

Yale And Harvard Contest To Feature Annual Race

CREWS PREPARE FOR BIG EVENT

Seven Other Boats Entered Friday

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) NEW LONDON, Conn., June 18.—Yale, riding the wave of a remarkable string of athletic successes, is looking forward to another signal triumph over the ancient foe, Harvard, in the annual crew race on the Thames river tomorrow.

Wealthy old grads, dignified seniors and fresh freshmen, sporting all the blue ribbons that could be found in this small town's warehouses, started around and cheered. "Won't it be terrible for Harvard tomorrow?"

The west has grown out of the old reverence for eastern athletics, especially those that pertain to Yale and Harvard, but there is no event on the national sport calendar that can compare with the color and the spectacular trimmings of a Yale-Harvard boat race under good conditions.

The two big ones of the "big three" have good crews, even if they do look slightly bored when mention is made of the seven other college eight that are going to row at Poughkeepsie Monday for the intercollegiate championship.

Yale men will tell you, "We don't care about championships as long as we can kick waves in the face of Harvard."

Harvard men can't boast much about the very recent past of the Harvard crews but they insist tomorrow will start Harvard on a run of prosperity.

Own Medicine Is Given, Toehold Artist Quits

MARSHFIELD, Ore., June 18.—Toehold artists can stand little of their own medicine, if Ralph Hand of Cottage Grove is to be taken as a sample.

Hand had been publishing Charlie Davis of Marshfield for almost a minute with his famous toehold, when a chance grab gave Davis the same hold. Hand patted the mat immediately for the third and deciding fall in their match here last night.

Davis' grab split Hand's shoe for the entire length.

AFTER THE MIDDLEWEIGHT CROWN

By DICK DORGAN

MICKEY WALKER
THE FIGHTING HARP IS FAVORED TO WIN OVER HARRY GREB THE VETERAN MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION

WALKER SAYS HE KNOWS JUST HOW TO TACKLE THE PITTSBURGH WINDMILL'S STYLE

DICK DORGAN

Mickey Walker is favored to win the middleweight title from the veteran, Harry Greb, when they meet on June 19. Harry has been meeting all comers at all weights for about 13 years. He has met seven champions during his career and has engaged in close to 300 battles. Most of the bouts were at catch weights but in meeting Walker, Harry is forced to make the middleweight limit of 160 pounds at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the fight. This may weaken the Pittsburgh Windmill somewhat and give Mickey more of an advantage. Greb is one of the freaks of the ring and, like Johnny Dundee, he is a regular glutton for work. His rushing, manly style has burned up plenty of energy but he still keeps on going and winning. Perhaps getting down to the limit he may prove a sensation like his brother freak, Wondes, when the Scotch wop made the featherweight limit and knocked out Crigul. Greb can lick men much bigger than himself better than a smaller man. In meeting Walker he faces a rip tearing demon fashioned much after Dempsey only that Mickey is a much better boxer than Jack. Walker is exceptionally fast and lets them go with plenty of speed behind them. Don't be surprised if Mickey wearing two crowns a few days before Independence Day.

Cascadians Will Come To Pass In Mid-summer

Cascadians, mountaineers of Washington who are to visit the Three Sisters country this summer on their sixth annual outing, will come to Central Oregon by automobile from Yakima, according to a bulletin recently issued by the organization. They will leave Yakima on the morning of August 2.

The plans of the Cascadians are to come over the Sherman county highway to Redmond and Sisters, then to go over the McKenzie pass to Frog camp, on the McKenzie slope. A permanent camp will be established about five and one-half miles from Frog camp.

All the Cascadians may not make the trip to the Three Sisters region in one party. Those going down the Pacific highway are being advised to go to Frog camp from Eugene. The mountaineers will break camp on the morning of August 15.

The bulletin contains a description of the Three Sisters region from an article written by Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, University of Oregon geologist.

Members of Golf Club To Arrange For Play

Members of the Bend Golf club should get in touch immediately with the members with whom they are matched in the qualifying round of the June handicap tournament, the tournament committee advises, and arrange a time for playing. This is necessary in order to make sure that all who are going to play will be able to do so before next Tuesday evening.

This is a qualifying round and all who are hoping to qualify must play, as forfeitures will not qualify a member for the next round. If a member's opponent is unable to play, then the member must report this fact to Tracy Fairchild of the handicap committee and another arrangement will be made.

The drawings were announced in Tuesday's Bulletin, but any who do not know who their opponents are, may find out from Fairchild.

Roque players who have figured in previous tournaments, and many others with aspirations to win national honors, will gather at Winona Lake, Ind., early in August to compete in the annual championship tournament of the National Roque association.

Back to 1870—for mellowness

An almost forgotten old tobacco secret, "Wellman's Method," it's called, dating back to about 1870 and now ours exclusively, is responsible for the rich, "rounded-out" mellowness of Granger

Rough Cut. And the coarser, "rough-cut," accounts for its slower-burning, cooler-smoking quality.

Here, truly, is a pipe tobacco that IS pipe tobacco.
