USO Aide Seeks Health in South

Miss Ann McLaughlin, associate director of the USO here since the club was organized last May, left Bend today for Lodi, Calif., to begin a leave of absence due to ill health. Miss McLaughlin plans to return to Bend the first of the month with the club's new associate director, yet to be named, and will spend several days here acquainting the new official with her duties.

After assisting the new staff members, Miss McLaughlin expects to go south for a period of residence to be determined by her physician, and today she stated that she "hoped it would be a short time, so I can come back to the Bend USO club where I have been so happy in my work."

Early in January the Bend club's first director, Harry O'Grady, was called to Seattle, Wash., to take over the management of the new USO club there. Robert Weiss, former director of the Madras club, is now in charge of the local USO.

MORE ABOUT Nazis Forming

formation was believed to have destroyed an important supply bridge behind the German lines at Cassino.

Raiders of the desert air force also attacked in great strength in advance of the British Eighth army, striking in 12 separate waves against the junction town of Popoli, on the lateral highway from Pescara to Rome.

New Line Planned
A headquarters spokesman said reconnaissance revealed that the nazis feverishly were preparing a new "Adolf Hitler line" six miles west of their present Gustav line—presumably in the fifth army sector extending from just north of Cassino to the Tyrrhenian coast.

There were indications that the fury and speed of the British attack in the Minturno area had thrown the Germans off balance.

Front reports said the nazis massed tanks and infantry on the Apennine way above Minturno in preparation for a full-scale counter-attack, only to be spotted and smashed by allied dive-bombers and British heavy artillery that rolled swiftly forward in the wake of the attacking infantrymen.

The enemy concentrations scattered in confusion, and the British extended their forward lines beyond the town.

Counter-attacks Repulsed
Several localized and apparently minor German counter-attacks were repulsed with little difficulty.

Headquarters spokesmen said the British had won a number of heights on the northern slopes of the Garigliano valley.

Since the start of the British offensive Monday night, at least 900 German prisoners were reported to have been captured.

In all of yesterday's aerial operations, which included heavy bomber attacks on enemy airfields in the Rome area and around Vittebo, only two allied planes were lost, against five enemy planes shot down.

It was revealed that British cruisers and destroyers joined in the early stages of the fifth army offensive across the Garigliano, hurling tons of high explosive shells into the German lines north of the river Tuesday and Wednesday.

Abbot Training Wins Plaudits

Camp Abbot, Jan. 21 — The training program at Camp Abbot and personnel responsible for its operation drew high praise from Lt. Col. William W. Brotherton of the office of the chief of engineers in Washington, D. C., following an inspection of facilities Jan. 12-16, post headquarters revealed today.

In discussing the program informally, Col. Brotherton said it was his observation that active supervision of training is the primary concern of Col. Frank S. Besson, ERTC commander, and that the commanding officer's interest is reflected in the high standard of training in the center. He described instructor-trainee relationships as "excellent" and outdoor training facilities as "superior."

Commenting on a newly-introduced program which provides for three weeks of training in the field under simulated battle conditions, Col. Brotherton said the program was fully as good as that embraced by the best maneuver training. Full advantage is taken of terrain, and all field exercises are designed realistically, he added.

Other general comments were to the effect that Camp Abbot utilizes housing, training and recreation facilities to best advantage and makes an excellent organization for training.

Women of America
IT'S UP TO YOU!

OUR ENEMIES have boasted that American women are pampered, luxury-loving morons who would be of no help to our fighting men at war. But — they were wrong. American women everywhere are doing a bang-up job—in the service, in industry, in business, on the farm and in the home.

But — bigger incomes are tempting some women to buy luxuries they've wanted, perhaps for years, but which they don't really need now.

Every true American woman prays that the war will end—soon. But you've got to do more to hasten victory, for 1944 is the year of decision. You've got to do your full duty by our boys at the front by keeping up your regular purchases of War Bonds by buying at least one extra $100 Bond during this Drive and by saving every cent you can in the world's best investment—War Bonds of the Fourth War Loan.

When the war is over, you'll have a lot more money to buy what you want. Meanwhile, you can exult in the knowledge that you are fighting for your country in the most effective way possible. Women of America—it's up to you!

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.
