

It Takes a Shotgun to Win Decision in New York Boxing Ring

JEBY-DUNDEE GO PROVES IT

Colonel McLemore Is Disgusted

By Henry McLemore
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Mar. 21.—(AP)—If Bob Goodwin, who fights Maxie Rosenbloom this week, was at Madison square garden for the Jebby-Dundee bout Friday night, he might have left the place a very discouraged young man and wondering wotwille he would have to do to Maxie to lift the light-heavyweight title.

Offhand, we'd say that Bob will have to shoot Rosenbloom, shoot him twice if Judge Eddie Farrell and Referee Eddie Forbes work the fight. At last Friday's entertainment it was Farrell who voted for Jebby and Forbes who saw the thing as a draw. How they reached their conclusions never will be known. If Jebby won that fight, as Farrell said he did, then Custer took every round with the Indians.

Despite the fact that we looked at the bout with somewhat biased eyes (we picked Jebby to win in a walk, you will remember) we couldn't see anybody but Dundee. He fought like a champion, the champion like a ham donnie from a small, cheap club. He popped Jebby so hard and so often that the champion pulled up at the end of the 15th looking like something from the butcher's. His lips were split, his nose was bleeding, his left eye was good as closed and his entire face red and swollen.

Dundee, save for a little nick over his left eye, was untouched. Yet when Joe Humphries collected the slips, Farrell had given Jebby nine of the 15 rounds and Forbes a draw.

We, meaning all of us who were there, can be thankful that Charley Lynch, the other judge, voted for Dundee. For had he not, and Jebby were declared the winner, there would have been a sweet and elegant riot, with the boys who had wagered on Dundee leading the attack.

From boxing's point of view it was a shame that the unfair decision had to come at this time, for the game, after a long spell in the doldrums, was beginning to show signs of coming to life. First signs of this awakening were furnished when more than 12,000 customers paid their way in to see Rosenbloom, never a great drawing card, engaged the comparatively unknown Adolph Heufer two weeks ago. Further proof was offered when 14,000 more patrons paid to see Jebby and Dundee. And the Rosenbloom bout was squarely in the middle of the moratorium when ready money wasn't.

Of course, there is the chance, boxing fans being the gluttons for punishment they are, that the rank decisions of last week will only make for bigger and better bouts.

What is your opinion in this matter? Sit down right now and write us. We will forward all replies to John N. Garner, who will probably throw them out the window.

Sport Tabloids

Portland, Ore.—Two University of Oregon football aces and a basketball player were in Emanuel hospital today being treated for injuries received in athletic competition. George Popelnjak, halfback, and Stan Kosta, hefty fullback, were both being treated by Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt for injured left knees sustained last fall during football season. Ed Kunkle, member of Billy Reinhart's basketball squad this winter, was also under medical care today.

Berkeley, Cal.—Room and board were printed on the shingle tacked up for the University of Washington today by the University of California, seeking means of retaining the Jayvees' junior varsity crew as entrants in the Washington-California regatta here on April 8. California officials promised to house and board the junior varsity eight if Washington authorities would reconsider their decision to cancel the crew's trip here. Extending their hospitality, Bear officials further promised the Jayvees a hearty welcome to remain over until the following Saturday when they are scheduled to compete in the U. C. L. A. regatta at Long Beach. Should this offer be rejected, the Bears will engage another contestant for the April 8 date, probably Sacramento junior college.

Palo Alto, Cal.—Glenn Warner, who quit the Stanford university gridiron to coach at Temple university, was en route east today to assume his new duties. He left last night with his assistant, Chuck Winterburn. He plans to start spring practice at Temple next Monday.

San Francisco.—Inspired by three victories in four attempts over the Pittsburgh Pirates, Charles Grimm leads his Chicago Cubs into lesser company today when they meet the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league. Bush or Malone may go into action for the Cubs while Henderson or Douglas was scheduled to start on the mound for the Seals.

San Jose, Cal.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, unable to hold a three-run lead established by Gus Suh's homer in the first, bowed to the Portland Beavers, champions of the Pacific Coast league, in an exhibition game here yesterday, 12 to 5. Swetonic and Woods were shelled for 15 hits by Portland's crew of bombers. On the other hand, Jacobs and Heath kept the Pirates' 11 hits well scattered save for the opening drive which was climaxed by Suh's circuit smash. Two mates were out at the time.

Los Angeles.—The New York Giants and Hollywood Stars met at Wrigley field today, with the veteran Frank Shelemback, lone spitballer in the Pacific Coast loop, scheduled to oppose Al Smith and John Salvason, Giant rookies. Shelemback whipped the Giants last year.

Woodland, Cal.—Cheered by the return of his most stubborn hold-out, Vince Sherlock, Manager Freddie Hofmann ironed out the wrinkles of his Mission Reds today in preparation for their initial bow before the home town folk tomorrow against the Chicago Cubs. Sherlock is en route to camp from his home in Buffalo, N. Y., after agreeing to salary terms. Hofmann said he planned to use him at short and waiters at second.

Sacramento, Cal.—The pitching and base running departments of the Sacramento Senators came in for intensive workouts today because of inauspicious showings against the Mission Reds last weekend. After capturing the first contest, 11 to 9, the Senators behaved badly on the paths and mound in the finale, losing 5 to 12.

Oakland, Cal.—The Oakland Onks moved over to Berkeley today for a practice tilt with the University

Beer Bill Is Passed In Final Form Today

Cullen explained that the rules permitted an hour's debate and that he had agreed to allow Rep. Blanton, dem., Texas, to make a final attack on the measure.

"Vote, vote!" chanted the chamber. Blanton, short, thick-set and plainly angry, protested. Rep. Britten, Blanton's opponent in frequent house prohibition by-bates, unexpectedly came to his aid. "Inasmuch as the gentleman never has spoken on the subject before," Britten said, "let him speak now."

The house settled down and Blanton began: "Three point two beer, 12 oz per cent by volume, is capable of producing drunkenness in a man weighing 140 pounds."

The chamber laughed and cheered. Blanton plodded on his prepared speech. "One bottle of 32 beer will bring intoxication," he said. Then he read a letter from an Illinois saloon keeper "who has moved to Arizona."

"Will the gentleman tell me where this ex-bartender's speakeasy is now?" inquired Rep. O'Connor, dem., N. Y.

"Do you have any letters from Bishop Cannon?" called another congressman.

In this atmosphere of confusion and jocularly, then, the house completed the surrender of congress to the modifications. Cullen moved the previous question and the completed bill was passed without a record vote—a chorus of acclamation with a few vigorous "noes" lost in the great shout of "aye."

Washington, March 21.—(AP)—The bureau of industrial alcohol will administer the new beer law so far as production, inspection and supervision are concerned, while the bureau of internal revenue will issue the stamps and collect the taxes, it was announced today.

Bend Twenty-Thirty Club Leads All Other Chapters

Members of the Bend Twenty-Three club have been notified by Forrest Cooper, national vice president, that the local organization leads all units of the 107 in the United States in paid up membership and attendance. The letter telling the Bend Twenty-Thirties of their high ranking was read at the club meeting last night, at the home of Paul Seavy, 315 Ogden.

According to information from chapter officials, the membership quota of the Bend club, 25, is filled. Chales Corckett is club president.

Harold Hagen was the speaker at last night's meeting.

DEER KILLERS ARRESTED

OREGON'S MOTOR LAWS ARE REVISED

$5 License Fee and Annual Permit Included

Salem, Ore.—(AP)—Automobile drivers are included among the numerous categories of Oregon citizens affected by doings of the 1933 state legislature.

A majority of some 400,000 automobile drivers in Oregon are expected to renew their drivers licenses by September 1, as result of the new $5 license law. Included in the bill was a provision that drivers pay a $1 fee biennially.

"No examinations will be enforced under the clause for the next six months," said W. H. Hammond, operators division chief, "excepting in special cases. A check will be made if the driver has a police or other derogatory record or suffers from physical or other disabilities that would impede driving ability. All persons more than 70 years old must take the state operators license examination."

"Licenses received will be good until June 30, 1935, and thereafter are to be renewed every two years. New drivers will continue to be required to take the operator examination. All persons who have taken out new or renewal licenses since July 1, 1931, will not be affected by the regulation requiring license renewals by September 1."

Another of the motor vehicle law amendments will allow persons of not less than 15 years to take out operator's licenses. The former minimum age was 16 years.

The department of state, now charged with major responsibility in motor vehicle laws, will hand over truck and bus regulation duties to the public utilities commissioner. The motor transport fee system was replaced by a ton-mile levy of three quarters mill for private carriers and one mill for commercial carriers. Regulations of the motor freight laws were some years ago handled by the public service commission, corresponding to the present public utilities commission.

Farm Relief Hint

Why don't more farmers practice the scissors hold instead of trying to win farm relief? Joe Siescher some years ago became famous with his body scissors. He perfected the hold by practicing on big sacks of oats down on the farm. . . . now, along comes Jim Browning and wins one of the current world wrestling championships with another scissors. . . . Jim practiced his scissors on barrels at his farm down in Missouri. . . . verily, the scissors these days is mightier than the chisel.

Howard Jones is well pleased with the new football rules. . . . he says the new rule about keeping the ball in 10 yards from the sidelines will be a great help to offensive football. . . . which Jones believes is what the fans want to see. . . . Only one Kentucky derby winner has an offspring entered in this year's derby. . . . Bolter-maker's daddy is Bubbling Over. . . . and, of course, also is Kunnel Bradley's haws.

The Ills of Boxing

Billy James, matchmaker at Boston's garden, offers his diagnosis of the sickness that has stricken boxing. . . . the paying public, says Billy, wants fighters who fight honestly, courageously, above any question of suspicion, and above all, with class and color. . . . matchmakers cannot provide that kind of fights because the whole world is lacking in fighting material. . . . which sounds reasonable enough.

FIRST WOMEN'S LAW FIRM

Cleveland (AP)—Formation of the first woman's law office in the state of Ohio has been announced here. Also associated with the firm will be four young women lawyers.

Prosperous Note

The nearest approach to Babe Bluth that collegiate football can offer is in the person of Wallace Wade, coach at Duke university. . . . Wade is working on a five-year contract for $100,000. . . . his fee increased from year to year over the period. . . . first year 12 grand, second year 15 grand and so on. . . . Duke is endowed endowed by a tobacco fortune. . . . and $100,000 was placed in the bank several years ago to be drawn upon only for the football coach's salary.
