Eugene Axemen Wallop Bears By 42-22 Count

moving, close guarding deadly shooting Axemen won their sev enth consecutive game of the sea-son here last night at the expense of the bogged-down Lava Bears by the nearly two-to-one count of 42 to 22. So far this year, the Eu-gene quintet has suffered only one defeat, to Benson of Portland in the season's opener. The Avein the season's opener. The Axe-men erased that defeat by wallop-ing Benson in the second game.

The Bears got under way first last night, and for one quarter looked like the team that hogtied Corvallis here last week-end to win two games. But so effec-tively did the Axemen corral the Bears in the second quarter that the Deschutes squad scored only one point.

Axemen Powerful

Bend's failure to keep moving after the opening quarter could not entirely he blamed on the Bears' lethargy. After adjusting their sights in the first period, the Axemen turned loose a brand of ball seldom seen off a college court. Their backboard work was flashy, their passing was accurate and their zone defense was hard to crack. Nevertheless at least half a dozen shots were of the gift variety, as the Axemen the gift variety, as the Axemen broke away from the Bears, glid-ed under the basket and scored without even being touched. Their fast break frequently baffled the Bears, who obviously suffered a let down after a week of practice minus the service of their coach, state tourney talent in their flashy game against the Bears. However, Wirtz, Bend guard, tied Warberg and Hunter for high scoring honors. All three boys were credited with eight points. A total of 26 personal fouls were charged, and Robinson of the visitors went to the showers when his allotted five were chalked up. Bend was charged with 16 fouls and Eugene with ten.

Cubs Win Game
In the preliminary last night Coach Everett Gettman's alert Cubs defeated the Redmond Kittens 38 to 20. The Kittens substituted for Sisters.

There will be no preliminary tonight, and the main game will start at 8 p.m.

Los Angeles, Dec. 23 (P-Connie Mack, 82 years old today, admits that "each year seems to slip by a little faster," but he's still young enough to be looking forward to another season as mana ger of the Philadelphia Athletics

"It doesn't seem possible that today is my 82nd birthday," Amer-ica's grand old man of baseball said reflectively, "life seems such a short time as I look back. In fact, the years fairly fly after a man reaches 50."

Despite his 82 years, the veteran coach of the Philadelphia Athletics American league base-ball team ever since 1901, is looking forward to another activ

Mack said he thought that next year his Athletics had as good a chance as any team in the Ameri-can league to cop the champion-ship, the title to which he guided the Athletics in 1902, 05, 10, 11, 13, 29, 30, 31. But he acknowledged that it was far too soon to make concrete predictions.

"No, I can't see how that 'work or fight' order will prevent baseball from continuing next season, the season after or the season after that—there will always be baseball," Mack emphasized.

Game Tied

In the next game, Oregon State and Washington State each had five letter men on the floor. About half way through at a 12-all tie, Dehrett of the Cougars changed the pace with a ringer and then the WSC 6-foot-8 center took over in combination with Rennick.

With Oregon state playing Washington, OSC led 15-14 with four minutes remaining but Mosich's basket made it 16-15 for the Huskles. Carnovale got another and Puddy's basket in the last minute put the Orangemen only a point behind. But Whitey King clinched the game for Washington of Oregon started and soon Wilkins took up play. The game was tied three times and Oregon led four. The telling basket was made by 6-foot-7 Ken Hayes of Oregon, putting the webfoots ahead 21-20. Hamilton and Wii.
