Six Bout Boxing Card to Begin Tonight at 9 o'Clock in Gymnasium

DELAY START HALF AN HOUR

Waterman System Will be Employed

Under the auspices of the Bend Boxing commission, of which Dr. W. G. Manning is chairman and matchmaker, a six-bout fight card, heralded as the snappiest ever lined up for a local ring, will get under way tonight at 9 o'clock in the Bend gymnasium. The card was originally scheduled for 8:30, but the start is to be delayed half an hour because of a conflict with the Elks flag day exercises.

Freeman Lubbes, it was announced today, is to referee the main event and the semi-final match and Allie Taylor will handle the preliminaries. In the main fights, Lubbes will be assisted by judges and for the first time in the history of local prize fights the Joe Waterman system of scoring, based on 11 points for each round, will be used. This system, it is said, not only provides for a fair decision, but also makes the fighters battle for advantage in every round. In former cards, many of the fighters have awaited until the final rounds to make a good impression on the officials, coasting through the preliminary rounds.

More women will be present for tonight's card than ever before in this city, it is the prediction of members of the boxing commission who are in touch with arrangements for the accommodation of various groups composed entirely of that sex who in the past have remained home while their husbands or "boy friends" have taken in the fights. A sort of revolt appears to have occurred in the feminine ranks. Although women attend fights in Portland in goodly numbers, few have been turning out for local cards in the past.

The Bend Municipal band will also be out tonight and will give a short concert downtown preliminary to the start of the six-bout card. Jack Hibbard of Klamath Falls and Ben Gedney of Madras are the main eventers and Wesley Emil of Burns and Nels Peterson as the semi-finalists. Hibbard and Gedney are booked to battle for eight rounds and Emil and Peterson will entertain for six rounds. The four round preliminaries follow:

John Shumway, Powell Butte, vs. Les Chapman, Bend; Dick Poole, Bend, vs. Buzz Brown, Klamath Falls; Stanley McGinnis, Bend, vs. Glen Stacey, Bend. The fighters are to weigh in this evening at 5 o'clock and preliminary to the fights will undergo a medical examination.

Because all the lower priced seats were taken at the May 10 fights and the ringside seats remained unsold, the admission charge has been entirely changed for tonight's card. The price of the first row ringside tier has been reduced and the second and third tier of ringsides and the first row balcony have been reserved. This leaves only about 300 general admission seats and it is expected that these will go early in the evening, shortly after the doors are opened. However, since the difference between the general admission charg and that for the secondary ringsides and first row balcony is small, it is expected that reservations will be in demand in the early evening. Seats are on sale at all the local pool halls.

Members of the boxing commission in charge of tonight's card are Dr. W. G. Manning, Dr. J. C. Vandevert, H. H. DeArmond, A Curtis and Lloyd Magill. Under the city charter, these men are appointed by the mayor. Magill was placed on the commission today. He succeeds L. R. Pickard, no longer a resident of Bend.

Sport Tabloids

New York—Jim Browning of Verona, Mo., retained his claims to the world heavyweight wrestling championship last night by winning a close decision over "Jumping Joe" Savoldi, former Notre Dame grid star, after one hour, 58 minutes and five seconds of grappling before 6,000 fans at Yankee stadium. Browning, recognized as title-holder in New York state, appeared fresher and had piled up more points when their scheduled finish match was halted because of the 11 o'clock curfew law.

Berkeley, Calif.—Plans of the Big C alumni club of the University of California to openly scout high school athletic material have been virtually nullified by the Pacific coast conference, it was unofficially reported today. The conference, meeting at Spokane, Wash., last week, voted to declare as ineligible any player recruited in a proselyting system such as the Big C club planned. "The ruling kills the paid employe," Dean Paul F. Cadman of California said. The alumni group had planned on hiring a full time secretary for the work. Cadman said the conference "showed no disposition" to listen to California's plan to bring proselyting into the open.

MAJOR LEAGUES

New York, June 13.—(LP)—The floundering Brooklyn Dodgers were down in seventh place in the National league standing again today after dropping a 7 to 4 decision to the tail-end Phillies, enabling the idle Boston Braves to take over sixth position.

Owen Carroll, who hasn't finished a game for the Dodgers since May 18, was the victim of a Philadelphia attack that netted six runs before the fourth frame was completed.

With Manager Donie Bush back on Cincinnati's bench after a month's illness, the Reds downed Chicago, 6 to 5. George Grantham's triple with the bases loaded and two out featured the Red's deciding four-run rally in the seventh. Bob Smith held the Cubs to eight hits, while Malone and Bush yielded 13.

They were the only National league games played.

Only one game was scheduled in the American circuit. Chicago dropped to fourth place when beaten, 3 to 1, by St. Louis, boosting the idle Philadelphia Athletics into third position. Bruce Campbell won the game with a homer in the eighth, driving in a runner ahead of him.

COAST LEAGUE
(By United Press)

The Oakland Acorns, original leaders of this year's coast league race, barred the path of the Hollywood Stars today, seeking to widen their lead in first place.

Barring an unexpected slump, the Stars should improve their status at the expense of Oakland, lolling along in sixth place. The series is played on Oakland's Emeryville lot.

Sacramento's position was less promising. The Senators, crowding Hollywood's heels, are meeting the Missions who unseated Portland from leadership last week. The series opens tonight at Sacramento.

Portland hoped to recoup its fortunes today as it launched a series against the Angels at Los Angeles. The Angels who have been moving at a slower gait the past few weeks are due for an early comeback which may get under way this week.

For the second time in two weeks, the cellar position was at stake with San Francisco and Seattle shifting the scene of hostilities to the Seals' home field. San Francisco was holding the lowly spot by a two-game margin.

WRESTLING RESULTS

At New York—Ray Steele, California, threw Bull Komar, Lithuania, Tom Alley, Australia, threw Tony Felice, Italy; George Zaharatas, Colorado, threw Joe Devito, St. Louis.

At Portland, Ore.—Tesura Higami, Japanese ju jitsu wrestler, beat Bulldog Jackson, Klamath Falls, two falls out of three. Otis Clingman, Oklahoma City, threw Gorilla Pogi, Argentina.

Bend Man Spots And Checks First Blaze

To Don H. Peoples, Bend Chamber of Commerce secretary, goes the honor of spotting and controlling the first fire reported from Deschutes national forest lands this season.

Late yesterday, Peoples, while driving over The Dalles-California highway, sighted a fire burning in forest debris near Lava butte. It was only a 2 by 15 foot fire, but it had possibilities. Peoples carefully trenched the blaze, then reported to national forest officials.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a cigaret discarded by a passing motorist. Forest officials are making an investigation.

TAX LEVIES REDUCED

Salem, Ore.—Municipal taxes in Oregon for 1933 show a decrease of but 4½ per cent from their peak, reports the state tax commission.

Public school taxes are down 14 per cent, and higher education levies 38 per cent. County taxes for road construction have been cut 60 per cent, and income of the state highway commission 20 per cent by the changes in automobile license laws.

County governments show little change, due principally to the large amount of relief work carried on by the counties.

Hooks and Slides

by William Braucher

To Tommy Bridges

Three times in two years Tommy Bridges has stood on the threshold of baseball's fame, only one hit robbing him of the privilege of joining his fellows who have pitched no-hit, no-run games.

But he needn't feel so bad about it, after all. Old Grover Alexander pitched four one-hit games in the season of 1915. If Grover didn't worry about it (and you can bet all the bicycles in California that he didn't), Bridges needn't take it hard.

Addie Joss, the old Cleveland fireballer, shared Tommy's experience. Three times during the 1907 season he pitched one-hit games, twice against Detroit, once against New York.

A Game Guy

But Bridges is not the sort who needs advice to help him bear up under the strain. He is not the kind of lad to become discouraged.

In his one-hit game of last August, two were out in the ninth when Walter Johnson sent Dave Harris up to pinch hit for the Washington pitcher. It was Harris' single that spoiled the game.

Bridges did not grumble. In the locker room afterward he said:

"Sure I was disappointed, but I didn't want a no-hit game if I could not honestly earn it. Suppose Harris had whiffed on purpose, just for the sake of giving me the record. What satisfaction would I get out of that?

"What We're Paid For"

"When Johnson sent up a pinch-hitter, he meant for him to hit. Harris was drawing his salary for hitting just as I was drawing mine to keep him from hitting, which I did not do. He cracked down on a fast inside ball, one that I expected he would let go by.

"After all, there's a lot of luck in a no-hit game. Everything has to break just right."

Game Board to Back Anti-Pollution Plans

Portland, Or., June 13.—(LP)—The state game commission will take an active part in the fight to secure sewage disposal plants for Portland and Willamette valley towns with federal aid, it was decided at a meeting of the commission Monday afternoon.

A delegation of the Portland anti-pollution council, headed by W. T. Lambert, impressed the commission with the fact that it has for years advocated measures against stream pollution, and the fact that action must be taken early if R. F. C. or other federal funds are to be obtained.

The commission agreed to charge 50 cents for annual renewals of free licenses and for issuance of deer tags to holders of such licenses.

Funds of the commission are running about $150,000 a year short of the high in 1929, it was reported and the budget for the coming year was set on a basis of $300,000.

Matt L. Ryckman, superintendent of hatcheries, reported that 1,610,000 rainbow trout eggs had been taken at the Crane prairie station. Egg taking is just starting at Diamond and Paulina lakes where it is expected that 10,000,000 eggs will be taken.

The commission will again exchange eastern brook trout eggs with California for loch leven trout eggs. The loch levens will be planted in streams and lakes where other trout do not flourish.

The commission voted to recommend to the state police that Charles A. Lockwood be appointed game warden at Diamond lake.

vent advertising of the entire $225,000,000 in federal highway forest funds for bids at once.

Lynch said he had no information of Dever's assertion that $11,792,000 would be allocated Oregon, of which $4,000,000 would go on forest roads. Lynch said that if $4,000,000 were allocated for that purpose, he believed it would be stretched over a period of several years.

An allotment of $6,112,000 would be available for state highways and $1,280,000 would go into national parks, Devers' telegram said. The latter would go to Crater Lake national park. An additional $400,000 would be spent on roads which traverse public lands, Devers said.

Flood dangers on the upper Columbia river highway were discussed but immediate cessation of traffic was not anticipated.

The commission was informed by engineers that the Mount Hood loop highway would be opened to traffic by next Saturday and that the McKenzie pass highway would be cleared of snow by June 26.

In addition to allocating the sum of $585,000, the conference considered a million dollar program should funds be available. At the present time there is confusion in the minds of the local forest and public road officials. Regional Forester Buck said his advices indicated that the total amount for forest highways apportioned to Oregon would be in the neighborhood of one million dollars and not $4,000,000 as had been reported by Devers.

To make up the one million dollar program the following allotment was tentatively made:

Tiller-Trail, $50,000; Pendleton-John Day, $60,000; Diamond lake, $140,000; Willamette, $115,000; Canyon City-Burns, $25,000.

PASTURE LAND BURNED OVER

Kennewick, Wash., June 13.—(LP)—One thousand acres of pasture land were burned over along the Kennewick-Umatilla highway 22 miles south of here last night. A crew from here extinguished the blaze, thought to have been set by a carelessly thrown cigarette.

A new method of timber bridge construction, which provides for stronger wood joints, is expected to save much money.

COLLINGS MURDER CASE IS REOPENED

Burglary Suspect Accused by Victim's Widow

Bridgeport, Conn., June 13.—(LP)—The suddenly revived Penguin murder case hinged today on Mrs. Lillian Collins' conviction that an elderly burglar suspect resembled the older of two pirates who slugged and trussed her husband and threw him overboard from their cabin cruiser in Long Island sound almost two years ago.

The unexpected development in the long dormant case brought Suffolk county, Long Island, officials hurrying here with all data compiled in the extended investigation of the bizarre slaying of Benjamin P. Collins, young engineer, and the subsequent abduction of his wife.

District Attorney Barron Hill of Suffolk, in whose jurisdiction the crime occurred, planned to question Mrs. Collins today on her assertion that Frank Dreger, 61, police character, looked like one of the pirates. He eliminated Dreger's companion, Joseph Guarino, 30, from all connection with the case, though a young man as well as an older one was involved in the Collings case.

Dreger and Guarino were picked up in an investigation of several burglaries of Fairfield county estates. Acting on a hunch police asked Mrs. Collings to view the pair, and she said Dreger resembled one of the slayers.

Dreger denied he was in Long Island in the fall of 1931 when Collings was killed. District Attorney Hill said he had asked New York police to check his record.

A. R. MISHLER RELEASED

On motion of District Attorney Bert Boylan, Asa R. Mishler, arrested last week on a charge of defacing brands on sheep, was released from custody when he appeared before Justice H. T. Merritt today. The motion was made after Boylan conferred with George Hobbs, who preferred the charge, and state police officers.
