

NEW PAVEMENT ASKED IN BEND FOR EAST SIDE

Two Petitions Granted By Council

BRIDGE IS FACTOR

Would Make Possible Tumalo Surfacing—Time of Bond Delivery Extended

A new paving and improvement program sprang into being in Bend last night with the presentation to the city council at its adjourned regular meeting of three petitions for hard surfacing, and one for bridge construction. Two paving requests, for 24 feet of hard surfacing with cement walks and curbs on Mueller from Riverside to Riverfront, and Riverside from Tumalo to Congress, were allowed; a petition for the paving of Tumalo from Congress to the Deschutes river was held over as its rescuit is made conditional upon the construction of a bridge on the street line to replace the Tumalo avenue bridge. The present structure, City Engineer Robert B. Gould mentioned, is on private property and not on street location.

A large number of residents of the west side had signed the petition asking construction of the bridge to connect Tumalo and Galveston avenues. The question was referred to the city engineer with instructions to prepare plans, specifications and cost estimates.

The much discussed plumbing code and building inspection ordinance came up for final reading and passed, as did the plumbing licensing ordinance, a companion measure. The council passed under an emergency clause an ordinance vacating that part of the second addition to Bend Park lying between Second and Fourth, and Taft and Cleveland streets. The vacation is to make possible replanting.

Price Made for System
That time for delivery of the $800,000 worth of City of Bend water bonds has been extended by the purchasers to September 30 was made known by Recorder Louis Bennett when he read a letter from Ladd & Tilton, The Union Trust Co. of Spokane, and the Seattle National bank, purchasers of the issue. The bond market has improved considerably since the bonds were sold conditional on a favorable election. Bennett remarked. Time of delivery, originally set in the contract as July 1, may be extended at the option of the purchaser.

In connection with the question of a water election purchase price for the distribution system of the Bend Water, Light & Power Co. has been set by the company asking $264,127.53, Mayor R. H. Fox stated. This price is $5,000 more than the appraised valuation given in the Dubuis & Koon engineering report on the development of a municipal water system for Bend, the mayor said. It is made according to estimates of October 1, 1924, and any improvements to the system made since that time would necessitate additional payment by warrant.

Traffic Woes Discussed
Discussion of increasing congestion in Bend streets due to parking and double parking, occupied much time, and the matter was finally referred to the streets committee with instructions to bring in a report at the next meeting.

Reports of officers were featured by the statement from Recorder Louis Bennett who showed total receipts for June amounting to $1,838.38. This, he said, included $168 for auto camp fees, $63 more than was received from the same source in June of last year. Treasurer O. L. Kroegness reported a balance of $19,268.59, Ethel V. Johnson had eight new cases to report as head of the woman's protective division, Dr. C. A. Fowler, city physician, gave seven births and four deaths for the month, and Chief of Police Hanson reported 33 arrests and 25 auto accidents for the same period of time.

The council awarded the contract for hard surfacing the alley in block 9, connecting the Minnesota and Franklin avenue pavements, to the Warren Construction Co., on a bid of $2,227.75.

Roman Cobbler Finally Yields to Questioning, Admitting Looting Sacrists

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
ROME, July 7.—Playing the role of "rich merchant from New York," taking advantage of the lire depreciation, Police Officer Marotta succeeded in trapping a shoemaker, in whose possession was found the rare treasures stolen Friday night from St. Peter's sacrists.

The shoemaker has confessed to the police his part in the robbery, and several accomplices have also been arrested.

Pope Pius has been notified of the officer's bold coup and is likely to present him with a liberal reward.

Marotta told Mariano Stella, the shoemaker, that he had plenty of money and wanted to buy jewelry in view of its comparative cheapness with the lire depreciated. Stella fell into the trap and took Marotta to his shop, where he displayed the rare jeweled treasures which up to Friday had reposed in the sacred vaults of the sacrists.

Suddenly eight detectives sprang up as Marotta gave a signal, forced an entrance into the shop and put Stella in handcuffs. Taken to head quarters, he confessed.

The sacrists' adornments are intact except for a few diamonds which Stella had removed from a cross and concealed in a pair of shoes.

Subsequent examination by the custodian of the treasury of St. Peter's sacrists revealed that scores of precious stones, chiefly emeralds and diamonds, were missing.

Judge Kennedy Holds To Original Decision

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 7.—Declaring he would stand by his original decision, Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy late yesterday denied the government's petition for a reopening of the Teapot Dome oil lease case and entered a decree dismissing the government's suit.

The decree of dismissal gave government counsel, Allee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, 45 days from June 19 to appeal the case, and provided that the Teapot receivership be continued until further order.

The dismissal decree reviewed the lengthy decision handed down June 19 and emphasized again the findings of Judge Kennedy at that time.

CHILDREN VICTIMS WHEN BOAT UPSETS

Eight On Sunday School Picnic Drown In Lake

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 7.—A Sunday school picnic which was to have closed with a moonlight boat ride, ended in tragedy here last night when the boat capsized on Lake Pinawa.

Seven children, the oldest eight years old, and one adult were drowned.

The party was a joint student class from St. Thomas' Sunday school of St. Thomas and St. Luke's Sunday school of Yarmouth heights.

There were 26 children and a few adults on board when the boat upset.

At the time the boat overturned the banks of the little lake were lined with people and dozens of men plunged into the water to rescue the children.

Several hundred automobiles were lined on the bank of the lake with their glaring searchlights thrown on the water to furnish light to the rescue party.

Mothers, sisters and fathers ran up and down the shore wringing their wringing their hands and crying, searching for tidings of their little ones, not knowing whether they were on the ill fated boat.

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
ABOARD EXPLORER SHIP PEARY, BAFFIN BAY, July 6, 9 p. m.—(By Radio via Plymouth, Mass., and Washington.)—The Peary and the Bowdoin, the two ships of the MacMillan arctic expedition, have been steaming slowly through thick ice all day, bound for Hopedale or Windy Pickle, Labrador.

There are miles and miles of loose cakes of ice and a great many ice bergs.

Peary here—(stopped transmission and did not resume.)

The breaking off of the above dispatch received by the navy department does not indicate that the explorers have met with mishaps, navy department officials believed today.

It was thought that aerial disturbances prevented the full message from being received by the Plymouth amateur who forwarded it to the navy department.

SCOUT CAMP PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED

Chance Still for 27 Boys to Sign for Outing

Plans for the boys scout encampment at Scout lake, which will open next Wednesday are rapidly nearing completion.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Central Oregon Area Boy Scout council at the Pilot Butte Inn this noon it was decided that work on the road to Scout lake would be completed tomorrow of possible, so that lumber, straw for bed ticking and a stove might be moved to the camp this week to be in readiness for the opening.

Scout Executive Morse and Myron Symons will go to the lake tomorrow with two or three boys to complete the work of clearing the new road. Probably on the following day a man and team will do the necessary grading.

About 27 boys have signed up for one, two or three weeks at the camp and there will be room for nearly that many more.

Scout Executive Morse will be in charge of the camp and strict health and safety rules will be in force. A professional cook will be employed and good meals served cafeteria style.

Scout lake, formerly known as Water Dog lake, is a beautiful little body of water about a mile from Suttle lake and near the west end of the larger lake. It was picked from among all the Central Oregon lakes as an ideal place for a boy scout encampment.

SHERIFF STOPS CATTLE DRIVEN UP FROM SOUTH

Four Drivers Held By Officers Here

61 HEAD ARE FOUND

Stock Allegedly Stolen In Lake County—Place of Hearing Uncertain

The old west is not quite dead. Sheriff S. E. Roberts and his deputies decided Monday night when they were called out to assist in rounding up an alleged cattle rustling gang. In the old days, according to Central Oregon pioneers, cattle were stolen off the ranges between Bend and The Dalles, and driven south to Winnemucca, Nevada.

But according to the charge made by William Kittredge of Lake county, the cattle in the present case were taken from the Klamath marsh range, and were being driven boldly north toward Bend.

After searching through the night, Sheriff Roberts and Deputies George Stokoe and W. P. Vandever located the cattle which were alleged to have been stolen—61 head in all—in a pasture at the Allen ranch, in charge of three men whose names are reported to be Harry Wood, Henry Goben and "Slim" Zimmerman.

Federal Case Possible
On information supplied by Kittredge, the officers this morning arrested Harry Gooderham, claimed to be the leader of the gang, at the Downing restaurant. He had registered at the Cozy hotel under the name of H. Dars, according to Sheriff Roberts, but after being arrested he admitted that he was Gooderham.

The cattle belonged, it is claimed, to Kittredge, William Lane, the ZX ranch, E. P. Mahaffey and Bill Ball, an Indian.

Charges of larceny were to be filed against the four men, but it was not certain this morning whether they would be filed in Deschutes or Klamath county. The charge involving the Indian's cattle may be made a federal case.

"Smoking among young girls is becoming serious," declared Miss Katherine M. Rosney, national secretary.
