

MEDFORD NEXT TASK FOR BEND

Bears Get in Workout On Saturday

Southern Team to Come To Central Oregon Unbeaten

Bend Lava Bears have been assigned the role of giant-killer for this Friday night's football game on the Bend field.

They'll meet Medford, who'll bring an undefeated record to Bend with them. Friday night Jay Bowerman's Medford squad kept their unbeaten status by winning from Klamath Falls 16-14.

Joe Huston worked his Bears out Saturday afternoon, less than a day after the Redmond game, to get in an extra practice session. Time was spent on learning a couple of new plays to be used against the southern Oregon team.

Bill Eby's accurate place kicking toe, which scored three out of four tries against Redmond, may prove valuable against Medford, Huston said. Eby scored two points-after-touchdown, and a long field goal. If the going gets tough inside the Medford 20-yard line Huston may call on Eby.

Friday night should find the Bears in better shape. The Redmond game brought no new injuries. Metek Nizar, Byers and some of the other lads who have been nursing injuries should be in shape again. Ted Meland, who sustained a back injury several weeks ago, may not be able to play, however.

Huston and his assistant, Hank Nilsen, have lined up three hard practice sessions this week, followed by a light drill Thursday.

Reserve seat tickets for the game went on sale today at the City Drug store.

Even on Sunday the Bears "thought" football. They were guests at the picture show, "Knute Rockne." It was Rockne who originated the Notre Dame backfield shift, which is a part of Huston's style of play.

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—Monday's grid-ironies: Notre Dame used 67 players in scoring 61 points against Carnegie Tech and the nation is wondering who the six culprits are who couldn't get their one point. . . Apparently the Irish squad is so good that Elmer Layden could take a vacation and let Pat O'Brien, with or without makeup coach for the rest of the season. . .

Jock Sutherland, must have laughed and the alumni wept as Pittsburgh's "pure as snow" team was whaled by Fordham in a snowstorm. . . The magicians' union has demanded that Clark Shaughnessy take out a card and pay dues for what he had done with a Stanford team that batted a brilliant 1000 in the Pacific Coast conference last year. The Indians' successive victories over Santa Clara and Washington State indicate they'll have something to say about the landscape gardening in the Rose bowl, come Jan. 1.

Ohio State did everything a great football team should do—except win—in the game with Minnesota. . . This is a common failing with the Buckeyes, whose trophy room is decorated with more moral victories than even an elephant among the alumni could remember. . .

It had been whispered that Alabama was a "good thing" to lick Tennessee, but Johnny Butler spoiled this whispering campaign with one of his own. . . The little Tennessee back with a pair of hinges for hips changed the name of the Crimson Tide to the Crimson Tired, so weary did the "Bama boys get chasing him. . . Cornell looked so good in beating Syracuse that Coach Carl Snavely was said to have smiled twice during the game, thus using up his smile allotment for the entire season. . . All Snavely has left for between now and the end of November is one chuckle. . .

Georgia must have left Athens in a hurry for New York and the Columbia game because the Bulldogs forgot to bring along a quarterback. . . They had some fellows they called quarterbacks, all right, but none of the 23,000 spectators who saw Columbia win, 19 to 13, was fooled. . . Georgia had the talent to lick the out-manned New Yorkers but wasted it like Dorothy Lamour in a raccoon coat. . . A successful defense of the south-east conference title is as tough as defending the Alamo, but the Texas Aggies are likely to do it. . . They knocked off T. C. U., 21 to 7, and mighty John Kimbrough wasn't even called on to smash for a touchdown. . . The Aggies employed him as a passer, which is like using a steamroller to press a pair of pants. . .

Revenge is sweet and the Michigan Wolverines have a sweet tooth. . . Humiliated by Illinois in the biggest upset of the season last year, Michigan, with Tom Harmon yielding honors to Bob Westfall, took the Illinois apart to see what didn't make them tick. . . Westfall gained 127 more yards than all of Bob Zuppke's men put together. . . A crowd of 35,000 saw Yale beat Dartmouth, which proves that loyalty is not dead in this country. . . Harvard and Army fought to a 6-6 tie, thus giving lie to those critics who prophesied that the Army and Harvard teams of this year couldn't score against a squad of Pullman conductors playing a three-man line. . .

Frank Reagan beat Princeton, 46 to 28 in the greatest one-man show since John Barrymore came of age. . . The Pennsylvania star will duel with Harmon at Ann Arbor next week, scored five touchdowns, passed for another, and kicked an extra point. . . Bill De Corvont, whose light was hid under a bushel—of press clip-

GONZAGA DEFEATS PORTLAND PILOTS

Bulldogs Score 20 to 0 Victory

Portland, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Gonzaga Bulldogs defeated the Portland university Pilots 20 to 0 before 6,000 persons here yesterday on a muddy field.

Halfback Tony Canadeo set up the first touchdown in the third period when he passed 19 yards to Bob Jones on the two, from where Fullback Cecil Hare scored. Canadeo kicked goal.

On the following short kickoff, Julie Sroka, Portland end, fumbled and Quarterback Gene Fitzpatrick fell on the ball on the Pilot 40. Hare broke through center and ran to a touchdown, which Canadeo again converted.

In the fourth period, Quarterback Adolph Solka of Gonzaga intercepted a Portland pass and ran 40 yards to the 16-yard stripe. Portland was penalized to one for roughness, and Fullback Frank McBrean plunged over.

Portland threatened only once, in the first period, when the Pilots moved to the 12-yard line.

BLANKETS ORDERED
Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—The war department today awarded contracts totaling $19,874,784, the major portion of which was for wool blankets and aircraft parts. Wool blankets orders included Thomas Kay Woolen Mills Co., Salem, Ore., $188,250, and Portland Woolen Mills, Inc., Portland, Ore., $192,532.

ings last year, continued his great play of 1940 to spark Northwestern to a win over Wisconsin's badgered Badgers. . . If De Corvont hadn't kept a scrapbook he probably would have been all-America by now. . .

They don't get much publicity but how many teams do you think you could name capable of beating the Boston college Eagles who crushed Idaho, 60-0? . . . Navy's trickery made a good out of Drake, and Duke made it five straight over Colgate. . . And in the biggest upset of the day Troy Teachers beat Statesboro Teachers, 14 to 0. . . And Troy, along with Tougaloo, which beatillard, 26 to 0, dreams of a bowl bid.

STANFORD ON TOP OF HEAP

Indians Only Team on Coast Unbeaten

Huskies Share Lead in Conference; Both Have Two Wins

San Francisco, Oct. 21 (AP)—Wonder what they're saying about Clark Daniel Shaughnessy back on the University of Chicago campus today? Shaughnessy, who couldn't win a game, and could hardly score, with his Maroons last year, has whipped the Stanford Indians, another chronic loser, right aboard the Rose Bowl special, and the train leaves right away.

The sports writers point out that Stanford has "only" to meet Southern California, U. C. L. A., Washington, Oregon State and California in that order, and the steamup is underway to get the Indians and St. Mary's together on a mutually-open date November 23. There's plenty of chance for dereliction in that schedule.

Stanford, the west's only major undefeated, untied team, overcame Pullman's "jinx of Palouse" and soundly whipped Washington State college Saturday, 26 to 14, for its second conference win.

Southern California turned in its first conference victory, a 13 to 0 win over Oregon in 99-degree weather. Washington remained undefeated in conference ranks by thumping Oregon State 19 to 0, the first defeat the Beavers have suffered this year.

U. C. L. A.'s Bruins, who had lost two non-conference games this season by the margin of a field goal, got jinxed again, this time by their big brother at California, and lost 9 to 7.

In Sunday games, St. Mary's rolled up an 18 to 7 win over Loyola and Gonzaga whipped Portland university 20 to 0.

Idaho, the conference cousin, went back to Boston to take a 60 to 0 beating. The Vandals have yet to score this season.

Other week-end scores: College of Idaho 13, Idaho Southern 19, Eastern Washington 7, St. Martins 0; Pacific Lutheran 26, Western Washington 7; Pacific university 13, Linfield 0; Ellensburg 32; Gonzaga frosh 6.

CLEAN SEED ENDS DISEASE OF SPUDS
Ring Rot Spread by Use of Infected Potatoes

The use of clean seed handled in such a way as to avoid contamination in planting is the only way yet found to control the new and destructive potato disease, says G. R. Hyslop, head of the plant industries division, but it has appeared in widely scattered counties where every center of infection is a menace to the surrounding territory unless utmost care is used by growers, he says.

Recent experiments carried on in California on a field basis, and by the plant pathology department at O. S. C. in greenhouses, have shown that the rot is scattered principally at planting time. Even an infection of only 1 or 2 per cent in the seed stock may be scattered through 60 per cent or more of the resultant crop by knives used to cut the potatoes. It has been shown that a knife cut through an infected tuber just once will carry the disease to as many as 20 healthy tubers cut afterward. The common picker planter scatters the disease in the same way.

The disease organisms apparently will not enter through the unbroken skin, hence the use of whole seed pieces when possible is a safety measure. The disease is not carried from plant to plant in the field by insects, and it apparently does not live over in the ground from season to season.

Potatoes may be infected by the cutting knife, cutting table, contact in sacks or planter, and particularly by the spikes of the picker planter. After once being infected the seed cannot be rendered safe by any chemical disinfectant yet found, although the cutting knives can be disinfected.

Five Farm Purchase Loans to Be Granted
Redmond, Oct. 21—Five farmers who will receive financing for farm purchase under the tenant purchase program for this district will be selected from a number of applicants this week, Philip W. Farrell, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Jefferson and Deschutes county district, said here today. Applications have now been narrowed down to nine.

The Jefferson and Deschutes county office, which was opened here Wednesday with Farrell in charge, has a staff of four persons, and is located on the second floor of the Landaker building at the corner of Sixth and E streets. Volume of work made necessary a division of the Central Oregon district formerly covered from the Prineville office. Prineville will continue to be headquarters for Crook, Wheeler, Harney, and Grant counties.

Working from the Redmond office besides Farrell will be Miss Helen Edmonds, home management supervisor; Leonard Rice, assistant rural rehabilitation su-

New Type X-Ray Sees Directly Through Ribs
Philadelphia (AP)—A new type X-ray, which sees through the ribs and discloses evidence of disease missed by the ordinary X-ray, was explained in an exhibit at the 90th annual convention of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania.

The exhibit was operated by Drs. Jacob S. Lehman and Charles A. Heiken of the Fitzgerald-Mercy hospital of Darby, Pa.

Both the film and X-ray camera are moved during the exposure so that only a thin section of the body which is in the axis of the movement is in focus. The ribs, seen above and below, are blurred by the movement.

Dr. Heiken said the ribs are "wiped out" in this type X-ray photography, and small cavities or tumors are clearly visible behind.
