

MINISTER SEES HOPE IN WORLD

Gives Message In Ceremony at Church

Dr. A. W. Lewis Formally Installed as Presbyterian Pastor in Bend

"The world is not going to the bow-wows." And any minister who thinks that it is, has no place in the pulpit, was the declaration of Rev. H. A. Hutchinson of Parkdale, in giving the charge to Dr. A. W. Lewis, who was installed as pastor of the Bend Presbyterian church Friday night. The service was well attended both by Presbyterians and members of other churches.

The pastor of any church is not doing his duty if he fails to be a fountain of hope to his people, and to hold before them the promise that the day is coming when "every knee shall bow" in recognition of the creator, said the speaker.

Other primary duties of the minister are to develop love of humanity in the community, and to lead in the battle for righteousness, Rev. Hutchinson concluded.

Striking similarity between the ancient problem of building Jerusalem's walls and building a church today, was developed by Dr. D. A. Thompson of Portland in his charge to the congregation.

All Must Work Nehemiah had each man build the part of the wall near his own home, then showed them that it was no good unless the gaps were filled in. That is just what must be done to build a church, said Dr. Thompson.

"But how foolish it would have been to give Nehemiah a trowel and stone hammer and tell him to build it alone!" said Dr. Thompson, and he had no need to draw the present day inference. Every member of the church, not the pastor alone, must be a worker.

Dr. James A. Fraser delivered a beautiful and telling sermon on "The Raven," to exemplify God's care for his creatures, especially man.

Dr. Lewis was formally installed by Moderator G. H. Wilbur of Hood River. The musical part of the service included solos by Dr. H. B. Mallett and Mrs. Montell Coe, the latter with a violin obligato by Fred Dal-

Woman and Tiny Baby Keeping Vigil at Jail

Holding their baby, two or three months old, in her arms, Mrs. William McKinley kept faithful vigil for hours today in front of the county jail where her husband was being held on a cattle rustling charge.

This afternoon the prisoner's pretty wife, still holding the baby, sat by McKinley's side in the office of Justice of the Peace E. D. Gilson when the hearing was scheduled to open.

However, the hearing was postponed by agreement of attorneys on both sides, until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A motion in regard to the case will be argued Monday morning.

McKinley is held jointly with Vandy Robertson and Ralph Whaley, on a charge of stealing a two year old steer belonging to Edward Gould, near Millican last week.

Women's Club Members On Health Association

Four women's clubs of Bend, the Civic League, the Study Club, the W. C. T. U. and the Departmental Club, will be represented on the executive committee of the Deschutes County Health Association, the committee decided at a meeting Friday evening, and these clubs will play an important part in conducting the baby clinic here next Friday and Saturday.

Each of the clubs will conduct the clinic for one-half day, it was decided.

All of the community branches of the health association throughout the county are to be reorganized, announces Miss Georgia McKenzie, county nurse.

Miss McKenzie is planning to arrange for a monthly baby clinic in both Bend and Redmond.

Additional Men Called For Legion Bugle Corps

For the purpose of organizing and discussing plans for the immediate future, a meeting of all legionnaires in Bend interested in the formation of a drum and bugle corps are asked by Leon Devereaux, in charge of the corps, to meet in the American Legion hall at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Aside from the formation of the corps, one of the subjects to be considered will be the dance to be given by the legion on the night of September 4, Friday.

RUSSIA WANTS AMERICAN AID

Industrial Development Need of Nation

Monster Concessions Offered With Little Restrictions as to Profits, Stated

(Copyright 1925 by United Press) (U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) MOSCOW, Aug. 29.—Soviet Russia is striving to achieve "Americanization" insofar as American technique—"that precious flower of American culture," is concerned, according to Leon Trotsky, Russian leader and chief of the concessions department of the soviet union.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press he made it clear that Russia, now striving to develop on great lines its electrical processes, would welcome this much Americanization. In fact, he declared that Russia is "striving to acquire such Americanization."

But he spurned any Americanization which would mean "the domination of America's capitalist trusts or any which would try to make Russia succumb to such influences as America's yellow press."

He made it plain that Russia is looking to the outside world to aid it in the tremendous electrification scheme which is being wrought in Russia, and he also held forth the prospect that concessions henceforth will not be bound by red tape or be too restricted as to profits.

Suggesting the liberalization of the concession policy, Trotsky declared: "The soviet government has now decided to exercise a more careful supervision over the practical working of concessions for the purpose of eliminating unnecessary difficulties, red tape and false restrictions."

He declared that the successful development of agriculture and state industries now assures the success of concession enterprises.

Electrification Grows Electrification is growing. In fact, he said, the soviet is compelled to seek much electrical equipment in foreign markets.

Super power plants, he said, are on the verge of completion at Volhovskoy, Kashira, Shatura, Balakina, Chitrovka and elsewhere, where the next task will be construction of hydraulic stations along the Dnieper to be linked with the southern metallurgical industries.

Indigestion is nature's signal—heed it

THERE is a saying that when a stomach reminds a man that he has a stomach, all is not well. Be that as it may, the whole trouble with most of us is that we fail to take the simple precautions to retain the good health that Nature gave us. Your physician will tell you that pills and prescriptions and purgatives cannot cure permanently. Neither the physician nor the prescription can do everything for you. You have to co-operate a bit yourself.

Watch for the danger signals, however slight. Just as you watch for squeaks in your automobile, and heed the warning if you have an attack of indigestion, do not content yourself with taking a pinch of soda and then forgetting about it until the next attack comes. Nature is signalling. Trouble in your stomach indicates that that part of your anatomy is out of order. Go to your physician, learn the cause of the digestive trouble, and take steps to correct it.

and take no exercise often develop rest, kidney trouble, high blood pressure and other serious ailments.

Instead of taking a baked apple with cream in the morning, take a glass of grapefruit or a glass of orange juice. Instead of two eggs and two rolls, take one egg and one roll.

Between breakfast and lunch take two glasses of water. Luncheon should be light—light not only in quantity but in quality. Avoid greasy foods. Do not deceive yourself into imagining that just because what you eat for luncheon is small in amount it is easily digested. The average business man's "light" luncheon is often heavy.

If you are subject to indigestion, there are a few rules that should be rigidly observed. Don't float your food down—masticate it. Eat at regular intervals. Do not hurry through a meal. Substitute fruits for sweet desserts.

Don't eat starch. This includes bread, cake, flour gravies, etc. Never eat between meals. Be careful not to neglect the foods that require vigorous chewing. Prefer toast to soft bread. Never reject a crust, because it is hard. The longer you have to chew your food, the better you will digest it.

Example of a Moderate Diet

- BREAKFAST: Grapefruit or orange juice, one egg boiled or poached, two graham, bran or corn muffins, coffee substitute, cocoa or weak tea. Between breakfast and lunch take two glasses of water.
- LUNCHEON: A vegetable luncheon consisting of any of the following vegetables: Spinach, peas, egg plant, stringbeans, turnips, asparagus, corn. Glass of milk, dark bread, and for dessert rice or tapioca pudding. Between lunch and dinner three glasses of water.
- DINNER: One helping of lean meat, fish or chicken, broiled, one green vegetable, a baked potato, be sure to eat the skin, and for dessert fresh fruit in season, nuts or crackers and cheese.

concessions chief continued: "We need foreign machinery and foreign patents. We are prepared to grant foreigners concessions in the electrical enterprises, providing the concessionaires are highly equipped technically. Since our economic development is advancing apace, concessionaires will have no reason to complain of low profits."

Firemen Put on Masks, Checking Sulphur Fire

Gas masks were used by members of the fire department at about 2 o'clock this afternoon in checking a fire in a house at 36 Oregon street, owned by C. V. Shiff. The fire was caused by sulphur, used for fumigating purposes.

The burning sulphur, some of which had been placed on a brick, ran to the floor of the building, causing the fire. The damage to the structure was confined to the floor.

PORTLANDER GETS BIRTH

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—L. R. Alderman, of Portland, Oregon, has been appointed by Secretary of the Interior Work to the new post as "specialist in adult education" in the bureau of education. The post was created by the last congress to promote Americanization education throughout the country.

Plattery is the praise we hear given to other people.

Pedigreed Cockerels

We have more cockerels than we need for our own use and will sell the surplus at about 25 per cent of value asked by the breeder for outside birds. They are out of a bunch of Chicks purchased from Honesty, celebrated O. A. C. from this spring, thrifty and fine; some are growing now. Birds are original wing, head and posture, and from stock with frequent records of 200 to 300 eggs. They are the grade than Haines sets at $4 to $10. We will sell our surplus at $2.50 per pair by August 10th, 1.50 $10.

Of all great comforts this costs least

Because the electric fan is so universally used, we are apt to forget two very remarkable things about it.

1. Before its invention, there was no way to create a steady artificial breeze in your home.
2. Although, having once known this luxury, people would pay any price for it, you can get a General Electric fan for a few dollars and keep it running for half a cent an hour.

This monogram is a guarantee of excellence, not only on the best domestic comforts like electric fans, irons and washing machines, but on many great electric generators and turbines used by the power and light companies of America, and of the world.
