

MONKEY THEORY DECLARED DEAD

Earlier Ancestor Sought For Mankind

Characteristics of Dominant Races of Present Showing Change, Noted

LONDON, July 6.—Scientists have abandoned the idea that man descended from the monkeys. Instead, according to Professor E. N. Fallaise, secretary of the Royal Anthropological Institute, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, they are proceeding on the theory that man may have come from an ancestor prior to both monkey and man, but a common ancestor of both.

"It has been some time since scientists in general gave up the search for a 'missing link' as the explanation of the gap between man and monkey," he said, "and they have been looking for fossil remains which historically precede both man and monkey, yet embody the characteristics of both.

"In the recent discovery of a fossil known as the 'shivapithecus,' uncovered in the foothills of the Himalaya mountains in India, we have indications that such a type of common ancestor to both did exist. It is too early to make any pronouncement but further search may uncover conclusive substantiation of this theory.

"We no longer believe that man evolved in successive stages from the monkey up through the Java man, the Heidelberg man, the Pithecanthropus and so up to the present day man of the civilized world, as we know him.

"There is no direct connection—no missing link—between monkey and man. "The monkey is a monkey, has always been so and will remain so until the species perish from the face of the earth."

Professor Fallaise doubts that the present type of man will survive as he is, pointing out that the Neanderthal and other types of primitive men perished when conditions surrounding them changed, or offshoots with peculiar adaptability to these conditions appeared.

Fallaise believes firmly in evolution. He points out that even today evolution is working. Men's teeth and eyes are not as sound as they used to be.

"Gradually the present characteristics of the dominant race are changing," he said. "Whether it is an adaptation which will make for our survival under changed conditions of existence or whether it makes for their subjugation and extinction by another divergent branch of the human race yet to come, as only the centuries will tell."

shortstop; Stokoe, third base; State, right field; Pruns, center field; Swick and Dieters, left field. Tetherow and Oliver pitched the first game.

While not attending the ball games, the Brooks-Scanlon employes and others from Bend, fished and hiked and reported a remarkably pleasant outing.

Indians Celebrate
Numerous Bend people also attended the celebration at the Warm Springs agency, conducted by the Indians. There were about 400 automobile loads of people there in addition to the reservation inhabitants, and the visitors found it a pleasant celebration in the beautiful area around the reservation buildings.

The Indians had planned the program according to their own ideas, and the visitors were a little surprised to find dancing on the morning schedule. In the afternoon there was a program of western sports, including a bucking contest and horse races, and in the evening more dancing, with a novel diversion at 9:30 o'clock in the form of characteristic Indian dances and ceremonies. This lasted for two hours, after that there was more dancing until 3 o'clock and Indian games until daybreak.

This was the third day of the celebration at Warm Springs, and today the Indians left to hold another three day carnival at Siuslaw.

Large crowds from Bend and other parts of Central Oregon also celebrated at Suttle lake, at Tumalo island and at La Pine.

Two hundred automobile loads of people spent the week end at East lake, although no special celebration was planned there. These parties each held their own observances of independence day.

Swimmers Contest
Swimming contests were the feature events at Suttle lake, with a large number of entries. Miss Amy Hinman won the cup offered for the winner in the girls' events and Joe Brown of Redmond won the men's first prize. There was a big crowd for the dance Saturday night, and the number of parties there for the week end was so great that all of the supplies at the Suttle lake resort and also at the nearby resorts on the Metolius, were sold out.

Coolidge Arrays Forces For Encounter

Own Campaign Manager Is Sadly In Need of Assistance Against Walsh

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 6.—From the seclusion of his summer White House here, President Coolidge is personally marshaling the republican forces in preparation for the congressional elections of 1926 when the party's power to hold a majority in congress will be tested.

Already his efforts have begun to bear fruit. The day he arrived on the north shore he threw his weight behind the candidacy of Mrs. John Jacob Roberts, candidate for her late husband's seat in the special election in the fifth Massachusetts district, and she won from her democratic opponent by nearly 3 to 1.

More difficult in his determination to aid Senator Butler of Massachusetts, his own campaign manager, who faces the most rigorous sort of opposition in the rival candidacy of former Senator David L. Walsh. Walsh almost beat Senator Gillett in 1924, while the president was sweeping the state. His chances to beat Butler look alarming to republican managers.

Therefore, the president is putting his prestige and popularity in Massachusetts into the fight to aid Butler. He has caused it to be emphasized on every occasion this summer that Butler is his close associate and adviser. Butler met him at the station on arrival, and has been photographed with him repeatedly around White Court. Butler accompanied him to Cambridge and throughout the summer the people of Massachusetts will continue to be impressed with the idea that a vote for Butler is a vote for Coolidge.

HEALTH THAT REDUCES GOITRE

(Monday Health Talk No. 26)
(By Roy Reynolds, D. C., P. H. C.)

Goitre is a swelling of the thyroid gland. It is usually accompanied by stomach weakness. There are several varieties of goitre. The watery type is easily and quickly subdued, but the other varieties are more stubborn in yielding to chiropractic spinal adjustments.

The West is the Mecca of men of vision

THEY FELL in love with the West... can you blame them?
Akron tire engineers with records of success running back a quarter century, knew the future held much in the East.
Yet when the West won them, they gladly transferred their training, skill and resources to the Pacific Coast.

Today C-T-C tires bear testimony to this pioneer move! Thousands of motorists in nine Western states have discovered that C-T-C engineers have put something into these tires that makes them outrun others. Some call it "stamina"; some "quality". Others declare that the very training and skill of the engineers is embodied in every tread and ply.

We shall be glad to give you expert information about your tires, and — if you need them — put on C-T-C's — either balloons, semi-balloons, heavy-duty cords or oversize cords!
