Economy Bill Slated To Go Through Safely

all financial institutions of the country," he complained in protest against administration refusal to extend blanket federal protection to state banks.

GETS G. O. P. HELP

Washington, March 13.—(UP)—Support of the president's economy program by a "substantial majority" of the republican senate minority appeared assured today after a party conference at which virtually the entire party membership was present.

TO RECESS SOON

Washington, March 13.—(UP)—House Majority Leader Byrns today announced that under present plans of the administration congress will recess immediately after final passage of the Roosevelt economy program for a period of two or three weeks.

Byrns said consideration of the president's unemployed relief and agricultural aid measures would be delayed until after the recess.

Another Arrest Made In Jackson County War

Medford, Ore., Mar. 13.—(UP)—Found living in an abandoned mine tunnel in Evans creek district allegedly to evade arrest, C. J. Conner, vice president of the good government congress and leader of the "Green Spring mountain boys", was held in county jail today under $5,000 bond.

Conner was arrested Sunday night by state police in connection with the theft of ballots of the November election. Police said two more arrests were expected, 15 men having been arrested thus far, most of whom are out on bail.

Conner had enough camping equipment to last him several months when he was arrested, state police said.

Banks Opened Today In Key Cities of U. S.

ials heard optimistic reports of the reopening of banks in the 12 federal reserve cities.

Treasury officials said they would not make public a list of clearing house cities scheduled for reopening tomorrow. They did, however, define a recognized clearing house as "one in existence for some time and generally recognized in its particular district."

It was understood that the various state banks, which are not members of the federal reserve system would be opened on much the same basis as member banks, providing that there was no conflict with state laws. State banks would be able to obtain funds from federal reserve member banks and also from the reconstruction finance corporation under the general policy of the treasury department.

REORGANIZE IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., March 13—(UP)—First of the "Roosevelt plan" banks was rapidly taking shape here today in the reorganization of the First National and Guardian National banks into one institution. Rehabilitation of the two banks—largest in Detroit—would result in formation of one new structure in which the government would participate both as investor and director.

Under the tentative terms, reported to have been outlined to the stockholders of the two banks, they would be required to raise $5,000,000 against which the government would invest $20,000,000 in preferred stock. With this $25,000,000 capitalization the bank would realize from an R. F. C. loan approximately $227,000,000 on its quick assets and would operate immediately on this basis. The frozen assets would be placed in the hands of government conservators for liquidation as soon as practicable.

Washington, Mar. 13—(UP)—Banking institutions which have not yet been permitted to reopen for normal and usual functions may continue to carry on limited activities as specified in regulations 1 to 19 issued by the treasury, Secretary Woodin said late today.

Regulations 1 to 19 authorized banks to make change, open safe deposit and trust departments, and pay out money to meet pay rolls and to provide for the necessities of life, such as food and medicine.

Pondosa Cubs Win In First Game of Season

The Pondosa Cubs, a baseball team which won 21 out of 24 games last year, opened its 1933 season yesterday by defeating Tumalo 18 to 5 in a game played on the Tumalo diamond. A homer by Sheik, Cub second baseman, with the bases full and a triple by Padgett with two men on accounted for a part of the Bend team's imposing score. Jack Manning was on the mound for Tumalo.

This year's Cub team will be composed of practically the same group of players who worked together so successfully last year. Yesterday, Padgett was on first, Sheik held down second, McCarthy played short and Weber was on third for the Cubs. Copenhaver, Winslow and Skjersaa were in the outfield. James McCarthy did the pitching, with Donnelly behind bat.

UPTON TELLS OF WORK AT SALEM

Says Wet-Dry Battle Is Just Beginning

Wets who believe that the fight is won in Oregon would do well to come down to earth and consider the facts, State Senator Jay H. Upton, just returned from the biennial session of the legislature, told the members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly noon luncheon at the O. I. C. cafeteria today. "The drics are as militant as ever", he declared in discussing the 18th amendment convention plan which will come before the voters at special election in July, "and they have the same arguments that they have used before. You wets have just begun to fight".

Senator Upton discussed in chief the three measures which are assured a place on the special election ballot, the other two of these being the sales tax and the county manager constitutional amendment.

The sales tax, of two per cent on retail sales and 3 of one per cent on manufacturers' sales, he considered as the most intelligent way of meeting the state's financial problems and equalizing taxation. The fact that it eliminates personal property tax, thus removing the levy on farmers' livestock and equipment, and on merchants' stocks of goods should, he considered, influence two of the chief opponents of the bill to favor it. "The man who, heretofore, has had no tax to pay, may not like it," he conceded, "but he is the one who should be reached.

The tax, Upton explained, will relieve the state from necessity of a one-half mill veterans state aid commission levy, it will contribute $200,000 to state administration expense, and one-half of the remainder will be apportioned among the counties of the state.

The county manager bill hit a snag at the very outset, the Central Oregon senator reported. Multnomah county officials, believing that he was spokesman for Governor Meier, sensed in the measure a plan on the part of the executive to deprive them of their jobs, and immediately launched an attack through up state sheriffs and assessors to halt the proposed legislation. The opposition thus created was so determined, Upton said, that the bill providing for the machinery of county manager form of government had to be abandoned. The constitutional amendment, however, legalizing the passage of such a bill, was saved, and will be on the special election ballot in July.

Upton mentioned the old age pension bill, providing, under county allowance for persons of 70 years or more who have been 15 years resident in the state, with an offset for other ascertained sources of income. Important banking law changes, including a provision for branch banking, he pointed out, will generally be lost sight of due to the national situation. Workmen's compensation act changes, he believed, will prevent this phase of state activity from going on the rocks completely.

Legislation for state employe salary cuts, with a final percentage of from five to 30, really means little, according to Senator Upton. In the first place, he said, the board of control is given power to modify its provisions as to individuals, and, in addition to this, the cuts are based on the 1931 schedule, which has already been materially reduced. The general measure for reduction of all county and city budgets finally lost out when the idea was accepted that, after all, such changes should be made by the local governments.

In spite of misunderstanding which at one time existed between Senator Upton and Oregon's chief executive, the speaker took time out to pay tribute to Governor Meier. "He has given Oregon its best business administration," said Senator Upton, "and Henry Hanzen has given the state its only honest budget".

Upton commented whimsically on the fact that the lowest paid of his clerical staff received $5 a day as against the legislators $3. He thought that the horse and dog racing bill would be of help to Oregon in bringing back a nearly vanished horse-raising industry, and he expressed the belief that, in the main, the members of the two houses of the legislature had spent their time in attempting to achieve something constructive for the state.

R. E. McCormack, president of the Kiwanis club of Pendleton, and former principal of Bend high school, spoke briefly following Upton's address.

A program of music and dancing by high school students preceded the main address. Gale Pelker and Jarvis Gould were heard in vocal duets, Margaret Van Matre, clad in Irish green, was presented in tap dancing numbers, and Ray Brosterhous gave a group of trumpet solos. All were enthusiastically encored. Miss Adelia Gates, of the high school faculty, was at the piano as accompanist.

Three Men Held Here In Liquor Sale Case

Three men were held in local jails today on charges of sale of intoxicating liquor to Indians. The men held are Harry Moore, Vernon Partin and Wayne Babcock. Moore was held in the Deschutes county jail and the other two were in the city jail.

The men could not arrange for bail today in Bend because of the holiday and are to be taken to The Dalles Tuesday where they will appear before the United States commissioner. Charles Hoskins, Indian policeman for Oregon, was in charge of the case here.

CALL MONEY RATES UP

New York, March 13.—(UP)—Banks renewed call loans at 5 per cent today, against an official rate March 3 on the stock exchange of 3½ per cent and on the New York curb exchange of 4 per cent.

NANCY PAGE

High Hat, Low Brow, String Biege—Terms

By Florence La Ganke

Nancy could scarcely believe magazines, looked in shop windows and tried on the new spring her eyes as she studied fashion clothes. Why she was back in the good old days of leg of mutton sleeves, flat waist lines. Almost she expected to see the pompadour coming back with the dipped waist line and the flounced skirts. She was reminded of the Gibson girl. And yet there were differences.

Hair was worn close to the head. And while hats were perched on top of a head nevertheless the "high hat" was closely allied to a "low brow." Witness this version of the beret which is pulled well down over the forehead almost concealing it entirely.

Then too, many of the hats were worn perched at angles, quite different from the flat "Merry Widow sailor" of a few decades back.

Fur is much more popular in 1933 than it was in 1896. Fur may appear almost anywhere on a coat or even a suit jacket.

Nancy saw one blue suit with a separate and adjustable cape which was edged with a heavy band of blue fox.

She saw another suit, string biege in color, so the salesperson said, that had epaulettes of fur. Did they make shoulders appear broad and equal to any blow the year might bring? They did.

And then there were the sleeves which were quite the opposite of the leg of mutton. They were fitted quite closely at the armseye and shoulder but flared loosely at the wrist. And the flare was accentuated by the banding of fluffy fur. This suit was in gray. Apparently blue, string beige and gray were to be the leading spring colors for suits and coats.

Roosevelt Asks People To Banish Fears Now

needed for normal business and necessary personal expenditures.

"The first duty of banks reopening under the license of the secretary of the treasury for the performance of their usual functions is to see that the primary needs of the people for the necessities of life and normal business undertakings are ment," Woodin announced.

"Accordingly withdrawals for hoarding have been prohibited and the secretary of the treasury rules that until more normal conditions have been established, transfers of funds by banks or their customers will be limited to necessary purposes.

"I know that many people are worrying about state banks not members of the federal reserve system," President Roosevelt said. "These banks can and will receive assistance from member banks and from the reconstruction finance corporation.

"These state banks are following the same course as the national banks except that they get their licenses to resume business from the state authorities, and these authorities have been asked by the secretary of the treasury to permit their good banks to open up on the same schedule as the national banks. I am confident that the state banking departments will be as careful as the national government in the policy relating to the opening of banks and will follow the same broad policy."

Roosevelt again emphasized that "If your bank does not open the first day, you are by no means justified in believing that it will not open. A bank that opens on one of the subsequent days is in exactly the same status as the bank that opens tomorrow.

"I do not promise you that every bank will be reopened or that individual losses will not be suffered," the president continued. "But there will be no losses that possibly could be avoided; and there would have been more and greater losses had we continued to drift.

"I can even promise you salvation for some at least of the sorely-pressed banks. We shall be engaged not merely in reopening sound banks, but in the creation of sound banks through reorganization."

Explaining the situation which made it necessary for him to declare the banking holiday, Roosevelt said:

"We had a bad banking situation. Some of our bankers had shown themselves either incompetent or dishonest in their handling of the people's funds. They had used the money entrusted to them in speculations and unwise loans.

"This was of course not true in the vast majority of our banks, but it was true in enough of them to shock the people for a time into a sense of insecurity and to put them into a frame of mind where they did not differentiate. It was the government's job to straighten out this situation and do it as quickly as possible—and the job is being performed."

Sport Tabloids

Portland—Art Schuman's smash past Goalie Miller of the Portland sextet in the last 10 minutes of the overtime ice hockey game brought a 3-2 victory to the Westminster Cubs of Vancouver, B. C., here last night.

Salem—Sixteen teams representing the cream of the 1933 high school basketball teams in Oregon today were putting in finishing touches on offense and defense in preparation for the 14th annual state basketball tournament starting here Wednesday afternoon.

San Francisco—Negotiations are under way for a gridiron game here next fall between the University of San Francisco and Oregon State college, it was revealed here today. Don officials have been communicating with Carl Lodell, graduate manager at Oregon State, in an attempt to arrange a date. The most likely date is October 14, provided Gonzaga university would consent to postpone its game with the Dons, scheduled on that day.

West Los Angeles—Long Beach was a trifle too shaky for Manager Oscar Vitt and his Hollywood Stars, so they have moved to the soldier's home here to complete their training. Otis Brannan was the lone quake casualty, injuring his leg when it became wedged in a door as he dashed for safety. Vance Page jumped through a plate glass window and cut his shoe. The Stars have abandoned all exhibition games except two with the Pirates and two with the Cubs at Wrigley field.

Los Angeles—The Los Angeles Angels and the Chicago Cubs begin their annual family quarrel at Wrigley field today. The Seraphs blanked the National military home nine, 8 to 0 yesterday, with Orv Mohler making an auspicious professional debut. Mohler hit a home run with one on, and a single in five trips to the plate, and fielded well.

San Francisco—The San Francisco Seals pointed their training today at their first Coast league competition, scheduled for Thursday night when they meet Seattle at Santa Cruz. The Seals were idle yesterday, their scheduled exhibition game with Pittsburgh being cancelled because of rain.

Oakland—Beryl Horne was the big hero in the Oakland camp today. Backed by flawless fielding, Horne limited the Pittsburgh Pirates to two hits in five innings yesterday, yielding the mound in the sixth to Glen Gabler who was touched for a bingle before rain forced a halt at the end of the inning. The score was 9 to 0.

Santa Cruz, Cal.—The New York Giants' second string team vanquished Seattle, 12 to 3, yesterday in an exhibition game, called at the end of the seventh because of rain. Peel of the Giants starred with a homer and a double in three trips up. Badgro of the Indians also garnered a pair of safeties, one going for three bases.

San Jose, Cal.—With Art Jacobs' name safely on a contract, the Portland Beavers nursed a single holdout today. The lone recalcritrant was Ken Holloway, a pitcher obtained from the New York Giants, who is dissatisfied with his salary offer. The Beavers' scheduled game yesterday with the San Jose All-stars was rained out.

Woodland, Cal.—Clearing skies promised a workout today for Manager Fred Hoffman and his Mission Reds, rained out yesterday in their scheduled exhibition clash with the Woodland Oaks, Sacramento Valley league champions.

Snoqualmie Pass—Ole Tverdal of the Seattle Ski club leaped 171 and 179 feet respectively in two jumps, to win first place honors in the Seattle Ski club's annual tournament with a total of 226.5 points here yesterday. Because of a coating of soft sticky snow, jumpers were unable to make distance records. The feature of the meet was the performance of Miss Johanna Kolstad, Norwegian jumper, who leaped 118 feet. Her jumping form was one of the events of the day. Tom Mobraaten, visiting from Vancouver, B. C., Ski club, won second place in the class "A" event with jumps of 164 and 172 feet. His points totaled 225.5. Nordal Kahldal won third place with 221.4 points. Harry Brown, Jr., of Vancouver, B. C., won the class B event with 209.4 points. His jumps were 150 and 140 feet.
