

Forty Two Tennis Players Competing In Ladder Tournament Here

SIXTEEN IN GIRLS' LIST

Twelve in Seniors' and 14 in Juniors'

End of the second week of play finds 42 players entered in the Bend Hardware company's annual ladder tennis tournament, conducted this year in three divisions. Sixteen players are entered in the women's and girls' division, 12 are playing in the senior division and 14 in the junior group. The women's division, added for the first time this year, is proving the most popular department of the tournament. The tournament, to close in August, is still open to contestants, but the newcomer must enter by challenging players on the bottom rung.

Geneva Burns retained the leadership of the women's division this morning, with Agnes Jensen in second place and May Metke in third place. In the division for junior boys, Wilfred Kissler is in the lead today. Robert McFadyen is in second place and Gerald Olson holds third place.

Lawrence Gales leads the seniors and William Van Allen has crawled up to second place, with Harry Miller third.

Sport Tabloids

Southampton, England — The United States Ryder cup golf team arrived aboard the Aquitania, looking fit after six days at sea. Walter Hagen, leader of the invading forces, branded as "all rubbish" reports that differences had arisen between Gene Sarazen and himself. Sarazen is the defending champion of the British open to be played next month.

COAST LEAGUE

Sacramento, Hollywood and Portland got off to a good start in their new opening series in the Pacific Coast league yesterday. By defeating Oakland, 5 to 1, the Senators continued to hold their three-game margin on first place. Hollywood and Portland, tied for second place, defeated Los Angeles and Seattle, 7 to 6, and 7 to 4, respectively.

Flynn whitewashed the Oaks for eight innings, relenting long enough in the ninth for the visitors to score its only run. He held the Oaks to seven hits, while his teammates made nine off Glen Gabler. The Oaks were miserable in the field, being credited with four errors.

Junk Walters did a right-about-face when he hurled Portland to victory. He was released recently by Seattle and picked up by Portland. He was touched for 12 hits, but managed to keep them scattered, while the Ducks made their 11 count.

The Missions and San Francisco engaged in the best played game in the league, Jimmy Zinn holding the Reds to three hits, and no runs. A double by Funk and a triple by Demaggio in the 8th gave the Seals a 1 to 0 victory.

MAJOR LEAGUES

New York, June 21.—(UP)—Detroit dropped out of a fifth-place tie with Philadelphia by losing a 9 to 4 decision to the Athletics. Boston gained on Detroit by downing Cleveland, 9 to 5, after outbitting the Indians 14 to 13. Washington at St. Louis was played in a doubleheader Sunday.

Unimpressed by two shutout defeats, Chicago turned on the New York Giants and trounced the National league leaders, 5 to 3, collecting 12 hits off three pitchers, including Woody English's homer.

St. Louis gained on the Giants by crushing Brooklyn, 15 to 3, hammering three hurlers for 17 hits, including homers by Joe Medwick and Leo Durocher during an eight-run spurt in the eighth.

Pittsburgh kept pace with St. Louis by beating Boston, 6 to 2, and the Phillies took both ends of a twirl bill from Cincinnati, 7 to 4, and 7 to 3. Johnny Jackson from the University of Pennsylvania made his major league debut in the opener by holding the Reds to eight hits.

SPORT PARADE

By Henry McEmore
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, June 21.—(UP)—By their words ye shall know them: Sam Hardy (former non-playing captain of the American Davis cup team): Only a stomach ache can prevent the Americans from winning the cup from France.

(Comment): Very true, but what a swell stomach ache giver this Cochet has been in the past. Old and slipping though he is, Vines and Co. is likely to find him still a combination of Thanksgiving dinner and crabapples.

Gene Sarazen (when asked how much money he had made out of his golfing double slam): I'm still looking for the quarter of a million my press agent promised me. I married at his imagination. "Let's soak Sarazen" has been the slogan of innkeepers and promoters. They have.

Jack Dempsey (speaking of the Baer-Schmeling fight): It was a tremendous and gratifying success. But I didn't make a penny.

(Comment): It was a beautiful wedding but the bride didn't show up.

Horton Smith (who, when asked by a Hollywood actress who knew the golfer neither smoked nor drank, if he had any vices): Yes, I miss too many short putts.

(Comment): In other words, Horton is wicked because he's not in his cups enough.

Enid Wilson (three times winner of the British women's golf championship): I am through. I am sick and tired of golf. I want to go to a far-off place where there isn't any kind of a course. Perhaps I'll go to the Sahara desert.

(Comment): The Sahara, with all that sand, would make most golfers uncomfortable, reminding them, as it would, of the many hours they'd spent in the traps. Besides, Enid's likely to run into African golf in the Sahara.

Jack Curley (wrestling promoter): No one will ever know the tortures I suffer at a wrestling watch waiting to see who'll win.

(Comment): What's the matter, Jack? Won't they let you in at the rehearsals?

Primo Carnera (after filing a bankruptcy petition): I'm so happy. Now I have no financial worries.

(Comment): Neither has your former manager, Leon Sec.

George Gibson (speaking of the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield before the start of the season): It's the greatest outfield in baseball.

(Comment): And now the boys are calling it the "sunken garden."

13 From Deschutes At O. S. C. Short Course

Oregon State College, Corvallis, June 21.—Thirteen members of the 41 club foot Deschutes county, known as the "Lucky 13" are among the 550 club boys and girls and 40 leaders completing a busy two weeks junior summer session here on this campus. Though the total enrollment is slightly lower than usual this year for obvious reasons, the program of work and play is better than usual—following the club motto of "always making the best better."

For nearly two weeks now the delegates from Deschutes county have been following a regular morning schedule of class work, going in sections from building to building on the campus, getting the latest instruction from the regular college faculty members on a score of subjects ranging from the fundamentals of livestock and crop management for the boys and homemaking for the girls, to such interesting specialties as photography, radio, fire prevention, journalism and music for all of them.

Once a day special speakers appear before the general assemblage, then there is an afternoon of sports and various kinds of recreation, followed by educational and entertaining movies or other programs in the evening. The group has a regularly organized system of self-government with Stonewall Jackson of Canby heading the boys' council and Alice Welbes of Gresham the girls' State officials of the club work, which is part of the Oregon extension service, are being assisted in conducting the school by many county extension and volunteer leaders. The session will end Saturday, June 24.

Those attending the session from Deschutes county are Miss Elizabeth Vance, home demonstration agent, leader of the group, and Rose Allen, Joan Chamberlin, Marie Anderson, Geneva Burns, Aurabelle Swinford, Helen Varco, Alice Nelson, Margaret Nelson, Lee Allen and George Murphy, all of Bend; and Evelyn Zumwalt, Helen Sorenson and Jean Edgington, Sisters.

McKenzie Pass Stages Are to Start July First

Regular daily stage service between Bend, Redmond and Eugene by the McKenzie pass route will be resumed on July 1, providing the mountain road is in condition, according to an announcement made today by Myrtle Hoover, manager of the Mt. Hood stages. Buses will leave Bend at 7 a. m., and Redmond at 7:35 a. m., arriving at Eugene at 11:20 a. m., connecting north and south with the Greyhound lines to all Willamette valley and California points.

Stages will leave Eugene for Central Oregon at 12:30 and will arrive in Bend at 4:30 p. m. Bus fares between the two cities are to be lower than last year, Hoover explains, and a circle tour trip is offered to Portland via Eugene, returning by the Wapinitia. Any number of stopovers will be permitted.

Hoover also announced that reduced motor bus fares from all Central Oregon points to California cities were recently made effective by an agreement between the Pacific Greyhound lines and the Mt. Hood stages, operating through Central Oregon to Klamath Falls.

New schedules have been arranged to provide through service, and it is now possible to leave Bend at 1:45 p. m. and reach San Francisco at 8 o'clock the next morning and Los Angeles at 8 o'clock that day.

H. CHANDLER EGAN WILL DEFEND TITLE

Northwest Golf Play Set For Next Week

Victoria, B. C., June 21.—(UP)—Added zest to the 25th annual Pacific northwest golf championship next week came today with word that H. Chandler Egan, defending champion of Medford, Ore., will bid for his sixth title over the links of the Victoria Golf club at Oak Bay.

Egan indicated that he had little chance to practice owing to his attention to his business but added: "I am going up to Victoria simply because I believe the defending champion ought to play, if possible."

The brilliant stylist, former national amateur champion, won his fifth title last year at Alderwood Country club in Portland.

About 100 entries are expected in the men's division and about 20 women will compete for the title held by Mrs. Vera Hutchings of Vancouver, B. C.

The par 69 Oak Bay course is only 5700 yards long but it is seldom beaten in champion medal rounds due to severe natural hazards and stiff winds that make the one shot hole particularly difficult.

Outstanding contenders for Egan's title will include Ken Black, Vancouver; Frank Dolp, Portland, winner of the title in 1929 and 1931; Johnnie Shields, Scotty Campbell, Lee Steil and Ralph Whaley, all of Seattle; Dr. O. F. Willing and Rodie Wilhelm, Portland veterans and former title holders; Dixie Flieger, Victoria; Johnnie Robbins, Vim Dolp and Joe Brown, and Dr. Cliff Baker of Portland, and Chuck Hunter of Tacoma.

Among contenders in the women's division will be Mrs. Hutchings, Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Victoria; Miss Jean Plagemann, Portland; Mrs. W. A. Kirkman of Seattle and Miss Marion McDougall, Portland.

County is "Mule Skinner"
Fort Worth, Tex.—(UP)—Commissioner Earl Mitchell believes Tarrant county is a "mule skinner", and is proud of it. Ten years ago the county bought a mule for $100. The animal was sold recently for $45. Figured on an estimate of the mule's worth to the county at 25 cents a day, Mitchell believes the county came out with a $650 advantage.

Shevlin-Hixon Team Conquers 20-30 Club

The Shevlin-Hixon kittenball team defeated the Twenty-Thirty club team 19 to 13 yesterday evening in the opening game of the new Harmon playfield schedule, made out for eight squads. Although a number of games have been played in the past week, members of the kittenball league committee, Byron Benson, Lyle Fletcher and M. A. Cochran, have decided that percentage standings will be figured only on games starting this week. The schedule will last until August and the team highest in the percentage column will be conceded winner of the kittenball league championship.

In defeating the Twenty-Thirty clubmen, the mill nine used the following players: Peterson, pitcher; Hutstader, Barber, Foss, St. Onge, Shiek, Hocker, Sholes, Dempsey and Hagen. The Twenty-Thirty lineup: Ballantyne, pitcher; Meagher, Sherwood, Nooe, Kelly, Fletcher, Rae, Hagen, Nettleton, Ketchum and Foley.

The following games will be played this week:
June 21: Harmon Eastsiders vs Grocers.
June 22: Harmon Westsiders vs Leedys.
June 23: Lions vs Brooks-Scanlon.

The Warning
The downfall of the French tennis dynasty, which has ruled since the star of Big Bill Tilden, however, seems assured this year. This, however, is not predicted entirely on the recent defeat of Henri Cochet by Jack Crawford, the rising Australian. For it happens that Jack Crawford is a pretty good sort of tennis player in his own right.

Five years ago George Lott gave me some fill-in on Crawford, whose 8-6, 6-1, 6-3 victory over Old Master Cochet, was hailed as something of an upset.

"Watch Jack Crawford," said Lott. "Some of us were surprised when he beat Jean Borotra so decisively the other day (that was in 1928), but to my mind he is the coming star of the world. I had several matches against him, and must say that he impressed me strongly."

"I Don't Care"
"He's a despicable sort. Has an attitude of complete indifference as to whether he wins or loses. This tends to make his opponents careless. Mind you, it's not his intention to fool you."

North Line Officials Visit Central Oregon

On his way north, Arthur Curtis James, New York capitalist who is said to be the largest holder of railroad stocks in the United States, will pass through Bend late this evening or tonight on a special Great Northern train bearing officials of the north line, included in the party will be W. P. Kenney, Great Northern president; C. O. Jenks, operating vice president of the Great Northern, and J. H. O'Neill, general manager of the north line in the northwest.

The Great Northern officials went south in their special train yesterday to meet James at Bieber, junction of the Great Northern and the Western Pacific. James has been in San Francisco.

The north line party was accompanied to Bend by G. E. Votaw, S. P. & S. superintendent. He spent yesterday and today in Bend, conferring with railroad people in Bend and visiting local business men.

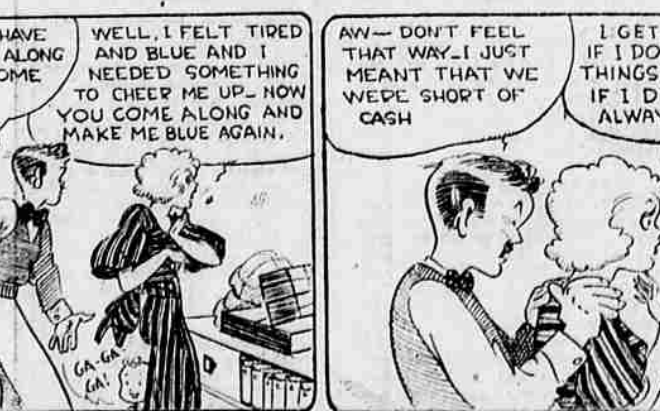

Tea Much Heat

Well, that was five years ago, and Crawford was only 20 then. Last December when Ellsworth Vines toured Australia and way points, he stopped off at Melbourne to contest for the championship of Victoria. In the finals he bumped up against this same Crawford, and took it on the chin, 1-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. Reports from the Antipodes said the intense heat affected Vines' play. Maybe it was hot in Paris, too, the other day when Crawford crushed Cochet. Then again maybe the heat has nothing to do with the case.
