

Autumn Fashions Very Interesting

Sleeves Are Modified For New Season

Women's clothing from softly feminine undergarments styled for the new fall silhouette to coats both for sports and dress wear with accessories that fit each occasion are arriving at Richie's Apparel shop for the new season. Mrs. Ella Richardson has announced.

The basis for the woman's costume may be found in the new coats, with plain colored, semi-fitted dressy models or raglan mixed tweed coats with the football shoulders. Fur collars that lend a feminine quality to the styles are among the prominent features of the dressier coats. Jackets are another of the heavier clothing models which are especially outstanding this season and are varied enough for all figures, with plaids and plain colors vying for the lead. Beltless and action back styles are both available.

For more formal occasions women will find suits with dress and jackets to match in the especially appealing styles for this fall. Some of the dresses are wool throughout and others have lace blouses which may be worn with or without the cleverly fur trimmed jackets.

To blend with the sports jackets are full skirts made with piques or pleats both in plaids and in plain colors. Zipper backs are the newest features for skirts. When the jacket is too heavy or a combination for more formal occasion is needed, Richie's Apparel shop has sheer blouses in the brightest of colors or in subdued tones.

Quality wool sports dresses which are especially good in plaid this fall are among the leading notes at the women's shop. One model of a sport dress was in a green and black striped velvet made up in the especially popular shirtwaist style. Another more dressy model was in a rich purple with a rosy colored cowl collar falling partly over the shoulders.

Sweaters are more prominent this fall because of the large variety which is available. Angora yarns and plainer wools are being shown, and some are twin sweaters, others slipovers, and still others with open fronts.

Beneath the costumes women will wear the especially lovely and inexpensive lingerie which has just been received. An entire stock of slips, gowns, pajamas, and undergarments are in store for the visitors at Richie's. Hosiery in the guaranteed makes will equip women for every occasion.

The millinery at Richie's is especially purchased to be suitable for all costumes regardless of the occasion on which the hats are worn. In addition to the clothing items, Richie's has a full line of cosmetics with the powder mixed in shades which especially suit the individual coloring.

Dots Are Dashing

Moire bengaline, new for dressy day frocks, makes Gloria Dickson's navy blue coat-dress. Chalk white polka dots are repeated in dollar-size buttons on the set-in belt. Trim is white pique. White turbans, like this intricately draped one, are smart.

Lighter Woods Are in Demand

Curly Maple, Bleached Walnut Popular

Use of lighter woods which will reflect more light and lend a cheering atmosphere to the home is the suggested mode for home makers from the Claypool Furniture company this fall. Pastel shades in rosewood, dusty rose, beige, burgundy, and Alice blue are especially prominent for the new davenport and chairs in upholstery of Fairfax frieze. Color and harmony are seen throughout the home.

Light woods in curly maple and bleached walnut are found in the new bedroom sets, with dressing tables bearing full-length, large, round mirrors to give perfect reflection. A tendency toward the use of blue in the bedroom is especially noted.

The same woods are found again in the dining room and dinette tables and chairs, with blue, red, and coral used in the leather which covers the seats and backs. Breakfast sets, too, are found in the natural finish woods, and the trim predominating is in blue or red or in coral.

To cover the floors, room-size rugs in plain covers or all over patterns are shown with the use dependent upon the rooms in which they are used. Another floor covering increasing in popularity is linoleum, either plain or marbled with feature strips and borders to personalize each room.

For every room, there are lamps, tables, and other occasional pieces displayed at Claypool's. In addition there are radios which have cabinets to be used in rooms styled for the present mode.

A more definite tendency towards the use of period furniture is noted by Claypool's, with Swedish modern among the leading pieces for all rooms. Maple still remains as a very good choice for bedroom and living room furniture, it was pointed out.

In addition the Dutch over ranges which have been constructed to present the most modern appearance and the principle remains unchanged.

Among other notes are those for mattresses with the use of outer rather than inner springs allowing for more ease in keeping them in the best condition. A saving is seen too in the mattresses, since they may be purchased alone without the necessity of investing in springs also.

Fashions With a Sense of Humor

Toothache

This little hat — is guaranteed to startle the most jaded male. It is called "the toothache" because of the band under the chin. By Talbot.

Eye-Shade

This plaid patterned veil simulates an eye-shade—the sapphire-blue velvet ribbon a chin rest. The hat is black felt. By Talbot.
