Party Could Win With 3-Point Program

Republicans Could Elect President in '40, Is Claim

By Ronald G. Van Tine
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—Senate Minority Leader Charles L. McNary, R., Ore., proposed a three-point farm program today with which, he said, the republican party could win western states and elect a president in 1940.

"After considerable thought," he said in an interview, "I have arrived at the conclusion that the republican party can be successful if it demonstrates to the farm voters and those dependent on the farmers that the party is interested, as formerly, in their welfare."

McNary recommended that the following program be written into the party's 1940 platform in "simple language so that all can understand":

1. Equalization of benefit payments under the AAA soil conservation program.
2. Repeal of the reciprocal trade agreement act.
3. Liberalization of the public land policy to give the 14 public land states a greater share of revenues from sales of forests and grazing on the public domain.

"In my opinion," McNary said, "the party must support a practical plan covering soil conservation with benefit payments justifying the continuation of that practice. All benefits and privileges must accrue alike to all producers irrespective of crops produced."

"I am convinced that the reciprocal trade agreement act, which expires in June, 1940, should be repealed. While some industries may have profited by these agreements, it has been done at the expense of the products of the soil.

"These two propositions are of major importance if the republican party is to dominate the situation in 1940."

High Cream Quality Aim of New Official

Redmond, Nov. 21—Increasing the quality of cream produced will be the main objective of the work of the state department of agriculture in this district for the next few weeks, according to C. E. Hutchens, recently appointed district representative for Crook, Deschutes, Jefferson, and Wheeler counties, with headquarters at Redmond.

Hutchens, who succeeds E. L. Strack, transferred to western Oregon, said that the question of improvement of cream is one of the major problems confronting the department at the present time. Recent action of the department of agriculture in stepping up the requirements for butter grading means that Oregon, in order not to lose her butter market, must step up the production of premium cream. Production of butter which will grade 92, as required for export, requires premium cream.

Hutchens said he will devote most of his time in the next few weeks to work with creameries and producers to improve production in this district. Several factors enter into the production of good cream, he said. Handling is very important, as any impurities in utensils, either separators, milking machines or any utensil used, means bad flavor in the product. Feed of the cows is also very important in the matter of flavor. A premium cream must be smooth, odorless, and pleasant to the taste.

The aim of the department is to improve quality of Oregon cream so that 90 per cent cream will be produced, Hutchens said.

Anyone wishing to get in touch with Hutchens can do so through the office of County Agent G. Y. Hagglund in Redmond.

He also emphasized that no totals have yet been sent for national defense outlays.
