

BRITISH POLICY TO GET REVIEW

Eden and Dill Arrive At Cairo

Consultation on Near East Strategy and Activities Scheduled

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Great Britain's military strategy and political policy, offensive and defensive, for the entire Near East is to be reviewed at Cairo during the visit on which Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, arrived yesterday, it was understood today.

A Belgrade report that British forces had landed on the Greek island of Lemnos, commanding the entrance to the Dardanelles, was regarded as evidence that Britain was taking every means of strengthening its position in view of the possibility of a German march into Bulgaria.

It was believed also that British empire forces were advancing steadily on Tripoli, capital of Libya, and that exciting news from that front might arrive at any time.

Eden and Dill are to bring empire commanders in chief and other authorities in the Near East in consultation at Cairo, it was understood.

They will have the reports of the high British army, navy and air forces who recently visited Turkey and inspected Turkey's defenses in the Bulgarian frontier area.

It was believed that plans to coordinate all operations in Africa and the Aegean sea area would be discussed, including greater aid to Greece—if Greece wants it—and aid to Turkey in any emergency which might confront it.

Spokesmen here declined to discuss the Lemnos island report or the possibility that Britain might send an expeditionary force to Greece. The understanding here is that the government would do so only by invitation of Greece and that Greece has given no such invitation so far in fear that it might incite Germany to attack. But it was believed that if Germany openly invaded Bulgaria to attack Greece, the Greek government might soon change its mind.

The Lemnos island report was that British forces were establishing a fortified naval and air base there. The island is less than 100 miles from the Bulgarian frontier and from Salonika and is within 350 miles of the heart of the Rumanian oil fields.

Singapore Readies for War

As the entire world watches for the first move in Japan's feared "drive to the south," feverish activity surrounds preparations at Singapore, Great Britain's Gibraltar in the Pacific. Here, members of Malay's own navy man an anti-aircraft gun as Britain warns shipping all waters off the tip of Malay Peninsula are mined and dangerous to shipping.

Junior Church Service Planned by Methodists

Opening at the same time as the senior morning service, the First Methodist church has announced the inauguration of a junior church service for junior and primary children from first to seventh grades inclusive. Royce Coan, who is a licensed local preacher, has been named junior pastor and will have charge of the 30-minute worship period.

The second half of the hour will be devoted to a variety of "Missionary League" activities under the direction of the children's council of the church with Mrs. Carl Erickson chairman.

Other members of the council who will participate actively are Mrs. L. A. Dusenberry, Miss Eda Williams, Howard Kessler, Miss Mittie Vandeventer, Mrs. A. B. Lingerfelt and the pastor. About 85 children of the Sunday school are eligible for this new project. The junior service will be held in one section of Epworth hall with a supervised recreational period following the Sunday school.

No. 23 DEDUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Charitable contributions and gifts made by an individual are deductible within certain limitations. The organization to which the gift is made must meet several tests. The corporation, trust, community chest, fund, or foundation must be created or organized in the United States or in any possession thereof or under the law of the United States or of any state or territory or of any possession of the United States and must be organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals. If a substantial part of its activities is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, it fails to meet the tests. No part of the organization's income may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Contributions made to a missionary fund, church building fund, or for the benefit of other activities of the church are deductible if the church is created or organized as stated above. Pew rents, assessments, and dues paid to churches are regarded as contributions.

Gifts to an individual are not deductible.

Contributions made to the United States, any state, territory, or political subdivision thereof, such as a city or town, or the District of Columbia or any possession of the United States, for exclusively public purposes are deductible; for example, a gift of real estate to a city to be used perpetually as a public park is deductible. Also allowable are contributions to the special fund for vocational rehabilitations, to posts or organizations of war veterans and their auxiliaries organized in the United States or any of its possessions, and to domestic fraternal societies, orders, or associations operating under the lodge system, if used exclusively for religious, scientific, educational, literary, or charitable purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

In general, the deduction is limited in the cases of individuals to 15 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions.

Corporate contributions are deductible when made to or for the use of a corporation, trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, created or organized in the United States or in any possession thereof or under the law of the United States, or of any state or territory, or of the District of Columbia, or of any possession of the United States, which meets the same tests as those made for recipients of individual contributions, but in the case of contributions or gifts to a trust, chest, fund, or foundation, only if the contributions or gifts are to be used within the United States or any of its possessions. Deduction of corporate contributions is limited to 5 per cent of the net income, exclusive of the contributions.
