FINISH SURVEY FOR PIPE LINE TO THE TUMALO

Double Diversion Will be Recommended

Not Same, Says Mayor—
Reveals New Bond Deal

Location surveys for pipe line and reservoir for Bend's municipal water system, authorized by special election, was completed today under the direction of John Dubuis. The pipe line is shorter by some 2,000 feet than had been previously thought necessary, Dubuis says, and he adds that the saving of approximately $10,000 involved will more than pay for the double diversion—from both south and north fork of Tumalo creek—which he will advise the council to authorize, and which is included in the survey. Originally south fork diversion only had been contemplated. The new plan, he explains, will give protection to the city in case trouble should develop at either source. The diversion will be but far from the foot of Tumalo falls.

The general location of the reservoir has been determined, Dubuis states, but the exact size is not certain, and on this may depend somewhat the specifications and final site.

No Hurry, Says Mayor

There is really no hurry about starting work on the pipe line, Mayor B. H. Fox stated this afternoon, adding that as a matter of fact this could not be done economically through the winter months. At present negotiations for purchase of the Bend Water, Light & Power Co. distribution plant are under way with the company through its attorney, R. S. Hamilton, the mayor stated, but only slight headway has been made. The company would sell for $264,000, Fox said, while the city is willing to buy for $210,000.

Fox disclosed that a new contract for sale of the city's $600,000 bond issue has been prepared, but not yet signed, which leaves out the clause providing that there shall be but one water system in the city. This contract will not be executed, nor delivery of the bonds made until there is need for the money or a part of it, said the mayor.

Occupation by Spanish May Bring Peace Soon

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

MELILLA, Spanish Morocco, Oct. 2.—Spanish occupation of Adijir, stronghold of the Rifian rebel leader, Abd El Krim, may precipitate peace much sooner than had been expected.

Tribesmen who have been fighting with the Rifians have appeared at the Spanish headquarters with pleas for mercy.

The rapid retreat of the Beni Ur-raguel tribesmen, who were among Abd El Krim's most dependable auxiliaries, has demoralized many of the rebels.

Reports emanating from the Rifian camp indicate that Krim is preparing to flee, foreseeing the possibility of his capture by Spanish or French forces. The Rifian chieftain also fears some of his native allies may turn him over to the Europeans in the hope of saving their own lives.

CATTLE RUSTLING CASE IS DISMISSED

Grand Jury Finds Not True
Bill for McKinley

Charges of cattle rustling on which William McKinley has been held in jail for over a month, were removed when the grand jury returned a not true bill this morning. The charges against Vannie Robertson and Ralph Whealy which was contained in the complaint which also named McKinley, was not affected by this not true bill.

McKinley was arrested late in August at the ranch house on the John Helfrich homestead, by Deputy Sheriff George Stokoe and L. A. W. Nixon and Justice of the Peace E. D. Gilson after two sacks containing beef hides had been found in the house.

One of these hides carried the EG brand, and the complaint against the three occupants of the house was signed by Edward Gould, in whose name the brand is registered. The fact that McKinley was working every day on the E. E. Varco ranch is believed to have played a part in exonerating him.

Since McKinley's arrest, his wife, unwilling to be separated from him even by prison bars, has been almost constantly in front of the jail, with their baby in her arms.

Robertson and Whealy were arraigned on the first charge, on which they were indicted Friday, this morning. They pleaded not guilty. They will be defended by Attorneys Boylan and Ramsey.

A not true bill was returned in the case of Mrs. S. M. Cornett this afternoon, freeing her of charges of perjury preferred by W. O. Armstrong, who claimed that she had sworn falsely to an affidavit on which a marriage license was issued to Armstrong's daughter.

Experts Are Gathered In Oil Lease Appeal

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Rival camps of legal experts were set up here today in preparation for opening in the federal circuit court of appeals Monday of Edward L. Doherty's appeal from the government's victory in the $100,000,000 Elk Hills oil lease case.

Doherty and a staff of nearly 20 attorneys arrived from Los Angeles. Owen J. Roberts, Pennsylvania, and Senator Alice Pomerene of Ohio, the government's champions, are on the job.

Doherty is appealing from Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick's Los Angeles decision ordering cancellation of the government lease to Doherty of land in naval reserve No. 1 in California.

Bungle Use of Nitroglycerine, Leave as Much of Value as Amount Taken

(Special to The Bend Bulletin)

REDMOND, October 3.—Crackmen, believed amateurs, made a thorough mess of things when they used quantities of nitro-glycerine to open a safe in the office of the Redmond Lumber & Produce Co. here last night. The safe was utterly wrecked, cash and county warrants worth upwards of $300 taken, and papers of much value to the business were also appropriated when the thieves seized the cash box and retreated. They failed to see money and securities elsewhere in the safe worth fully as much as the amount taken.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Carl I. Wheat, chief counsel for the state railroad commission, leaves here tonight for Portland, Oregon, and Washington, D. C., on business affecting the commission and California utilities.

Wheat will represent the commission at a hearing before the interstate commerce commission at Portland, involving application of the Southern Pacific to build lines near Klamath Falls, Oregon, and to purchase the Nevada-California-Oregon railroad which operates in the north-eastern part of California to Lakeview, Oregon.

Wheat will declare the commission has no position in the counsel contest between the Southern Pacific and other railroads seeking extensions in that territory, but is in favor of the pending applications as being beneficial to California.

Terms Already Fixed For Czecho-Slovakia

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Czecho-Slovakia will be asked to settle her $117,679,095.70 war debt to the United States on terms similar to those granted Poland and Latvia. Undisturbed by failure to reach a full settlement with France on her $4,290,000,000 obligation, the American debt funding commission was preparing today to open negotiations with the Czecho-Slovakian debt mission Monday.

Members of the American commission said today they hoped to reach an agreement early enough to "attend the world series" here which opens Friday. The commissioners were optimistic over the outcome of the meeting.

Headed by Dr. Vilem Poupil, director of the savings bank of Prague, the Czechs arrived here today.

French Commissioners Returning to Homeland

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With the promise that France would work "to the limit of her strength" to pay her obligations, Joseph Caillaux, French minister of finance, has sailed for home with his fellow debt commissioners.

In a speech at the Lotus club last night, Caillaux appealed to the "heart" of the American people and to the spiritual bonds between his country and the United States for the basis of a settlement of debt problems. These bonds, he said, are "above questions of interest payments."

Winthrop Due In Tonight To Face Larceny Charges

Winthrop, arrested in Pasadena last week, will arrive in Bend late this evening to face charges of larceny by bailer and obtaining money under false pretenses, according to word received this morning from Deputy Sheriff J. F. Kilmer, who has Winthrop in custody. They were to arrive at Eugene at 11 o'clock and come across the McKenale pass by stage.

County Charge Has Fortune Is Disclosed After Death

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

WOODLAND, Cal., Oct. 3.—Death today revealed that Joe Allen, 79 year old county dependent, was worth more than $10,000. A bank book, found by attaches at the hospital showed that he had deprived himself of the necessities of life in order to board money.

The safe was utterly wrecked, cash and county warrants worth upwards of $300 taken, and papers of much value to the business were also appropriated when the thieves seized the cash box and retreated. They failed to see money and securities elsewhere in the safe worth fully as much as the amount taken.

Tracks and finger prints indicate that three men were implicated in the robbery. Two apparently handled the nitro-glycerine operations, while a third waited outside with a car. The exact time of the robbery has not been fixed, the first knowledge of it coming when J. D. McMickle, manager and part owner, arrived this morning at the warehouse on the Oregon Trunk tracks to open the office.

The crackmen had gained an easy entrance through a window, then had attacked the safe. The noise of the explosion failed to waken the sleeping town, exhausted after the biggest day of the annual county fair here.

From $12 to $15 in silver was in the cash box, which also contained an envelope with about $300 worth of county warrants. A number of papers in the box were also taken. Plenty of identification marks in the way of finger prints and footprints remained when Sheriff S. E. Roberts arrived this morning from Bend to investigate the case.

Divers Risking Lives to Bring Up Bodies of Dead

Exploration of Torpedo Room in Sunken Hull Reveals That Entire Submarine Was Flooded

(By U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 3.—Taking their lives in their hands, divers above the grave of the S-51 today girded themselves to fetch from within that grim steel casket more bodies of her crew. The body of Paul Daniel Burk, engineman second class, of Shoemakersville, Pa., was recovered today.

Divers established beyond doubt that the hull contains no living men. The crew is now "officially" dead and the tortuous suspense of kin-folk as to whether their loved ones are dead or alive in the chambers of the submarine is at an end.

An exploration hole bored into the torpedo room yesterday revealed upon the air gauge that this section was flooded and established that from stem to stern the craft was filled with water.

Admiral Christy now is operating upon orders from the navy department to seek out more bodies. One lies stretched atop a Diesel engine, apparently hurled and wedged there when the steamer City of Rome rammed the S-51 more than a week ago.

Other bodies undoubtedly are hidden in the twisted wreckage forward. Base officers fear that the present work may prove even more hazardous than operations hitherto undertaken. Some quarters even suggest that it is a mistake to imperil living men to seek the bodies of the dead.

Murray, with Ellsworth Kelley and James Willos, broke jail August 12 and two prison guards—J. M. Holman and John Sweeney—were killed in the fight that followed.

King set forth that the warden had prevented him from visiting the "bull pen" in the prison and from making a personal investigation of the scene of the escape. King also asked the court to command Warden A. M. Dalrymple to turn over to him letters which he said the prisoners had addressed to him and which were withheld by the warden.

He also charged he had been prevented from interviewing Willos and Kelley.

Think Donahue Jewels May Easily be Traced

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The magnificent jewels of Mrs. James F. Donahue, five and 10 cent store heiress, are too well known in the leading gem markets of the world to permit of a thief disposing of them easily.

Police authorities, having been assured of this by foremost jewelers here today, authorized a close watch on well known underworld "fences" both in this country and abroad in the effort to trap the robber.

It is now estimated that the pearls and other jewels taken from the heiress to the Woolworth millions were worth approximately $682,000.

Pretty Swindler

Limousines, diamonds, cash and clothes of prominent San Franciscans are said to have composed the loot of Mrs. Barbetta Hammell, beautiful proprietress of an exclusive shop who is missing. Detectives say she is one of the most skillful swindlers in the country. It is estimated that her various swindle schemes netted her $168,000.

Pair Taken at Yards Admit Robbery Series

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

THE DALLES, Oct. 3.—Ben Guthrie, 19, of Marshfield and Victor Thomas, 18, of Aberdeen, Wash., caught last night in the railroad yards by O. W. R. & N. Detectives Kelly and McClaskey, confessed this morning to a series of robberies in Washington and Oregon towns. The last depredation was committed at Umatilla Thursday night, when a general store was broken into and approximately $150 worth of goods taken, the bulk of which the youths had with them when caught. They also confessed to robbing a store at Omak, Wash., during the latter part of September, although alleging that the articles were later stolen from them by hoboes. They are being held in the city jail here pending investigation.

Stranded Missionary In Serious Condition

(U. P. Leased Wire to The Bend Bulletin)

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 3.—N. F. A. Hoijer, chief missionary from the wrecked motor schooner Ariel, was in a serious condition here today after being rescued from the barren coast 65 miles from Nome, where his ship went ashore. The Nome coast guardsmen who visited the wreck found Hoijer in bad shape from exposure.

Other members of the Ariel crew remained with the wreck of their vessel, after being supplied with food and clothing, in an effort to salvage a $10,000 cargo of furs strewn for miles along the shore.

The rescued missionary is widely known for his religious work in the states. His home is in Seattle, the home port of the Ariel, which is owned by the Old Christian society.

REDMOND, Oct. 3.—When the sixth annual Deschutes county fair at 5 o'clock this evening becomes a part of the history of the development of the fertile Deschutes country, there will be recorded in the books of the fair board facts and figures never before duplicated or equalled in the county.

This is the opinion expressed here today by persons who have seen the prize winning community exhibits, the unusual school exhibits, the exhibits of potatoes which have never been surpassed since the pioneer potato shows, the purebred dairy and beef cattle, the varied agricultural produce and the poultry exhibits. When the gates to the fairgrounds close this evening, a record crowd will have attended.

Unusual interest in the fair this year is believed by members of the board to be based on several things—the growing interest in football, favorable publicity given the fair, favorable weather conditions—especially today—and above all an increased interest in agriculture and stock in the mid-state country. The attendance on the first day of the fair this year was greater than ever before, a record crowd was predicted yesterday, and it was predicted that the ideal weather of today will bring a record crowd for the final day of the exposition.

True Agricultural Empire

Proving that the county is in reality an agricultural empire composed of prosperous and fertile communities, there were four excellent community exhibits on display at the fair this year. First award in the community exhibits late yesterday evening was given to Terrebonne, winner of first honors for the second consecutive year. Tumalo won second award with an exhibit which closely crowded Terrebonne for first prize. Third award went to Pleasant Ridge, an exhibit which attracted much attention from the thousands of visitors. Lone Pine won fourth place with an exhibit which was commendable for a small community.

Terrebonne's prize winning exhibit was arranged attractively in a booth some 20 feet in length. The exhibit was characterized by County Agent W. T. McDonald as an "exhibit that was different." Arranged neatly in this booth were garden produce, grasses, fruits, flowers, grapes, berries, hops, honey, canned goods, poultry produce, a great variety of vegetables, honey and bees. M. M. Miller and George McGregor gathered the material and made arrangements for the display of the Terrebonne produce.

Tumalo Exhibit Strong

Tumalo's community exhibit to the eye not trained for judging on points appeared to be the best on display. The word "Tumalo" was traced in small letters of oat heads on the backboard. A strong exhibit of alfalfa and strawberries was made by the Tumalo community. Strawberries in this exhibit were awarded first honors. Eggs were on display in this booth from the R. H. Short farm. The Pleasant Ridge exhibit illustrated the varied garden produce which can be grown in the county.

Deschutes county's premier crop, potatoes, composed an exhibit which has been declared by the judges to be unequalled at any fair in the northwest outside of the Pacific International exposition in Portland or the Spokane fair. Powell Butte won first honors in the potato exhibits, R. R. Roberts taking first prize, S. D. Mustard taking second, Harvey Mustard winning third and E. R. Agee winning fourth. All these prizes were for Deschutes Netted Gems—"The potato that made Central Oregon famous."

In the bushel exhibits of Netted Gems, Roberts again won first prize and S. D. Mustard took second honors. R. L. Moore of Redmond won first award in the Northern Pacific Bakers class, with S. D. Mustard winning second place. Roberts took first prize for the best bushel exhibit of Burbanks, and also won first honors in the Rural New Yorkers class. According to Agriculturist McDonald, the potato exhibits this year have
