

STOCKS RISE, CLOSING FIRM

Oil Shares Attain New High Mark

Major Business Indices Go Up Sharply; Grain Prices Soar

New York, June 21.—(AP)—Stocks advanced late today and closed firm with oils in active demand at new highs for the year, sugars up sharply, and the main body of stocks quiet but steady.

A late rally followed word from London the dollar would be pegged around $4.40 for the pound. The dollar, however, remained steady in terms of foreign currencies, slightly higher in relation to the pound and franc and off a small amount in terms of others.

Traders paid more attention to business conditions and to crop prospects than to dollar news. Higher prices for gasoline aided the oil division. Major business indices were up sharply. Steel operations hit 50 per cent of capacity for the first time in more than 2 years. Electricity output rose 9.5 per cent above a year ago.

Wheat at Chicago closed with gains of 2 to 2½ cents a bushel; corn up 1½ to 2 cents; oats up 1½ to 1¾; rye up 1¼ to 2¼; and barley up 2¼ to 2½. Reports from the northwest indicated a sharp cut in the spring wheat crop, probably to the smallest since 1894.

Oil shares monopolized the tickers during late trading. Gains ranged to more than 3 points. New highs included Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California, Atlantic Refining, Amerasia, Consolidated, Continental, Texas Corporation, Socoxy Vacuum, Royal Dutch, Ohio Oil, Mid-continent, General Asphalt, Houston and Barnsdall.

Sugar issues gains ranged to more than 2 points. South Porto Rico rose to a new high for the year.

Textile issues advanced sharply. Featured by Celanese which was carried up 3 points to a new 1933 high. Harvester shares were in demand on the rise in grains. Deere & Co., preferred made a new high. Case at one time was up more than 5 points and others making corresponding gains. Beach-Nut made a new high in the packing group. Air Reduction jumped more than 4 points to feature the chemical division.

Alcohol issues were bid up sharply with National Distillers at a new top. They eased later on profit-taking. Early demand for the "wet" group was based on addition of three states to the group favoring repeal.

Rails had a spell of strength in the early afternoon. The gains were not held in all the issues and they turned quiet before the close. Leaders, however, moved higher on the day. Utilities quieted down but their prices held well. Detroit Edison on a few sales moved up 3 points to equal its high for the year. Johns Manville and other construction stocks continued to meet demand on improved building statistics and anticipation of gains from government activity in construction projects.

Rubber issues firmed up while automobile equipment quieted down. Motor issues were steady around the previous close. Gold miners moved irregularly throughout the day. Steels were firm all day on the continued gains in the industry. Steel common closed at 56½, up ½ for the day. It crossed 57 in the early dealings. Bethlehem closed at 35¼, up ½ point.

Sales totaled 3,890,000 shares, the smallest for a five hour session since May 23. The total yesterday was reported by the stock exchange at 5,480,000 shares.

Down-Jones preliminary averages: Industrial, 95.98, up 0.75; railroad 44.39, up 0.17; utility 34.90, up 0.02.

WALLACE RULES FOOD PRODUCERS

Secretary of Agriculture One of Dictators

By Frederick C. Othman
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has more influence upon food production than any other man in the history of the world.

Under President Roosevelt's omnibus prescription for agriculture, all Wallace virtually is dictator of all major marketing and planting operations of the American farmer.

His power enables him to fix prices indirectly through processing taxes, to limit production and hence to make his influence felt throughout the world.

So busy is the agriculture department under Wallace that it will have no time for publication of such famous brochures as "The Love Life of a Bull Frog" during his tenure.

The secretary is a typical mid-westerner from Des Moines—jovial, kindly and still slightly awed by the magnificence of official Washington.

His hair usually is a little rumpled and his coat a little wrinkled as he holds conference after conference with farm leaders, millers, textile manufacturers, cotton planters, departmental experts and members of the president's "brain trust."

He has announced forthcoming processing taxes on wheat and cotton. He has seen prices of both commodities soar upward—and has heard critics call his program "shotgun patent medicine."

Nothing bothers the secretary. He is a real farmer himself. He also is a real farm leader. On his 400-acre farm in Folk county, Ia., where he develops hybrid corn, and demonstrates his ability as a man of the soil. His magazine, Wallace's Farmer, reveals his personal influence out where the tall corn grows.

The secretary likes to play badminton, a game which is a mystery to most Americans. He likes to attend the Aristotelian theories, to attend services in the Episcopal church and to work problems in calculus for amusement's sake.

He once disappeared from a picnic on his farm to be discovered later trying to calculate the course of a planet by advanced mathematics.

He has a flair for words. He can talk in the language of a backwoodsman or a college professor. He writes in a pithy style, as for example:

"Show corn plants little too much with beauty and too little with utility. Whether corn has smooth or rough kernels means very little more than the presence or the absence of dimples on a pretty girl."

Wallace and his wife live in the exclusive Wardman Park hotel where can look upon greensward as rolling as those in their native Iowa.

Wallace walks to work and finally has become familiar with the crannies of the White House. After his first cabinet meeting with Roosevelt he had to ask a policeman apologetically which door led outside.

erally shown. Weather conditions are not only against quality but likewise retard demand somewhat. The local co-ops continue their nominal quotations at the extreme point but this price is seldom confirmed in the trade. Most private firms are now quoting 25 under what the Co-ops are nominally naming.

There was practically no change in the butter market situation for the day. Demand was sufficient to clean up out-state offerings as well as local churning.

There has been a complete reversal of demand for spring chickens with the small stuff in best call. This does not include the skin and bone offerings. Here are unchanged.

All through the potato trade, new and old, there is an improved trend. In all parts of the country there has been an awakening in old potatoes which are very scarce.

Some mills were beginning to fall behind in deliveries, Iron Age said. Increases in the industry include: Pittsburgh from 35 to 40 per cent; Chicago from 46 to 50 per cent; Buffalo from 36 to 48 per cent; The Valleys from 50 to 55 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania from 23 to 26 per cent; Cleveland-Lorain from 63 to 67 per cent.
