Christ's benediction—Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. John 14:27.

AFTER FOURTEEN YEARS "Then we made a fatal mistake. The Oregon Trunk line proceeded up the Deschutes to Bend until it was within sight of the business, and then stopped. Now after 14 years have elapsed it pleases me greatly to know that my opinion of that mistake was fully justified, and the vision is about to be realized."

Thus spoke John F. Stevens, chief engineer to James J. Hill in the building of the Oregon Trunk line to Bend, a guest of the Portland Chamber of Commerce at the luncheon given by that organization this week. He was telling the story of earlier railroad extension in Oregon. Although informally given, his words must be considered as significant of the determination of the Northern lines to push on from where they halted 14 years ago, to continue the development of Oregon's vast inland empire.

Too, the opposition to extension south from Bend calls to mind Stevens' reminiscences of the difficulties promised when Hill construction to Bend was first proposed. He was told by officials of an opposing line that the only way he would get through the Deschutes canyon would be to walk.

"With those words burning in my ears I determined that there would be a fight and that even if I didn't win, the opposition would know they had been in a battle," he declared.

"It cost $12,000,000 to build that line to Bend."

Increased mill production, and forecasts of the biggest agricultural crop Central Oregon has enjoyed since 1916 make a prosperity combination that is hard to beat.

BE PATIENT

Just a month ago she married William James Augustus Snide; by the village church I tarried to behold the blooming bride and the orange wreath she carried in her loveliness and pride. From her wedding trip returning, I see symptoms, signs of care, and two hectic spots are burning on her cheeks so round and fair; in her eyes there is a yearning that I think should not be there. I am old and fond of spicing to the weary and distressed; in my counsel there is healing, younger folk have oft confessed; when their joy has hit the ceiling I can tell them what is best. This young matron I invited to confide her woe to me: "That your grievous wrongs are righted, if such wrongs there are, I'll see," "Radio," she cried, "has blighted all my happiness and glee. I am not a meddling Mattie, and I'd see my husband gay; but my husband's going batty on this radio, I say. Not a topic I can mention draws him from his wireless mill; he will give me no attention, but he bids me to be still, and I feel like taking gentian, which, they say, will sometimes kill." "Patience is the porous plaster that will heal the bruise you know; let your truant lord and master tinker with his radio; fast the madness came and faster it will shrivel up and go. Patience is the soothing lotion that young married people need; living largely on emotion, they let judgment go to seed; but with patience their devotion will to peace triumphant lead."

New York Proves Shock To Congo Missionaries

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) NEW YORK, July 29.—It was quite a shock to Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Piper, after they had spent 12 years in Belgian Congo trying to teach the natives how to dress and live morally, to get back to Broadway today.

"We came a long way to find very little difference," exclaimed Mrs. Piper. "In Masumbal, we have been since 1913 trying to teach the women to wear something besides beads, palm oil and sunshine. Here we get back to New York and discover that girls and women wear only paint, powder and suggestion.

"Clothing and dancing in this city are worse than in Africa, for there the poor black natives know nothing about morals; but here folks are immoral."

WOOL BUSINESS SLACKENS

BOSTON, July 29.—Business has slackened in the wool market and buyers are awaiting the opening results of the 1926 line of woolen goods. Australian fine wools are moving in small quantities at $1.10, super wools are held at $1.15. Fine staple kind continue between $1.30 and $1.35 clean. Medium wools quiet. Local houses are good buyers in Australian markets. Foreign markets are generally firmer.

DO GOATS really EAT TIN CANS?

NO, that's just a superstition fostered by the comic strips. And the idea that there is something mysteriously better about "eastern" automobile lubricants simply because they are made in the east and cost more is another superstition—which a majority of motorists in the Pacific Coast states have come to disregard.

No, Nor Do Eastern Oils Lubricate Better As a matter of fact, the best and most suitable crude petroleum for the manufacture of a motor oil, is obtained from Pacific Coast wells. Zerolene, made from this naphthenic base crude, carefully selected and refined by our patented high-vacuum process, not only costs less but lubricates better.

Zerolene Successfully Lubricates ALL Makes of Cars If you have been paying high prices for eastern oils—think what a "lubrication census" of the automobiles in any large western city would show: Zerolene successfully lubricating every make of car in use—high priced and low—more cars than any other oil made.

Why Experienced Automobile Men Say—"Use Zerolene" Zerolene increases gasoline mileage, reduces carbon troubles, and lengthens the life of the engine; and because it does—automobile agencies and big users of such celebrated makes as Cadillac, Chrysler, Dodge, Lincoln, Oakland, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Willys-Knight, etc., unhesitatingly say—"Use Zerolene."

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene even if it does cost less. Always ask for ZEROLENE by name.

Get the Facts! A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.
