

Pittsburgh Gets Heavy Chance At New York Nationals

PIRATES MEET GIANTS TODAY

Four Game Series Held Crucial One

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)
 NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Pittsburgh's battling pirates have the first real chance of the season to land a lightning punch on the whiskers of the New York Giants in a series of four games starting in Pittsburgh today. It is the first real "crucial series" of the season and it may have everything to do with the final result of the National League pennant race.

John McGraw has been waiting for the Pirates to crack, on the theory that too many vital spots on the team are occupied by tender youths and that they would blow up when it came to the hard days of August.

There has been no indication of a tendency to blow up among the Pittsburgh youngsters and they have been playing such consistently good baseball that they go into this important series with a lead of four and a half games. Whenever the Giants and the Pirates get together in one of these crucial series, the memory returns of that tragic trip two years ago when the Pirates came into a final series against the Giants with a big lead and were dropped in five straight games by the Giants.

The Pirates were criticized then for showing something that looked like a weak heart, but the club that is leading the league this year seems to have plenty of courage. The team has come from behind to win so many of its recent games that there can be no doubt of it.

In the series last week with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds, the champion Giants looked as if they had fallen to the depth of a total collapse. The team lost six out of seven games and almost possession of second place. The Reds are only two and one-half games behind the Giants, and if McGraw's team continues its good playing in Pittsburgh, the Reds ought to move up into the expanding position.

The Giants have been disabled nearly all season and they will have to play through the Pittsburgh series without Frank Frisch, who is laid up again with a fractured finger.

The young Philadelphia Athletics are still holding the lead in the American league by two games over the Senators. The recent slump of Coakley, who has lost his last three games, will hurt the Senators, while the return to form of Sammy Gray will be a great help to the Athletics.

ROUGH SCRAPPING ON CARD TONIGHT

No Petting Even In Prelims, Says Matchmaker

Action will be the keynote of the bri-klayers' fight card, to be staged tonight at 8 o'clock in the Hippodrome. It is conceded by local fight fans who have seen Bob Dean and Spec Woods "doing their stuff" in training for the past several days. All fighters took their final workouts Saturday afternoon. All are reported to be in good condition for tonight's card.

Dean and Woods will be the big attraction, with the winner to challenge Fred Gilbert, but the battle between the Earl—Stolze and Smith—is going to be no petting match. Smith in the workouts in the old K. of C. hall has proved himself to be a real fighter and it is predicted that Stolze will have to go the limit if he is to annex a decision.

Announcement of a special event for tonight's card was made today by Matchmaker O. M. Montgomery. This event will be a four two minute round bout between Battling Fred Greenley and K. O. Young Luke. Greenley in recent months has been ranging in foreign fields, and judging from the stuff he has shown in the workouts, he is going to do some punishing while entertaining this evening.

The curtain raiser will be a match between Cowboy Baxter and Frenchie Gaspard. Conning the special events, there will be 24 rounds on tonight's card. All fighters are to weigh in this afternoon.

It appears that William Harrison Dempsey, otherwise known as Jack, the heavyweight champion of the world, is also the world's champion kidder.

When Jack left these halcyon shores for old Europe everyone was panicking him for not fighting and rubbing it in good for his utter disregard of Harry Wills' challenge.

On Dempsey's arrival back home he was full of smiles and was willing to meet anyone in the world. He accepted Harry's challenge, offered

THE WORLD'S CHAMPION KIDDER—

By DICK DORGAN

Jack Dempsey

to defend his laurels against Gene Tunney and all the rest of them. But when he was asked when all this would happen, Dempsey, still full of smiles, takes the first stiffer westward bound to attend to urgent business.

It seems to us that Jack is a world beater at the kidding game. If he ever does get back into the roped arena it will be against a couple of set ups. Jack is too fond of his title and all that goes with it—it means a great deal to him as long as he is in the movies. All the interviewing, etc., about coming back to defend his crown is good advertising for him and the pictures.

It's all right to be a good fellow full of smiles and cheer but how about a little action? Jack is full of color and personality, the fans go mad to see him fight, and he should fight, lay off this high hat parlor talk about being willing to fight and go and do his stuff.

The Open Switch

Monday Health Talk No. 12
 By Roy Reynolds, D. C., Ph. C.

UNCLE BEN SAYS
 "Having seen an educated ape throw away a comb and go after his fleas in the regulation way, I am convinced that Nature overcomes Nature."

Most of us understand that an electric motor will not run unless the current is turned on—unless the switch leading to it is closed. When the switch is open, power is off. Few of us know, however, that there are similar switches within the body.

These "switches" are the movable spinal bones of the spinal column, which at times may press upon nerve trunks thereby cutting off the motive power directed from the brain to some organ. If the stoppage is partial, we have disease; if total, paralysis.

Some cases of paralysis are as simple as that. Others are not, but in the simple cases it is only necessary to reestablish the flow of vital energy by means of Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments, as is shown by this letter:

PARALYSIS COMPLETE ON ONE SIDE
 "I had suffered for some time with severe pain and dizzy spells. Although I had the best medical attention obtainable, I was unable to obtain relief, and finally I suffered a second stroke of paralysis. I had no use whatever of my left arm and leg. A chiropractor was then called to my home and I soon started to improve. After being under his care for two months I was able to go to his office and walk upstairs for my adjustments. My health is improving and strength continues to return to my arm and leg."—J. W. Ryan, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2117-B.
