

FARM ISSUES LOOM IN 1939

Officials Give Study to Farmers' Votes

Wallace Denies Charges of Dictatorship of AAA Can Be Proved

Washington, Dec. 21 (AP)—Administration farm leaders are studying recent agricultural developments in preparation for battles in congress and among farmers over the new deal's crop control program.

Uncertainty over the farm program caused three factors, unfavorable to it, to stand out:

1. Republicans and anti-administration democrats in congress have increased a large portion of the November election gains by those groups being in the midwest farm belt.
2. Huge surpluses of wheat and corn have forced the agriculture department to set the wheat acreage at 44 million below this year's harvesting and maintain proposed corn acreage at the low figure which precipitated a "corn revolt" in the midwest last spring.
3. Referenda among cotton, tobacco and rice growers, while showing a distinct majority in favor of the AAA program, also reflect a decided shift in sentiment away from the thumping approval voted in 1937.

On the other hand, administration supporters contend at least two factors are in their favor:

1. Opposition sentiment in congress has not crystallized sufficiently for new laws to agree on any one plan for amending the AAA or on a substitute program.
2. Cotton farmers, speaking for 2,300,000 growers overwhelmingly endorsed the marketing control program in 1938.

Wallace repeatedly has urged reimbursement of processing taxes to provide a continuing source of revenue for the farm act. A change in the system of determining marketing quotas for tobacco also is thought likely. Beyond that, indications have pointed to the conclusion that the administration will stand pat on the act with a few minor administrative amendments.

Wallace contended the combined results of the rice, tobacco and cotton referenda, in which he said 76.5 per cent of the 1,587,332 producers voted for marketing restrictions, have "proved the absurdity of the charges that the AAA of 1938 imposes a dictatorship upon the farmers."

In the middle west wheat area, the administration must tackle an almost unprecedented acreage reduction program. Nearly 931,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced this year on 70,221,000 acres. This production, coupled with a huge crop last year, has given the country a record wheat surplus.

To counter-balance this, the department announced, it will attempt to reduce acreage in 1939 to 55,000,000.

Corn production was 2,542,238,000 bushels this year, grown on 91,792,000 acres. This was an acreage decline of about 1,000,000. The total crop was very near the level at which a marketing quota referendum would have been required.

NO TAX ON BENEFITS

Salem, Or., Dec. 21 (AP)—The state will levy no income taxes against benefits derived from unemployment compensation, Assistant Attorney Ralph R. Bailey said today.

In the opinion of this office a reasonable interpretation of the income tax law results in the conclusion that benefits under the unemployment act is not taxable to the recipients," Bailey said. He is attached to the tax commission as its legal advisor.

RATS CROWD OUT MURALS

Pasadena, Cal. (AP)—This city's city hall council chamber will not have a set of $27,000 mural paintings by a famous Boston artist. Director Albert J. Stewart told the council he did not believe the public would approve of the purchase of murals as long as the council kept telling the taxpayers it did not have enough money to provide for rat extermination.

Heart Diseases are the Leading Cause of Death in the United States, but not for Indians—tuberculosis is their most deadly disease.

BRITAIN TAKES OPTION ON NEW FLYING MACHINE

London (AP)—The British air ministry has taken an option on a new type helicopter, capable of rising vertically from the ground carrying a load equal to a normal machine of the same horsepower, invented by Oskar von Asboth, a Hungarian, and wartime director of the Austrian air research station.

Von Asboth has succeeded, after 20 years of research, in finding the secret of how to make a helicopter rise when heavily loaded. His invention will revolutionize travel, industry and war, it is said.

It means that helicopters carrying 20 passengers will be able to start out from the heart of a great city from miniature airports. It will make it possible for factories to dispatch freight from their rooftops. In wartime the new machines could carry observers, photographers, and sound locating apparatus. They could flash warnings of the approach of raiders, and be useful in mapping out enemy territory.

HORSE FLY GROWS SINISTER

Berkeley, Cal. (AP)—The ordinary horsefly may be responsible for the spread of infantile paralysis, according to the latest research work of Dr. L. L. Lumsden, director of the U. S. public health service at New Orleans, who is now lecturing at the Berkeley campus.

CARNEGIE TECH READY FOR TCU

Passing Attack Not to Be Overlooked

By Bernard J. Nilles
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Pittsburgh, Dec. 21 (AP)—Carnegie Tech hopes to give Texas Christian a dose of its own medicine—forward passing—when the two teams meet in the New Orleans Sugar bowl game.

In all the talk about Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian's demon passer, the ability of Tech to throw the ball has been largely overlooked. The Tartans have a strong running attack, but their passing game is even more effective.

It was forward passing that enabled Carnegie Tech to defeat Pittsburgh. Tech's first two scores in that game were made on passes.

The running attack is built around halfbacks George Muha, sophomore, and Merlyn Coddit, junior. Muha is the more powerful runner of the two, but Coddit is a greater scoring threat because he is trickier once he gets into the open.

Ray Carnely, quarterback, directs the team, runs interference, punts, kicks for points after touchdowns and passes. He throws long passes and Condit helps him.

Coach Bill Keen, who learned football under Jock Sutherland of Pitt, goes in for a more open offense than Pitt uses. He never hesitates to gamble for a touchdown. On offense he uses an unbalanced line with a single wing most of the time, but occasionally the team drops into a double wing formation.

Tech played an eight-game schedule in 1938, winning seven and losing a 7-0 decision to Notre Dame after the famous Getchell third down incident.

Roseburg Man To Run Camp Sherman Resort

Sisters, Dec. 21 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Rod Foster have traded their store, post office and camp cabins at Camp Sherman on the Metolius river to Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Johnson of Roseburg for a three story hotel containing seven apartments on the third floor, 21 rooms on the second floor and a coffee shop and bus terminal on the ground floor. The deal was completed last week and Foster is going to Roseburg this week to take possession. Mrs. Foster will remain here for a short time until all arrangements concerning the post office can be completed. Johnson will be here soon to take over the store, but Mrs. Johnson will remain in Roseburg until school is out as they have a small daughter in school.

Many friends of the Rod Fosters met at the Heising resort on the Metolius Saturday to tender them a farewell party. Sisters folks attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Sorensen, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zumwalt, Mrs. Nellie Miller and Mrs. Fred Bembrey and daughter Marie.

Retires at Age 72 TO GO TO SCHOOL

Cleveland, Ohio (AP)—William E. Street, 72-year-old bookkeeper who hates to leave things unfinished, wants to go back to school to finish his education.

"I don't know what good it would do me," he said. "But I want to do it, anyway."

Street, who had to quit his studies while in his third year at Western Reserve university in 1889, wants to get back to his textbooks, but he's been through plenty of ledger-books in 50 years.

He will retire January 1, 1939, after 50 years' work for what now is the National Sew and Manufacturing Co. He has wished all that time that he could have finished school.

Street and his wife, Josephine, moved recently to a place nearer his home, because they had lived for the past 10 years in a little white cottage in suburban Rocky River.

The 30-mile street-car ride to work proved too tiring. During summer days, in those years, Mrs. Street used to cross Rocky river in a row boat every afternoon to greet him.

Street and his wife like to recall old times they have enjoyed together. They usually spend their evenings at home, reading to each other or singing. Mrs. Street, the daughter of Cleveland's first piano tuner, plays the piano for these vocal sessions.

Street's mother died when he was 10, and he lived for several years thereafter with his grandparents. He wanted an education, but when he was 15, his grandfather, a self-made wealthy man, decided it was time he went to work and faced the world.

Young Street got $5 as a starter from his grandfather. He went to work with what now is the Erie railroad, near Gallon, Ohio, and learned telegraphy. At 16, he had saved enough money to enter business college. He came to Cleveland.

The name Africa was first used to describe the region of Carthage and Tunisia, then a Roman province.

KBND Program Heard In Auto at Mt. Hood

Broadcasts from radio station KBND were picked up at Government camp, on the snow covered southern slope of Mount Hood, yesterday by W. C. Tyson as he drove toward Bend from Portland. Reception on the car radio was excellent all the way to Bend from Mount Hood, Tyson said. He kept his radio tuned to the Bend station the entire distance.

Tyson's reception of KBND at Mount Hood indicates that the Bend station reaches well up into communities of southern Wasco county.

Back from a trip to Prineville, J. H. Laemis reported today he had been told by residents of Redmond and the Crook county town that reception in those towns is fine. R. H. Jonas, publisher of the Central Oregonian, wrote here today to say that
