

BUILDING PEAK IN BEND IS SEEN

Record of Previous September Doubled

Mill Construction Not Included In Totals Reaching $53,005, Pointed

Building in Bend reached its peak for the year so far in September and all but doubled the record for the previous September, according to the building permit records. Forty-seven permits were taken out during the month just ended, and although a number of them were for garages and woodsheds made necessary by the approach of winter, the total cost estimated was $53,005, as compared to $26,070 in September of last year.

The fall building rush started late this year, as the August total this year was $32,824 against $62,445 in August, 1924, which was the most recent month of greater activity than that just ended.

Activity during the month just past was in reality greater than the permits show, for there were a number of business structures on Bond street still under construction, for which permits were taken out in previous months; and the Brooks-Scanlon mill addition and Shevlin-Hixon byproducts plant construction are not included at all in the city figures.

Kidnapers Sold Child for $1.50

After being sold by alleged kidnapers for $1.50, two inner tubes and a few gallons of gasoline, little Martha Emma Horton, 4, has been restored to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Horton at Memphis, Tenn. The Hortons say that former neighbors stole the child from a Birmingham, Ala., hospital. The child was sold in Arkansas, but later placed in a Memphis orphan's home. The arrest of the alleged kidnapers at Jasper, Ala., on other charges, led to the parents finding Martha.

Brake Inspection---Your Protection

If every automobile owner had his brakes examined at regular intervals at a reliable service station there would be a marked decrease in the number of traffic accidents.

Motorists should remember that good brakes prevent bad breaks. The average driver does not appreciate that giving proper attention to brakes will not only lessen the chances of accidents, but also will result in lengthening the life of the asbestos brake lining. There are but few car owners who are familiar enough with brakes to properly adjust them so those who are not expert mechanics will find it cheaper to have their brakes inspected, adjusted or relined at a service station.

These suggestions are offered to keep brakes in good working condition:

1. Have your brakes inspected every thirty days.
2. Keep the right and left wheel brakes operating with equal pressure.
3. The brake lining should be kept clear of oil, grit and metal particles.
4. Have the brake lining cleaned with gasoline every three months.
5. Glazed spots on the lining should be removed by a mechanic.
6. Have the nuts, rivets, etc., tightened at regular intervals.
7. The foot pedal and hand lever should be kept in proper position.
8. Both brakes should be tested before starting.
9. Apply the brakes slowly as a rule, but use them quickly when necessary.
10. Your brakes should be adjusted so that in an emergency you can slide the wheels.
11. Use the motor as a brake on hills.
12. Try out your brakes under various conditions to see how quickly the car will stop. (In New York City and certain other communities police officers halt vehicles to ascertain the condition of the brakes. Those found needing adjustment or relining usually are fined $25 each.)

Girl Who Set Fire Is Committed to Asylum

Bessie Keenan, who Thursday evening confessed to having set fire to the Tracy Fairchild home, where she was employed as a maid, was today committed to the state hospital for the insane at Pendleton. The complaint was signed by her brother, here from Lewiston, Idaho, and her sister from The Dalles, in order that the action might not come from the state fire marshal's office.

We Don't Bluff!

"How do you like your car?" You hear this expression many times in the day. What is the answer? Sometimes it is "Fine," but—it is exceptionally true when buying used cars.

We have been striving to eliminate this word "but" and we never quit trying to eliminate anything that pertains to doubt when selling cars.

It has taken years of painstaking effort and thought to do this but you may now feel when dealing with this garage that you are getting just what is represented to you.

It is certainly a good feeling when you know that you have the confidence of the person with whom you are doing business.
