

Greater Interest Than Ever Shown In World Series Games

GAME STRONG SAYS HEYDLER

Seat Sales Deny Rumor Sport Is Slipping

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin) NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Tremendous interest that is being shown in the world series this year between the Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates disproves any claims that have been made that baseball is slipping in the affection of the public, according to John A. Heydler, president of the National League.

Heydler admits that casual visitors to many of the big league parks this season might think the attendance was falling off, but he said the books in his league did not show any great loss of business.

"The presidents of the two leagues are always allotted a certain number of tickets for the world series and I have never had so many applications for my tickets or so many requests to use what influence I might have in helping friends to buy tickets," he said.

"The Pittsburgh club has disposed of all its reserved seats and I understand that the Washington club also is unable to accept any more applications. This surely must indicate that the game is in good health and has lost none of its popularity."

Betting in the New York financial district still shows the Pirates to be the favorites to win at 6 to 5. There has been very little Washington money in sight, but this can be explained. One betting commissioner said today that he had $10,000 to bet on Washington just as soon as it could be learned definitely that Bucky Harris and Roger Peckinpaugh would be in condition to play.

AUTONA ALL CAST CIRCULATOR
—Brown Grained Mahogany, Blue or Gray Porcelain Enamel Finish or Plain Gray Iron and Nickel Finish.
THE AUTONA CIRCULATOR is built according to the most improved principles of warm air furnace construction, and may be placed in any room in the home. Like a basement furnace it consists of an inner fire chamber, surrounded by a beautifully designed all cast iron casing. This casing is not in contact with the fire chamber at any point, there being a circulation space from the bottom to the top from three to five inches, which causes cold air to be drawn in through cold air intake grills at bottom of all sides of the cabinet, as well as underneath it, and as it rises it becomes highly heated and is forced upward through the gridded top, broadcasting it through every room in the house and to all corners, thus causing a constant circulation of all the air in the space to be heated.
