"Where Good Pictures Are Made"

How to Handle Too Many Women--

1. Keep that schoolboy complexion.
2. Stop being untidy—the maternal instinct of women is as dead as the proverbial dodo.
3. Never wear celluloid collars—you may catch fire.
4. Cultivate an air of detachment. This arouses consuming curiosity—which is so much velvet.
5. You can tell you've got 'em when their permanent waves begin to wilt.
6. Don't pull a Reginald Denny—meaning: keep your stories all straight, your women separated and yourself in readiness.
7. Ignorance is inexcusable after seeing this picture.

That First Hot Day!

He wandered to the back porch
To find a little breeze;
He tried it on the front porch—
It didn't make him sneeze!

He sauntered to the city park,
The sun was scorching hot,
No chance to find a cooling breeze
Around that crowded spot.

He drove out to the country
And found nobody there—
The farmers all had gone to town
To get a breath of air!

And so he wandered home again
And phoned us for a fan;
And then—O Boy!—the cooling breeze
That blew upon that man!
