PUBLIC SERVICE CHIEF FAVORS RUNNING OREGON TRUNK SYSTEM SOUTH FROM BEND TO KLAMATH

Greater Benefit Is Seen For Interior

INVESTIGATE ROUTE

More Lumbermen Vote For Southern Pacific — C. P. Bond Issue Authorized

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Aug. 8.—H. H. Corey, chairman of the public service commission of Oregon, and other officials of that commission, are today investigating the proposed route of the Oregon Trunk railway between Bend and Klamath Falls. They have just completed a survey of the proposed extensions of the Southern Pacific and Oregon-California & Eastern railways. Corey placed himself on record as favoring the extension of the Oregon Trunk by declaring its construction would do far more toward the general development of Central Oregon than the programs mapped out by other lines.

Bonds Win Favor
Eight lumber and logging operators yesterday addressed another petition to the Interstate commerce commission approving the extension of the Oregon-California & Eastern railway and the standardization of the Nevada, California & Oregon railway, and opposing the proposed extension of the Oregon Trunk line from Bend to Klamath Falls.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Central Pacific railroad was granted authority by the Interstate commerce commission to issue $49,000,000 of 3 1/2 year 5 per cent gold bonds to be guaranteed by the Southern Pacific Company. The money is to be used for corporate purposes.

OPINIONS IMPORTANT
PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—Further activity of the northern transcontinental railway lines in their proposal to extend the Oregon Trunk line from Bend to Klamath Falls now is dependent almost entirely on views expressed by Oregon citizens at hearings to be held by the Interstate commerce commission this fall. Such was the advice given today by Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway system, who arrived for a week end conference with W. F. Turner, president of the S. P. and S., and Oregon Trunk lines. Budd said surveys had been completed and application made for the extension of the line and that nothing further could be done until the commission granted a certificate of convenience and necessity. Granting of this permit is dependent on the attitude expressed by Oregon people, he said.

Stock Thief Captured In Bend Gets Sentence

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—Following conviction in federal court here, Harry Gooderham of McCloud, Cal., must serve two years in the McNeil Island penitentiary. The government charged him with larceny from the Indian reservation. He was alleged to have stolen 26 head of cattle from Amy Balke and 19 head from Alva Knight, both Klamath Indian women. After a long drive, he was alleged to have left them at Willow creek while he traveled into Bend and obtained a mortgage on them. Other cattle were also said to be involved in the theft, but the government's charges did not list them, as they did not belong to government Indian wards. Gooderham was arrested here after he had brought the cattle to Bend.

EIGHT EATERS OF MELONS ARE CAPTURED BY FARMER

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
THE DALLES, Ore., Aug. 8.—Eight Hood River joy riders, under the spell of a summer moon, crept into the William Byers watermelon patch near here at midnight last night, but walked out at the point of a shotgun. Byers and a helper gathered the four couples together and forced them to go to the sheriff's office, where they gave the names of Louise Anderson, Nan Noel, Lois Cochran, Welly Waters, Wayne Mendenthal, George Mills, Herbert F. Frasier and Lewis Hart. All were released by Sheriff Chrisman to appear in the justice court here next Monday to answer a charge of stealing watermelons.

Possession of Booze Held Not a Nuisance

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., August 8.—The state supreme court today upheld the decision of the third district court of appeals which holds that the possession of intoxicating liquor does not constitute sufficient grounds for prosecution under the nuisance law. The ruling of the appellate court was made here recently.

Congressional Delegation Will be Guests of Club Luncheon to be Provided at Plainview—Irrigation Inspection Purpose of Visit on Wednesday

Oregon's congressional delegation, two senators and three congressmen, who will inspect irrigated lands in the Deschutes country and the North Unit project in Jefferson county on Wednesday, August 12, will be guests of the Bend Commercial club at breakfast in the Pilot Butte Inn on the morning of their arrival here. Although all persons in Bend and vicinity interested in the visit of the congressmen and senators are welcome to attend the breakfast, on Wednesday morning at 7:30, there will be no program of speeches, it is announced by L. K. Cramb, secretary of the Bend Commercial club. Persons wishing to attend the breakfast are asked to notify the office of the commercial club before Wednesday morning. It is quite certain that Senators Robert N. Stanford and Charles L. McNary and Congressmen N. J. Sinsott, M. E. Crumpacker and W. C. Hawley will come to the Deschutes country on August 12. An invitation has also been extended to State Engineer Rhea Luper and to H. M. Chadwick, assistant state engineer, to accompany the congressional delegation to Central Oregon. Likewise, an invitation has been sent to the land settlement committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce to come to the Deschutes country on August 12. Aside from the decision of the senators and congressmen to be present at the grange picnic in Plainview during the noon hour, no changes have been made in the plans which were announced when it was first made known that the delegation was coming to the mid state country. The senators and congressmen will arrive here on the morning of the 12th, will inspect irrigated lands in the vicinity of Bend and Redmond on Monday morning, and from Redmond will go to the Plainview grange hall for luncheon. Wednesday afternoon members of the delegation will go to the Madras country. W. D. B. Dodson, secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, will also be in attendance at the grange picnic. The noon and afternoon sessions of the picnic will be open to the general public. The morning session will be for grange members, and the evening meeting for Pomona grange members.

COLUMBIA SOURCE OF GREAT WEALTH

Figures on Possibilities Are Given by U. S. G. S.

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—Eight million acres of land may be irrigated from the Columbia river, of which only 3,600,000 acres are now under water; the river may be made navigable to the Canadian boundary, and 3,954,000 horsepower can be developed from the natural flow, or 4,795,000 horsepower from regulated flow, on a 90 per cent basis. These are the broad estimates of engineers of the United States geological survey, summarized Friday in a statement from the department of the interior, according to a special Washington dispatch to the Oregon Journal. "The immense water power resources along the Columbia river have attracted little interest until recently," says the statement, "because of lack of market for large blocks of power. Development must be linked in some way with the establishment of industries to manufacture electro-metallurgical products, fertilizers, chemicals and other articles requiring the use of large quantities of electrical energy. The electrification of the northwest western railways would absorb only a small proportion of the available power."

IDENTIFIES BANDIT

SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—Identified by Mrs. Fanny Hensler as the bandit who attacked and robbed her on a lonely path through the woods near Fannleroy last night, according to police reports, Roy Smith, 23, was held in the city jail today on an open charge.

PIONEER BURIED

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Aug. 8.—One of Oregon's earliest pioneers, William Jenkins, was buried today in the Enchanted Prairie cemetery near Myrtle Point. He arrived in Oregon from Kentucky in 1844 and lived on Coon bay for 54 years. He was 94 years of age.

SCOTT GOES TO ASYLUM

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Russell Scott, former millionaire, today left for Chester, Ill., to be held in a padded cell in the state asylum for the criminal insane until such time as he becomes sane.

Rumors of Tragedies Started From Weeping

Police, In Tears, Seen at Delaware Avenue House

Test of Lachrymal Bombs Entirely Successful, Says Chief Hanson—Yes, He Cried, Too

"A man killed his wife and then shot himself." "The police had to shoot a man to get him out of his home on Delaware."

"The officers found a woman all slashed to pieces." "I don't know what it was, but it must have been simply terrible; I just saw a crowd of men out in the yard at 155 Delaware, and they were all crying. Even the chief of police was crying."

These were some of the news tips that started coming in to The Bulletin office late yesterday afternoon, and which were still coming in this morning. The police were getting them, too.

"It was terrible," Chief of Police Hanson admitted. "Of course we were crying. Even a newspaper reporter would have wept. Those tear bombs are great stuff. Yes, we still have some left, but we're not going to use any more on ourselves."

That was the secret of it all. District Attorney A. J. Moore had received a few tear bombs, and wanted to test them. Councilman Oscar Carlson furnished a vacant house on Delaware, and police and firemen furnished the tears. The test was an entire success, the chief said afterward, and he is certain that the bombs would be highly effective in dislodging from a building criminals who might be resisting capture.

The gas which is released when the bombs burst is not permanently harmful.

OIL SURFACING WILL BE TRIED UPON STREETS

Macadam Now Rapidly Disintegrating

NO TUMALO BRIDGE

Engineer Advises Waiting Until Steel From Newport Can be Moved

In a last effort to salvage thousands of dollars' worth of macadam streets, now rapidly going to pieces in Bend, the city council, on the recommendation of City Engineer Robert B. Gould, last night ordered a car of road oil, and as soon as it arrives will commence oiling crushed rock surfaced thoroughfares. A test will be made on Greenwood before any other work of the kind is undertaken. Oiling all macadam streets in the city will cost but $2,200, Gould said, and the investment represented in the Greenwood avenue improvement alone was $11,000, he said. Gould reported that a new bridge, as proposed in connection with the petitioned Tumalo avenue paving, would cost $4,500, that it would be of the same type as the present structure, and that its life would not exceed 15 years. He advised against the improvement, and the Tumalo avenue petitioners will be asked to drop the bridge construction provision from their request, with the understanding that later a bridge will be built on street location. The present bridge makes necessary a curve from the city street in order to reach the approach, as the span is on private property.

Would Move Bridge
In two more years, Gould believes, it will be found advisable to put in a wider bridge at Newport; then the present steel bridge can be moved to Tumalo avenue, and installed on concrete piers at no greater cost than would now be involved in installing the wooden bridge covered in his last night's report. Two new ordinances will be prepared ready for the council to pass on at the next meeting, one limiting the number of poll and card rooms in Bend, the other providing for making bonding districts out of small scattered patches where concrete sidewalk is to be put in. While bonding of the improvement will relieve the property owner of immediate expense, the costs will be levied direct against abutting property. The council canvassed the vote on Thursday's $500,000 bond election, and passed a resolution announcing passage of the bonds. Figures on the vote given by the canvassers were the same as those published in The Bulletin Friday.

New Paving Loans

Signs appearing in a number of restaurants in Bend stating that "We Cater to White Trade Only," are a source of humiliation to colored citizens of Bend, it was explained to the council by Jay H. Upton, appearing as legal representative for the colored folk. His clients, he said, had no desire of frequenting places where their presence is not desired, but would appreciate notification to this effect being made privately instead of announcement being public placarded. A resolution offered by Upton asking restaurant owners to remove the signs was carried.

Engineer's Plans and Specification for the hard surfacing of Mueller avenue from Riverside to Riverfront, of Riverside south from Tumalo to Congress, and of the last section of the south highway approach, were approved by the council and resolutions of intention to improve passed. Assessments made on improvement districts 86 to 90, inclusive, were ordered entered in the lien docket.

Booze Causes Arrests

Requests for grades for water mains on three blocks of the property of the Realty Securities Corporation were referred to the streets committee with power to act. The same committee will consider the need for a railing for the bridge crossing the canal on Scott street.

Arrests for the month were 17, reported Chief of Police Hanson, who also noted 21 auto accidents for the month.

Tries to Seize Child Picnicking on Tumalo

Girl Falls Into Water, Pursuer Runs Away

Officers Issue Warning When Search For Roughly Garbed, Bearded Man Is Unsuccessful

Warnings were issued this morning by city officers to picnickers to be on the lookout against the attacks of a human beast believed to be lurking in or near Shevlin park. Since his appearance Friday evening the man has not been seen, nor have searchers today secured any trace of him.

Seven year old Sidle Lee Goggans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Goggans of this city, playing with her older sister, both members of a family picnic party, started to cross Tumalo creek on a footlog near the head of Shevlin park about 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, when a strange man started for her from the opposite side. He reached for her as he came, and the child, badly frightened, tried to turn and run. Instead she fell screaming from the log into the creek.

Then, without so much as trying to pull her out the man turned and ran up the side hill, while a dog with the picnickers barked furiously and attracted the attention of the others, the little girl's plight. As soon as men coming from Bend to join the party arrived on the scene, a search was started for the prowler, but with no result. The man was described by the child's older sister as being bearded and wearing overalls.

Fox Camera Man Takes 21 Samples From Which Suitability of Country Is to be Judged

Samples of Central Oregon scenery which, it is believed, can be used as a background for Tom Mix pictures, were taken yesterday and Thursday by Eric Mayell, cameraman for the Fox news service. Movie "shots" taken by Mayell include the ragged rim of Broken Top, outlined against the clear skies of Central Oregon, and the McKenzie pass lava fields.

SAYS S. P. PRESSURE USED ON MILL MEN

Protest Against O. T. Held Not Representative

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
SALEM, Aug. 8.—Lumber mill operators of Southern Oregon who recently entered protest against the proposed extension of the Oregon Trunk railroad into Deschutes and Klamath counties did so only because of pressure brought by existing lines, Charles Eberline of Klamath Falls, formerly connected with the Harriman lines, declared. He said their protest does not represent the attitude of lumbering interests there. These small mills are using Southern Pacific switch engine in the woods and if they refuse to back the protests these engines would be withdrawn, he declared.

Commercial Air Fleet Henry Ford's Purpose

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
DETROIT, Aug. 8.—A fleet of commercial airplanes running on a regular scheduled time and connecting practically all parts of the United States, is the general idea behind Ford's adding the Stout metal airplane division to his organization, the United Press learned today. Details of plans for expansion of the plant and increased production necessary to do this will require some time and are still in vague shape at present. The future will determine these, it was said. A regular scheduled delivery of freight, express and possibly mail between New York, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Indianapolis and other cities is the purpose, with details to be decided.

LOGGERS BATTLE THROUGH NIGHT AGAINST CIRCLED FLAME ATTACK; IN THE MORNING SEE FIRE PASS BY

FIRE SWEEPING TOWNS IN THE NEHALEM VALLEY

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 8.—Uncontrolled and raging, the worst forest fire which has visited Northwestern Oregon this year is sweeping down upon the towns of Vesper and Birkenfeld in the Nehalem valley near the Clatsop-Columbia county line. Traveling over a front about a mile and a half wide, the fire was still advancing steadily this afternoon.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Kerry Timber Company office at Kerry reported the fire about one mile from Birkenfeld, with more than 150 men fighting the blaze. On account of the surrounding farm lands, the fear is felt for the towns of Vesper and Birkenfeld.

Families In Tenements Stampeded at Explosion

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Blown literally from their beds in some instances and driven into a panic by simultaneous explosion of two bombs early today, 68 families, occupying two tenements opposite Grace chapel, poured into the streets, down stairs and fire escapes and jumping from windows, a dozen were seriously injured.

ASTORIA, Aug. 8.—Fighting furiously throughout the night, the residents of Thompson's Siding, a logging settlement on the Columbia and Nehalem river railroad in eastern Clatsop county, saved their homes from destruction in the maw of the dangerous forest fire which is raging south along the county line.

Reports from Kerry, northern terminus of the C. and N. railroad, today declared that the settlement at Thompson's Siding had been entirely circled by the flames and that the main fire had passed on in a south-westerly direction, headed toward Jewell.

Thompson's Siding was saved only by the heroic efforts of the inhabitants, who fought all night in the face of fearful odds, and saw the main danger pass early this morning. The fire traveled six miles during the night, according to reports from Kerry. Today it was still traveling rapidly and was entirely out of control.

A force of more than 150 men is engaged in fighting the flames but, except for saving the Thompson's Siding settlement, they have made no progress against the flames. Treestle Destroyed

The fire started Wednesday afternoon in the holdings of the Noyes-Holland Logging company. After destroying one 300 foot railroad trestle yesterday, the fire passed out of the Noyes-Holland property and swept through the Ladee Logging company holdings. Until it struck the Ladee property, the fire had been burning almost entirely in cut over land, but it is known to have destroyed a considerable block of valuable green timber in the Ladee holdings. An estimate of the extent of this green timber loss could not be secured today.

Driven before a stiff, hot north-easterly wind, the fire is advancing rapidly, according to reports from Kerry today. It is nearing the Nehalem valley near Jewell. Three district fire wardens, with their fire fighting crews and the

PLAN "GREATER SEATTLE"

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—While more than 75 persons attended last night's conference of Mayor Brown and officials of surrounding towns, the speakers who favored annexation appeared to be small. The conference was called to discuss plans for a "greater Seattle" with details to be decided.

Clatsop County Conflagration Sweeping Across Standing Timber

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—Parching winds shifting to the east brought the most serious forest fire weather of the year to the Pacific northwest today. Forestry officials watched the dropping humidity with apprehension. High temperatures ranging from 90 to 100 degrees were expected to aggravate the situation. Fires were burning unchecked in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, many of them out of control.

All communication was cut off from the Scurry mountain fire in the Clearwater forests of Montana. The blaze has already covered 4,000 acres of timber. More than 3,000 acres have been burned over in a fire in the Kootenai forest and high winds were reported to be spreading it.

The Falcon fire on the Montana-Idaho line has destroyed about 1,500 acres of timber. Tourists have been ordered out of several sections of Glacier national park with the fire which started near Belton on Lake McDonald not yet controlled. Several hundred men have been rushed to combat this blaze.

Fires were reported burning in practically all sections of Western Oregon. A big blaze was burning in the Mount Hood national forest.
