Man Here Who Helped Catch Kelley Before

There is one man in Bend today who would have no difficulty in recognizing Tom Murray or Ellsworth Kelley, escaped Oregon convicts and murderers, should he meet them.

He is H. Moore, formerly a state officer, who is here with F. H. Savage, state traffic officer. They are on their way to California, but Moore is ready to turn in and help on a man hunt at any time if called upon. Moore was with the posse which captured Kelley last year, and he got a good look at both Kelley and Murray after they were caught.

Murray is the dangerous member of the trio of fugitives, Moore says, and the posse of which he was a member had orders to shoot quickly if they saw him.

Cars Slightly Damaged In Collision at Night

Automobiles driven by Clyde Earlgers, who are importing gasoline and W. Inselman met in a collision from California at cut rates.

on Bond street Saturday evening. No Murray is the dangerous member of the trio of fugitives, Moore says, and the posse of which he was a member had orders to shoot quickly if they saw him.
