ENGLISH GIRL TELLS OF WAR

Letter Is Received by Local Student

Country Gloomy Says 16-Year-Old Writer to Bend Friend

Dora Simpson, 16-year-old Dorset, England, school girl, would just as soon be in her old home in Australia as in England at present, she confides in a letter received here by Alice Brown, Bend high school sophomore. The two girls have never met, but they have been writing to each other back and forth across the Atlantic.

"This horrid old war makes me feel sick when I think of the future," Dora writes to Alice. She tells of the gloom in England and mentions that practically every one has lost a relative or dear friend "on a torpedoed or mined ship." The letter was written before the Germans broke into the "low countries" and faced English and French troops.

"I often wish I were back in Australia—that is a little safer," Dora writes. "We live along the harbour. It is big and full of ships. You wouldn't know what 'blackout' means, but it has meant an awful lot here since it started. Every evening we have to black our windows with thick curtains, and the streets are plunged into pitch blackness. It is really frightening to go out after tea time. . . . Oh, it is all ghastly, but not as ghastly as it is going to be."

Then Dora quickly changed the subject, for, she said, she had intended to write a cheerful letter. So she asked Alice about California and Hollywood, adding that her favorite film actor is Tyrone Power. "I think he's wonderful and what a good looker—much nicer than Pretty Boy Taylor." But Dora could not stay away from the war topic long.

"In which service was your father in the last war?" Dora of England asked Alice of Bend. "I guess you are correct when you write that we are still paying for the last war. I know my father is. He was on crutches for six months. . . . Oh how we hate Hitler and his fat old Goering. I would not like to say what I think would be left of the handsome pair if half the women in England got hold of them and carried out their threats!

And in conclusion, Dora seemed to sense the impending westward trek of the Hitler war machine:

". . . So I will close, hoping this letter will find you in good health and that when it reaches you we will be feeling as healthy (although I doubt it)."

German aviators, who have been the spearhead of the Nazi attack in the Low Countries toward France, receive their flying orders from General Milch at one of Hitler's recently established air bases "somewhere on the front."

Personnel of Camp Redmond Has Change

Redmond, May 21—News of the officer and technical service personnel at Camp Wickiup includes the return of E. O. McKeen, senior educational advisor, from a leave spent in Portland, and the departure of Dr. Earnest Miller, camp physician, on a vacation leave during which his place will be taken by Dr. Hugo O. K. Bauer.

Albert L. Gibson, contract dentist now at Wickiup, returned Monday from a week-end trip during which he climbed Mt. Hood. Dr. Gibson was one of two members of the climbing party who reached the summit.

Lieutenant A. H. Hogan, mess officer of Vancouver barracks, has been spending some time at Wickiup this week with two cook instructors, giving enrollee cooks a course in new methods of preparation of foods. Major M. K. Stolz, camp commander, and Hogan have been giving instruction in mess accounting and stewardship.

Girl, 16, Has Attended 74 Schools in 10 Years

Boston (UP)—Miss June Hanke, 16, whose address might be given as "North America," is getting her education the hard way.

In the past 10 years she has attended 74 schools in every state and in Canada and Mexico. Miss Hanke is the daughter of a salesman who travels "like a gypsy" and settles temporarily wherever prospects look good.

Born in Detroit, she attended six kindergartens in her first year. Her freshman year at high school was spent in 16 schools. Despite her "hit and run" education, Miss Hanke is in the same grade as other girls her age.

She estimates that she has traveled 500,000 miles in 10 years.

Boy, 10, Gets Start As Old Gun Collector

West Hartford, Conn. (UP)—A 10-year-old grammar school boy, who three years ago took up gun-collecting as a hobby, has more than 50 antique firearms in a glass case in his bedroom.

Joseph Fazzano, the youngster, has an uncle who is an antique dealer, and it was from him that he received the first weapon in the collection.

Ghost Town Tax Rate $509 on Each $1,000

Ojibway, Ont. (UP)—Persons who complain about high tax rates would find particularly uncongenial the ghost steel town of Ojibway, across the river from Detroit.

A rate of $509 on each $1,000 valuation has just been fixed to satisfy a $278,927 judgment won by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, serving as trustee for the defunct Essex border utilities commission, to which the town was indebted.

Home owners are likely to suffer little, however, since 99 per cent of Ojibway is owned by the Dominion Steel corporation, whose mills have been idle for several years.

CHECK PEAK CLIMBERS

Glacier National Park, Mont. (UP)—To help in identifying and in locating bodies of climbers, superintendents of all national parks have been asked to install a registration system for climbers before they start out.

CCC Boys Put Out Blaze at Wickiup

Redmond, May 21—The first fire of the season broke out at Wickiup Friday night, located just below and across the river from the camp, and men were called out from all three companies at the CCC camp to battle the blaze.

Major M. K. Stolz, camp commander, said here Monday that some difficulty was experienced at first in getting the fire under control, due to high winds which fanned the flames. However, the blaze was well under control Saturday morning and mop-up crews finished putting out the fire Sunday.

No damage was done, Stolz said. Though the fire burned into the timber, no trees were burned except those which were slated for felling later. For the most part, the fire burned winrows of brush and timber made by enrollees doing clearing work, which would have been burned this fall anyway.

People With Big Fists Also Have Large Hearts

Philadelphia (UP)—Curl your fingers into a fist and that is the size of your heart.

Dr. W. Edward Chamberlain of Temple university, reported at a postgraduate institute of the Philadelphia County Medical society that examinations over a number of years have accurately proved that the size of your heart is reflected in the measurements of your fist.

"Big-fisted people have large hearts," he explained, "and small-fisted people have small hearts."

COMMITTEES ARE ELECTED

Party Groups Chosen At Primary

All But Five of 72 Posts Filled; Some Races Spirited

Nominees to all but five of the 72 central committee posts were elected at the primaries by republican and democratic parties May 17. Four of the unfilled places are for democrats, and one is for the republican county committee.

As many as five tie votes for a position to the committee from one precinct were recorded, and must be decided by lot. There were a few spirited contests between candidates. C. F. Becker winning over J. W. Padden for republican committeeman from precinct eight by 45 to 44 votes. Lester W. Ballard and R. G. Hobbyist News Copies Of Weapons With Past Shafter, Cal. (UP)—Ralph Short's spare-time hobby is carving copies of famous weapons. He borrows the originals from his friends to be used as models.

His collection now includes reproductions of a knife used for dueling in Haiti; a Chinese dagger; a machete issued to the U. S. marines in 1912; the gun used by John Wesley Hardin, infamous bandit; a 45 caliber revolver carried by Wild Bill Hickok; an English-made pistol; a cap and ball derringer that once belonged to a prisoner captured by Judge Roy Bean, prominent figure in the law west of the Pecos, as well as models of the Colt in the early 1850s.

New Buildings to Go Up at Camp Redmond

Redmond, May 21—Charles H. Spencer of Bend, construction engineer for the U. S. bureau of reclamation, was at Camp Redmond Monday, assisting Major M. K. Stolz, camp commander, in the task of selecting sites for six new camp buildings.

The new buildings, of the portable type, have already arrived, and will be set up under contract. They include three garages, two repair shops, and a tools and parts building, all destined for the use of the technical service.

It is expected, Major Stolz said, that the new buildings will be erected during the summer, so as to be ready for use when enrollees return to the winter camp from Wickiup this fall.

TWO SHIFTS WORK ON WICKIUP SITE

400 CCC Boys Preparing Ground for Dam

Redmond, May 21—CCC enrollees at work on the project at Wickiup initiated Monday a schedule of work shifts which keeps the heavy machinery being used on the dam in operation from 4 a. m. till 9 p. m., Major M. K. Stolz, commander at Camp Wickiup, announced while in Redmond Monday.

The heavy machinery is being used now at full capacity, Stolz said, one shift of 50 enrollees from Company 599 going to work at 4 a. m. and continuing on the job until 12 noon, and another shift of 50 enrollees from Company 3530 taking over at 1 p. m. and working until 9 p. m. Shifts are alternated every two weeks.

By far the larger number of enrollees are being used in clearing work, and these, numbering about 300, go to work at 8 a. m. and work until 4 p. m. Boys on the early shift are given a special breakfast before going to work and then came in for the regular meal, and boys on the late shift get a light supper when they come off the job at night.

The work of the educational department has been reorganized and the program realigned where necessary to meet the needs of boys who are working on the early or late shifts, Major Stolz said.

The three companies at Camp Wickiup and Camp Redmond will lose about one-third of their members next month, as men whose terms of enlistment expire July 1 leave for the east. Wickiup will lose the most men, about 100 being due to leave from Company 3530 and 90 from Company 596. At Camp Redmond, Company 596 will lose only 30 men altogether from the group there and the part of the company at Wickiup.

Severed Octopus Arm Proves Boy's Heroism

Port Angeles, Wash. (UP)—Thirteen-year-old Douglas Burgess has proof he saved the life of his friend, 12-year-old Harold Huffman, who was attacked by an octupus.

Douglas kept part of the devilfish's tentacle that he cut off with his pocket knife as the octupus was trying to drag Howard into the water from a rock.

Douglas held his chum by the leg as he slashed more than two feet off the octupus' arm with his knife.
