy Land that lies—"

Wife: "Yes, lies and lies. Oh, George, do pass me the marmalade."

Husband: "Want to listen to this?"

Wife: "If it isn't another movie."

Husband: "Listen — Studebaker announces a new coach, $1295. A very fine car at a very low price. See it."

Wife: "Doesn't it say anything else?"

Husband: "What else do you want it to say?"

Wife: "Nothing—I'd like to see that car."

Husband: "Same here. That ad doesn't brag. It must be a humdinger car."

You Make Us Blush, Charles

Gas Tank: I gotta hand it to you. Till I read your piece in the paper, I was all set to buy our car by the pin-prick method. You know—write down a list of automobile dealers and take a pin and stab at 'em and see the lucky one. But when I read your piece, I says to myself, this guy ain't writin' at the top of his voice. He don't prate about doing seventy and getting umpty-leven to the gallon. He don't cough up a "most" and "very" in front of every adjective. He must have a car that does its own talking. And you know that's just what I found. This Studebaker Coach I got is some coach—good-looking, good performing and just loads of room. You didn't brag in your piece. You didn't need to. I gotta hand it to you, Gas Tank.

HUDSON-ESSEX CO. HAS NEW BROUGHAM

Effect of Striking Smartness Secured

A new four passenger brougham—a strikingly handsome car—is announced by the Hudson Motor Car Co.

[illegible] rear quarters. The general lines are typical of Hudson construction and design. The whole effect is one of striking smartness and style.

"These cars are custom built by one of the oldest and best known body manufacturers in the country," said L. E. Seeley, local dealer. "The construction is all aluminum, and the details of trimming and fittings are of the same standard as the Hudson sedans in the seven passenger size. This car will be recognized at once as one of the handsomest on the streets.

"The outstanding feature, however, is that they are given a quantity price. Hudson-Essex is now the largest six cylinder manufacturer in the world, and all its costs and manufacturing expenses are distributed over a very large volume of business. This fact has made possible the unusual price which Hudson has established on this car. With its custom built body and the advantages of the famous super six chassis this brougham will be one of the finest cars anywhere.

"The general volume of Hudson-Essex business is at an unprecedented rate. This month will be the largest we ever have known, and it would be much larger if we had as many cars as the public asks us for. We are making every possible effort to deliver cars promptly, but the demand is so unusual that the task is almost beyond us.

"The public is looking for utility and value in motor cars, and when these qualities are offered as Hudson-Essex offers them there is sure to be an immediate and a continuous, consistent demand."
