

Bruins Will Try To Break Jinx of Long Standing

Los Angeles Squad Has Failed to Beat Trojans in 40 Different Games

By Lisle Shoemaker
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Los Angeles, Jan. 21 (AP)—Way back on Feb. 13, 1932, the Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles defeated the Trojans from the University of Southern California in a basketball game, 26-24.

And that takes care of that! In 40 attempts since that memorable date the Bruins have made both spectacular and miserable attempts to accomplish the feat again, but in every case the Trojans slammed the door in their faces.

Two years ago hysterical Bruin rotters thought they'd at last reached the promised land when their cross-town rivals trailed 44-33 at half time.

Game Lost
But the U.S.C. cagemen, undoubtedly recipients of a strenuous—shall we say lecture—came back in the last stanza to tie the game up at 45 all in the regular time and went on to win in the overtime period, 53-47.

Other games in the series weren't as close. The Trojans captured No. 25 by a 69-36 tally and won No. 30 with a 60-26 triumph which must be some sort of intercollegiate cage record.

That brings the rivalry up to date and tomorrow night the Bruins hopefully engage the Trojans in No. 41, but the tea leaves in the cup don't forecast a Bruin victory even if the law of averages is taking a trouncing.

Led by little Gene Rock, a 5 foot, 9 inch junior weighing 150 pounds, the men from Troy once more figure to hang another Bruin hide on the pennant wall.

Rock, Coach Ernie Holbrook's "little giant," has been the Trojan high scorer. In 14 games he has scored 175 points for an average of 12.5 points per game and has been the top Trojan point man in seven of the 14 tilts.

Holbrook says he's send his Trojans out there with orders to outshoot the Bruins rather than concentrate on an airtight defense.

"My front line of Rock, Alex Omalev, and Jim Seminoff has averaged 43.8 points per game, which is more than 15 points greater than the average of the Bruins' four frontliners," masterminds Holbrook.

CRUZ, CHASE MATCHED
Portland, Jan. 21 (AP)—Castello Cruz, young California boxer, and Jack Chase, Colorado negro and California middleweight champion, will meet here in a 10-round bout Feb. 2. Matchmaker Joe Waterman of the National Boxing Club announces today.

Chase won the California title less than two weeks ago from Eddie Booker.

British WRENS, corresponding to American WACES, do not go to sea, but they replace naval men in about 40 categories of shore duty.

Schedules Ready For Major Nines

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—The major league baseball schedules for 1943 awaited only final ratification from the two circuits' individual owners today plus a last-minute checkup by President Ford Frick of the National and William Harridge of the American league.

Frick and Harridge met yesterday to go over the program, a get-together made necessary by a change of the opening date to April 21 and a setback of the closing date to Oct. 3. They made only one new move—changing date of the all-star game at Philadelphia from July 7 to July 13.

Several innovations have come out of the new schedule, which has cut baseball travel to three intercontinental trips and saved 65,000 league travel miles. Because of the juggling of dates, both big holidays—Memorial and Independence day—will find inter-sectional games scheduled. Closing day will also feature the same setup. That is an arrangement without precedent in baseball annals as eastern and western clubs formerly played among themselves on those dates.

Washington opens the season on April 20, playing the Philadelphia Athletics at home. The next day in the American league, will send Washington to New York, St. Louis and Philadelphia, Chicago to St. Louis and Detroit to Cleveland.

In the National league, opening day will put New York against Brooklyn, Philadelphia at Boston, St. Louis at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Chicago.

Oregon Prepares For Husky Quint

Eugene, Jan. 21 (AP)—Coach Howard Hobson scheduled an other heavy practice session today for his University of Oregon cagers, who meet the University of Washington Huskies here Friday and Saturday in an important two-game conference series.

Oregon currently leads the northern division of the Pacific coast conference with three wins and one loss. Washington has won one and lost one.

Where Rolls the Oregon

(Following is one of a series of articles prepared by the Oregon Trail Centennial commission, dealing primarily with historical subjects of the Oregon Trail and the Old Oregon Country. Oregon Trail history is being stressed because 1943 is the centennial of the special migration of 1843 and the founding of the provisional government at Champanoo.)

LEDYARD, PLANTER OF AN IDEA

One of the most valuable contributions to the advancement of mankind is an idea. It was John Ledyard who planted an idea in the fertile mind of Thomas Jefferson which resulted in the Lewis and Clark expedition and the ultimate acquisition of the Pacific coast by the United States of America. Ledyard was a rover by nature. He sailed with Captain James Cook as a corporal of marines on the ship "Resolution" in 1776, to the northwest coast of America. It was on that cruise that Ledyard sensed the great possibilities of that vast, unexplored region.

In 1782, Ledyard was back in America on board a British man-of-war. Leaving the British service, he endeavored to interest American capital in a trading and exploring expedition to the northwest coast. Failing in this, he sailed for France in 1784. There he met Thomas Jefferson and John Paul Jones to whom he sold the idea of the possibilities of the northwest coast of America. However, funds failed to materialize to outfit an expedition, so Ledyard resolved to start by land through France and Russia and across the Bering strait to America.

While at Yakutsk waiting for the weather to abate, he was arrested as a spy and taken to Moscow. Acquitted of the spy charge, he hastened to London where he was offered the leadership of an expedition to explore Africa. Ledyard arrived in Cairo, Egypt on Aug. 19, 1788. His last letter to Thomas Jefferson was on Nov. 15, with America ever in mind.

Just before the expedition was to start, Ledyard died at the early age of 38, with his hopes still unrealized.

Like most pioneers, Ledyard profited nothing by his bold ventures and his great privations, but he left the germ of an idea with Thomas Jefferson which bore abundant fruit in the years to come.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR DIRECT RELIEF from misery of colds—coughing, phlegm, irritation, clogged upper air passages—rub throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub. Its poultice-and-vapor action brings relief without dosing.

ALSO, FOR HEAD COLD "sniffles," melt a spoonful of VapoRub in hot water. Then have the child breathe in the steaming vapors.
