

Freddie Hutchinson Called Back to Detroit for Another Chance

Seattle Youth Coming Back Showing at Toledo Wins New Berth

Detroit, July 21 (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, the $100,000 pitcher the Detroit Tigers purchased from Seattle, was recalled from Toledo of the American association today, Walter J. Briggs, Jr., vice-president of the Detroit ball club, announced.

George "Slicker" Coffman will be optioned to Toledo to make room for Hutchinson, Briggs said.

"We're going to bring the kid back and give him a starting pitcher's berth on the team," Briggs said. "He's been off all right with Toledo and we want to give him a chance to make good in the big time."

Briggs said Hutch probably would be started every four or five days.

Up to July 12, Hutchinson had won nine and lost eight for the last-place Toledo Indians.

Elks Will Go To Coast Sunday Face Strong Toledo in League Game

The Bend Elks will travel to the coast Sunday to meet the strong Toledo team in the third game of the second half of the Oregon State league. The Elks have been in a winning streak, starting with the four game series during the Fourth of July celebration, and have run their string to seven games, two league contests and five exhibitions. But Toledo is a different story. Manager Clyde Stokoe says for Toledo has a stronger team than any the Elks have faced, one that is out for the State league pennant.

Many of the players on last year's Edwards Furniture team, winner of the state semi-pro tournament, are on the Toledo team this year. For instance, on the mound against Bend Toledo can start Herb Lahti, former major leaguer; Orville Richardson, George Dicky or Huffman, a left hander. On the receiving end will be Leavick, Oregon State player. At first is Hiltcher, a new man from California whose brother is pitching for the Portland Beavers in the Coast league. Monroe Dean plays at second and Riley Richards at short, with Roberts at third. In the outfield are Den Sauer, Sam Hoover and Clyde Heller. The Elks at present are badly handicapped by injuries. Both Hawkins and Kremers, catchers, are ailing. Jim Farmer, pitcher, is recovering from an attack of blood poisoning. Lyle Peterson, right fielder, is on the hospital list with a very badly sprained ankle and will not be out by Sunday. Jack Gordon, third baseman, has injuries to his hands that hardly permit him to hold a bat. But, said Stokoe, cheerfully, the rest of the Elks are in good condition.

Stokoe plans to take Lyle Turpin, Bob Houtchins and Jim Farmer to Toledo as his pitching staff. Tom Hawkins will make the trip and Kremers may also go, although that is not certain. In the infield will be Bill Hatch, Harlow Burton, Martin Zilmer and Gordon. All four of these boys have been robbing opponents of hits in the last seven games. In the outfield will be Joe Decker, Merle Neel and George Walker, Walker taking Peterson's place in right field.

The Elks will leave at 6:30 Sunday morning.

Sport Parade

By Henry McLenore
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 21 (AP)—Comes today, a courier dispatched as a press agent with "breathless" information about Tony Galento's latest venture in Hattiesburg.

In Atlantic City on Sunday, in a ring on the billion dollar pier, Galento will fight an elephant and a kangaroo. The press agent made an affidavit to that effect and who am I to dispute the orderly processes of the law.

Contracts for the bout, signed in the city zoo, call for a fight to the finish and stipulate that Galento must engage the kangaroo and the elephant at the same time.

"They're a couple bums," Galento said at the signing. "Both of 'em."

Cautioned against belittling his opponents, especially the elephant, who has a memory like Joe Louis and never forgets, Tony snorted:

"Let him start throwing his weight around and I'll knock his trunk off. And so for that kangaroo, I'll just clip him a couple in the pouch and flatten him. They can't take it downstairs, those kangaroos."

Galento sees his fight with the kangaroo and the elephant as the first step toward the heavyweight championship of the world. After knocking them out he wants to work through the puma, panther and tiger weight class and, finally, challenge the lion.

"Who has the lion ever licked?" he wants to know. "What right has that big bum to go about popping off that trunk of his? He's the size of me! I'll split him the first bite and then punch his mane off."

Galento may be taking his bout of Sunday lightly, but the kangaroo and the elephant aren't. The elephant has confided to intimates that he will come out trumping, force Galento into a corner and then sit on him. He won his last two fights with this technique, beating a Mack truck that got in his way in two rounds, and a telegraphic pole that annoyed him in three.

The bout with Galento is the elephant's first professional fight, but he was a stand-out amateur in Africa when he won the golden tusks championship of the Belgian Congo in a four-day fight with a teakwood forest.

The kangaroo is counting on his punting style to bring him victory. That and a straight right leg that he won the marquis championship in Australia several years ago.

Joe Jacobs, manager of Galento, has obtained permission from the boxing commission to examine the pouch of the kangaroo before the bell rings for the first round.

"I have heard," Jacobs said, "that kangaroo often conceal gimmicks in their pouches and that is why they win so many bouts by knockouts. I'll turn that pouch inside out before the fight or I won't let Galento get in there."

May the best animal win!

CASTOFFS CLIMB FOR JIMMY DYKES

White Sox Win Fifteen of Nineteen Games

By George Kirksey
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 21 (AP)—For doing the best job day in and day out in the major leagues, Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox must be given serious consideration. He takes castoffs, pickups and nondescripts and converts them into winning, hustling ball players.

And no major league manager has ever had more tough breaks than Dykes, not excepting Bill Terry and his present predicament. If tears were allotted per player hurt or rendered hors de combat during Dykes' regime as compared with Terry's, the Giants' boss couldn't even work up enough moisture to get a crying towel. Dykes' record of tough breaks reads like something that happened to an orphan boy, but no one ever heard of the White Sox manager locking himself behind doors and pleading for privacy.

Dykes takes his luck as he finds it and makes the most of it. And he also takes the ball players he gets and does what he can with them. Look at the lineup with which the White Sox just licked the Red Sox four in a row. . . . The same Red Sox who cut down the Yankees five straight not so many days ago.

Hayes, 25—ex-Senator.
Kuhel, 18—made for Bonura.
Kreevich, 21—turned down by Cubs.
Rosenthal, 17—minor league pickup.
Walker, 18—acquired from Tigers.
Appling, 28—bought from Atlanta.
Tresh, 26—castoff by Red Sox.
Kennedy-Walker deal.
Lee, 21—failure with Cleveland.
Strictly a second division ball club, but Dykes has that gang in third place hustling for second. They beat the Red Sox yesterday, 4-0, for their 15th victory in 19 games. Today they clash with the powerful Yankees, who hung up their eighth straight yesterday by nicking the Browns, 2-1. The White Sox are 13½ games behind the Yankees and 3½ back of the Red Sox.

Albany Gains Finals of Semi-Pro Contest

Silverton, Ore., July 21 (AP)—The Albany Oaks gained the final round of the Oregon state semi-pro tournament today following their defeat last night of Hills Creek by an 8-2 tally.

Star of last night's game and tournament was Glenn Elliott, formerly of Oregon State college. The ex-collegian allowed Hills Creek batters a meagre six scattered hits and whiffed 15. The opposition's 2 runs were unearned.

Last night's victory entitles Albany to meet the Silverton Red Sox for the championship. Play will begin Saturday night and should Silverton, undefeated so far, win, the Red Sox will be crowned champions. However, should Albany win, another game will have to be played as Albany has one defeat charged against it, a 15-inning game to Toledo. Commissioner Ray Brooks stated that a team must lose two games before being eliminated from the tourney.

Jack Doyle is an Irish heavyweight but lives up to all the fine old traditions of British prize ring. Here is the latest horizontal view of tenor belted out in two minutes and 24 seconds by Eddie Phillips at White City Stadium, London. No less than 90,000 persons paid to see thrush sleep in this position.

Len Harvey won British light-heavy leadership from Jock McAvoy on same program.

Sport Tabloids

New York, July 21 (AP)—Al Leach of Cleveland will begin the defense of his national public links golf championship when he tees off in a three-round Monday over the Mount Pleasant park course at Baltimore, Md., the U. S. Golf association announced today.

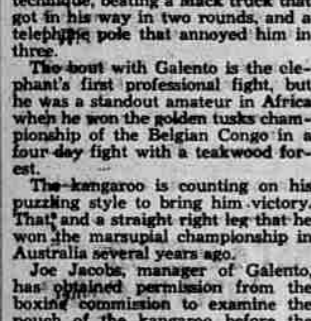

The 190-man field, culled from approximately 2,275 entrants in sectional qualifying rounds, will play 18 holes Monday and Tuesday with the low 64 moving into match play on Wednesday. The 36-hole final is on Saturday.
