MAJOR LEAGUES

New York, Apr. 21.—(UP)—Jimmy Foxes, home run king of the major leagues in 1932, has started blasting but his denial of reports that he couldn't hit four-baggers without Al Simmons ahead of him in the batting order to soften up pitchers.

Simmons was out in Chicago with the White Sox yesterday when Jimmy's 37-ounce bat drove two home runs. In addition he hit a timely single and took a walk for a perfect day at the plate.

His devastating slugging combined with Lefty Grove's four-hit pitching to give the Philadelphia Athletics an 8 to 1 win over the Washington Senators, their second victory of the season. It was the opening of the A's home season.

The Cleveland Indians celebrated their home opening by trouncing Detroit, 3 to 1, as Clint Brown registered his second victory in as many starts, limiting the Tigers to four hits. Vic Sorrell allowed only five safeties, but four Detroit errors caused his defeat.

Registering their third straight victory, the Chicago White Sox tossed out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 4, when Manager Lew Fonseca broke up a tie in the ninth with a single that scored Mule Haas.

These were the only American league games scheduled.

The New York Giants celebrated their home opening by blanking Boston's Braves 1 to 0. Carl Hubbell, screw ball ace, limited the tribe to four scattered hits, fanned 13 and issued two passes. Fred Frankhouse allowed eight hits. New York's run came in the sixth when George Davis tripled and scampered home on Hughie Critz's single.

Jim Elliott and Frank Pearce like-ys lined Brooklyn to four hits as the Phillies' Duggan, Duggan, 10 to 2. The Phils pounded Walter Clark, Ray Benge, Van Mungo and Ray Lucas for 13 safeties.

This defeat dropped the Dodgers into a third-place tie with the Chicago Cubs, who dined the Cardinals 3 to 1 at the latter's home opening in St. Louis. Pat Malone of the Cubs allowed six hits, the same number permitted by Dizzy Dean and Carleton, but the Cubs bunched their more effectively.

Cincinnati at Pittsburgh was washed out.

COAST LEAGUE

(By United Press)

Coast league hurlers are crying for a "new deal."

They are clamoring for success from the terrific pounding their opponents have been receiving since the outset of the campaign. Even the best have suffered. Yesterday 17 pitchers throughout the circuit were straddled as batsmen were pounding out a total of 113 hits. Only two starters finished.

The pace-setting Oakland Aacorns hammered three moundsmen for 16 hits to annex their third straight win from San Francisco, 10 to 5. Loose field worked hand in hand with ineffectual twirling. San Francisco's defense cracked wide open in the closing frames when the Aacorns came from behind to win. Lou McEvoy went the route for Oakland but was nicked for 12 hits.

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON.

The Sacramento Senators, overcoming an early lead, defeated Los Angeles in the last two innings, 10 to 7, thus preserving their position as runners-up to Oakland. The Senators belated attack netted three runs in the eighth and four in the ninth after their star, Flynn, had been blasted from the mound while gunning for his fifth triumph. The Angels scored seven runs in the first two frames.

Missions and Seattle battled 10 innings before the cellar-occupants pushed over a winning run in what was the most hurly-burly game of the day. The score was 16 to 15. Each club rapped out 18 hits. Five of the Reds' hits were homers, two garnered by Bud Hafee, Hafee's and Walters' circuit smashes in the eighth accounted for four runs. Cox singled in the winning Seattle marker.

Portland continued its upward climb by defeating Hollywood, 6 to 5. After holding the Stars safely in check, A. Jacobs was cuffed for four runs in the ninth but put down the upswing with the tying runner on base. Ray Jacobs, Hollywood first baseman, was the bad boy in the late attack. He homered with two bats on base.

SEEK TO CLEAR STREAMS

Portland, Ore., Apr. 21.—(UP)—State game commission representatives will meet with miners at the mining congress to be held at Medford Saturday of this week in an effort to work out a solution to rolling of streams by placer operations—protected by anglers. The game commission announced it definitely had not issued any ruling interfering with placer mining, which has enjoyed great popularity since the depression. Cooperative effort will be relied upon to settle the problem, it was asserted. The commission

The fourth democrat was Senator Gore, dem., Okla. Senators Norbeck, repn., S. D., and Couzens, repn., Mich., were the only republicans to vote for revaluing the dollar. On the first vote to strike it from the bill the count was 9 to 8.

MAY QUIT BY JUNE

Washington, Apr. 21.—(UP)—Encouraged by the recent burst of congressional speed, Speaker of the House Rainey today predicted his chamber would be in a position to adjourn the present session June 1.

FAVOR SHOALS BILL

Washington, Apr. 21.—(UP)—A special resolution virtually insuring passage of President Roosevelt's Muscle Shoals-Tennessee valley development project as submitted by the White House was reported favorably today by the house rules committee.

DRYS PLAN TO FILE

Salem, Ore., Apr. 21.—(UP)—Anti-Saloon League of Oregon today asked the secretary of state's office for a supply of candidates' blanks for Oregon's repeal convention in August. It was the second indication that the dry forces of the state would take an active part in the election of delegates. The W. C. T. U. made a similar request for blanks a few weeks ago.

ELIHU ROOT FOR REPEAL

New York, Apr. 21.—(UP)—Elihu Root, former secretary of state and 88-year-old "elder statesman" of the republican party, will be one of the 190 repeal candidates for the state prohibition convention, Republican State Chairman W. Kingsland Macy announced. The complete bi-partisan list of wet delegates includes former Governor Alfred E. Smith, slated for presiding officer, Rep. James W. Wadsworth, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

Bantam Rooster Gone, Fly Makers Suspected

Anglers who like to make their own trout flies were under suspicion in Bend today as Mrs. Clyde M. McKay continued her search for her golden bantam rooster, a tiny chicken which mysteriously disappeared from its mate, a silver seabright bantam hen, and eight diminutive chicks yesterday afternoon. Bantam roosters, it has been learned, have certain gaudy feathers greatly desired by folk who fashion their own trout flies.

The tiny rooster, so tame that it could be petted, disappeared from the McKay premises shortly after the hen had been replaced in her coop. Within five minutes after the rooster was missed, McKay launched an extensive search, but could locate neither track nor feather. Mr. and Mrs. McKay brought the bantams and the little chicks to Bend from Portland about a week ago.

DUELIST JAILED

Los Angeles, Apr. 21.—(UP)—The wrong relationship between beeswax and patents which led to an asserted duel challenge today held W. P. Blake, inventor behind jail bars. Blake was arrested when Attorney Clifford Crail charged that Blake wanted to settle on the field of honor their differences over proceedings to patent a honeycomb for bees. The complaint alleged violation of an old anti-dueling ordinance. The maximum penalty for issuing a duel challenge in Los Angeles county is one year in jail.

HEATH HEN EXTINCT

New York, Apr. 21.—(UP)—The last of the heath hens was officially given up as lost today, and the once important species of native American wild fowl was recorded as extinct. For years the heath hen of Martha's Vineyard, as the last of the birds was widely known, was watched closely by bird lovers. The More Game Birds' foundation New York announced today that she had not been seen since March.

SENATE GROUP TO MEET
Salem, Ore., Apr. 21.—(UP)—Senate interim committee will meet at Portland April 29 to confirm appointment of C. A. Brand and George McLeod to the state board of higher education.

Date was set today by the secretary of state's office, after five of the six members of the committee had been heard from.

Time for the meeting was set for 11 o'clock, but place had not yet been selected. It was probable that the meeting will be held in the office of Linn Jones in the Oregonian building. Jones is a member of the committee. The committee consists of Senators Jones, Williamson, Booth, Dunn, Duncan and Strayer.

The Hyksoos, who introduced horsas into the western part of the ancient world, often had their horses buried with them, archaeologists find.
