American Legion Men Stand Guard While Many File Past Commoner's Bier

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) DAYTON, Tenn., July 28.—Dayton's monument to the man who became its martyr in the cause of fundamentalism may be a William Jennings Bryan university.

Permitted today to file past the late topped coffin in which lay the remains of the Commoner, the grim features slightly relaxed with the suggestion of a smile at death, Dayton's inhabitants and hundreds from other Tennessee towns and cities resolved to carry through the idea first proposed during the Scopes trial.

E. Y. Morgan, president of the Dayton Progressive club, and other leading citizens of this town, called a meeting, to take place after Bryan is buried at Arlington tomorrow, when an effort will be made to raise the necessary funds for a fundamentalist university.

"It will be a fitting tribute to the man who came among us, fought his greatest fight in defense of the Bible and then died in our midst," Morgan said.

For three hours this afternoon, the Commoner's coffin will be placed on the shady lawn beside the cottage where Mr. and Mrs. Bryan lived during the Scopes trial. Mrs. Bryan, searing up bravely through her ordeal, declined an offer to have the remains lie in state in the courthouse. "We were simple folk," she said to those friends who comforted her, but she agreed that Dayton and Tennessee should have a last look at their champion, without ceremony, beneath the maples where the Commoner often sat in a rocking chair, preparing his last speeches.

Those who came to the cottage yesterday were permitted to view the body, but many who had wanted to pay their last respects were not apprised of the opportunity. So, this afternoon, while members of the American Legion stood guard with rifles reversed, a long line of Tennesseans, mountaineers, farmers, business men and women, will file slowly past the temporary outdoor bier.

Train Strikes Truck, Father, Son Victims

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) PORTLAND, July 28.—Stefano Casale, truck farmer, and his six year-old son, Louis, are dead, victims of a crash when their truck was hit by an O-W. R. & N. train at a private crossing in Northeast Portland Monday afternoon. Philip Filittelli, a hired man, was seriously injured. Casale and Filittelli had loaded their truck with potatoes and were driving across the tracks to get to the public highway, when the approaching train struck them. The engineer of the train believes that Casale became confused and drove in front of the train when he intended to back away.

Casale was instantly killed, the boy died shortly after reaching a hospital.

Bend Lawyer to Enter Race Is Now Predicted

not listen to the appeal of his friends if Patterson announced his candidacy for governor. Such an announcement has been virtually made in the past few days, but nevertheless Upton is conceded to be definitely in the running for the state office, occupied at present by Walter M. Pierce. And should Upton be nominated on the republican ticket, his opponent will in all probability be Pierce, for it is conceded that the senatorial berth first considered by Pierce will be the political award sought by Sam Garland of Linn county.

A review of recent developments in state politics indicates that Upton will, if he finally considers such a move, have good reasons for entering the gubernatorial race. Aside from W. A. Carter of Portland, who ran for governor 12 years ago, none of the aspirants for the governor's chair have made definite announcements of their intentions, but it is certain that, not including Upton, there are four already in the race. These four are Patterson, Carter, Charles Hall of Marshfield and Sam Kozier, secretary of state.

Aside from Patterson, it is believed that Upton's chances for nomination over these possible candidates are good. Kozier and Patterson may weaken each other. Carter, it appears, is running on laurels gained as presidential elector at the last national election, and Hall will without doubt poll only a small fraction of the votes cast for him at the last state election when Oregon was

Digestive Ailment Fatal To Ambassador to Japan

Edgar Addison Bancroft was born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1857, and was graduated from Knox college of that city and Columbia law school, New York.

He has been ambassador in Japan since November last year.

Bancroft had won for himself an eminent position in the bar of Illinois during his practice in Galesburg and Chicago. He was especially adapted as a railroad attorney and was also general counsel of the International Harvester company.

He belonged to several Chicago clubs and had made a name with several works of an economic and legal nature.

Poison Liquor Source Sought In Sacramento

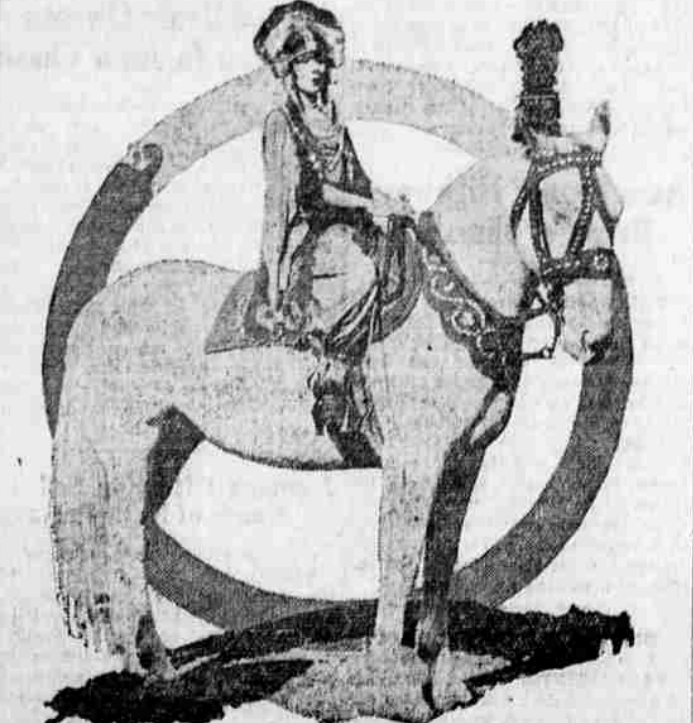

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 28.—With two deaths resulting from poisoned booze reported here in less than three weeks, police authorities today were conducting a sweeping investigation to determine the source of the liquor.

Shubert Heft, 28, son of Arthur Heft, prominent local musician and former band master, is the latest victim of alcoholic poisoning.

Working on the theory that Heft may have obtained his liquor from the same source as Mrs. A. Johnson, who died in Woodland several weeks ago, police have started a drive on all places suspected of selling booze.

FARM INCOMES SHOW INCREASE

Greatest of Any Year Since 1921

Analysis, Says Department of Agriculture, Forecasts Real Prosperity

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Farmers received a larger gross income from agricultural production during the year ended June 30, than in any other year since 1921, according to the United States department of agriculture. Estimates place the gross income at $12,136,000,000, compared with $11,288,000,000 during the year ended June 30, 1924. This gross income is the value of production less feed, seed and waste. The increased value, about 7 1/2 per cent, was due almost wholly to higher returns from grain and meat animals, particularly wheat and hogs.

The gross cash income from sales, exclusive of livestock and feed sold to other farmers, was $9,777,000,000, compared with $8,928,000,000 the preceding year. Food and fuel produced and consumed on farms was valued at $2,369,000,000. The expenses of production last year were put at $6,486,000,000, or nearly 2 per cent greater than the $6,363,000,000 estimated for 1923-24. The net cash income from sales was $3,291,000,000, compared with $2,565,000,000 the year previous, while the net income from production, including win the net cash sales the value of food and fuel produced and consumed on the farms, was $5,659,000,000, compared with $4,925,000,000, or an increase of 14.75 per cent.

Grains returned $1,934,000,000 in 1924-25, compared with $1,393,000,000 the preceding year; meat animals $2,921,000,000, compared with $2,167,000,000; fruits and vegetables $1,370,000,000, compared with $1,526,000,000; cotton and cottonseed $1,650,000,000, compared with $1,608,000,000; and dairy and poultry products $3,284,000,000, compared with $3,315,000,000.

This analysis of expenses and receipts for the agricultural industry as a whole, says the department, confirms other indications of further improvement in agricultural income. Still, the average net income per operator, including all farmers, tenants as well as owners, amounted to only $876 in 1924-25, compared with $764 the preceding year, and covers the return on the farmers' equity in his farm property as well as earnings for the labor of himself and his family for the year. In a conservative rate (1.5 per cent) of return for the operator's net capital investment is deducted from the net income of $876.

the return for the operator's labor and management and for the labor of his family was only $649 in 1924-25, and $531 in 1923-24. The average wage of hired farm labor was $569, compared with the return of $649 for the labor of the farmer and his family.

Many Here Poison Themselves Daily

Carelessness of Modern Living Results in Digestive Disorders, Sick Headache, Gas, Bilioousness—Dr. H. S. Thacher's Remarkable Prescription Relieves Many

A neglected liver can often cause more trouble than a bottle of poison. When the liver is clogged and inactive, it fails to secrete the juices necessary to digestion and elimination. Worst of all, it fails to purify the blood properly. When this happens annoying symptoms tell you that a state of self-poisoning exists in your body.

Symptoms Lead to Sick Bed It explains why a sluggish liver is attended by such symptoms as constipation, bilioousness, sick-headaches, sourness and gas on a weak stomach, loss of appetite, pains in the back and sides, and a nervous, run-down condition—symptoms that lead to the dangerous and expensive sick-bed unless corrected in time.

Dr. H. S. Thacher, noted medical practitioner, perfected a wholesome vegetable prescription to keep the liver healthy. It is giving quick relief and renewed strength, energy and vigor to numbers here. This prescription, known pharmaceutically as Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, doesn't cost much, is pleasant to take and contains only ingredients that are known to physicians for their corrective and health-building properties.

Notice Quick Difference Try this great prescription yourself. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise, there will be no cost.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by Magill & Erskine, Pilot Butte Pharmacy and all leading druggists.
