

Stocks Decline; Volume Lighter

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Anticipated year-end evening up operations today brought an irregular decline into the stock market on contracted volume.

Railroad shares stood out as the leading strong spot and their average rose to a new high since August 31, 1927. This demand was attributed to the belief that the roads face a good earnings period so long as the war is going on and prospect of higher rates when peace comes.

A few rails, notably the Santa Fe group, had losses ranging to more than a point. New highs were made by Baltimore & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Missouri-Kansas-Texas issues, Lehigh Valley, Illinois Central, Norfolk and Western and Northern Pacific. These rose fractions to more than a point.

American Airlines made a new high. Several special stocks made highs, including Robert Reis preferred, Youngstown Steel Door, Silver King Collocation Mines, and Thermoid Co.

Deputy Sheriff Lions' Speaker

Juvenile problems in Deschutes county came in for attention at today's meeting of the Bend Lions' club when I. M. Wells, deputy sheriff, spoke informally about some of the problems and the necessity of securing full cooperation of all people if these problems are to be solved. Early teaching, Wells stressed, is largely responsible for the later behavior of the child. He added that under present laws, enforcement agencies have but little control of children under 12 years of age.

Wells suggested that supervised play for both adults and children would be an ideal setup for Bend, and would be extremely beneficial for the younger folks.

Gerald McCann, EM 2/c, home on leave from his duties in the service, said that the worst enemy he had encountered in the Aleutians was the weather. McCann is city commissioner, on leave of absence while in the service.

County Still Lags In 'E' Bond Sales

The "E" bond quota in Deschutes county for the sixth war loan drive reached 79.4 per cent of its quota on Dec. 21. A. L. O. Schueler, chairman of the county war finance committee, was informed today by the Portland headquarters. Twenty-eight Oregon counties have topped Deschutes in meeting the E bond quota.

Deschutes county ranks 22nd in sales of all bonds and, on Dec. 21, had topped its quota of $1,120,000 by 41.4 per cent. Schueler was informed.

Two Jima Island Yuletide Target

Somewhere in the Marianas, Dec. 26 (AP)—(Via Navy Radio)—Navy surface units, teaming up with giant B-29 Superfortresses, Liberators and P-38 Lightning fighters in a Christmas "gift" to the Japanese, rained explosives Dec. 24 on the already hard-hit enemy base at Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands.

In addition to the heavy damage inflicted on the island's airfield, 600 miles from Tokyo, our surface units sank an enemy destroyer, one escort patrol craft and a medium-sized landing ship in the second coordinated air-surface attack on the base in December.

Procedure Told

The planes from one of the Superfort squadrons acted as range-finders and spotters for the ships after unloading their cargo of bombs, and Maj. Thomas E. Feddy, commanding officer of the seventh air force bomber squadron said: "The naval craft shelling lasted more than an hour. Those boys have an accurate aim and I don't think the Japs have a very easy victory."

Returning pilots gave graphic accounts of the plastering of the major enemy base.

Match Folder Collector Fears He May Have to Dig Into Pile

By Mary Laing
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago (AP)—Peter J. Schmitz, who has a collection of almost 17,000 full match folders, is a little nervous about rumors of an impending match shortage.

"This may seem paradoxical, but Schmitz explains that he is a cigar smoker as well as a match collector and is afraid that he may have to cut into his collection, which he calls his "own personal treasure."

Only Full Folders
The trouble is that in order to qualify for a place in his collection, a folder must be full. He says he has thrown away or given away more folders than he has kept because they either were only partially filled or the same as another in the collection.

Schmitz, who is an elevator operator at the U. S. custom house here, started his collection 10 years ago.

"I went into a drug store one night to buy some cigars," he recalled, "and got some matches that were real pretty. I thought to myself, 'I'm going to save that,' and right there I started to collect."

Cover the World
Since then, Schmitz has collected about 15,000 regulation matches from countries all over the world—including the three axis nations. In addition, he has 2,000 non-regulation books of various dimensions, one of them 20 inches long and another eight inches square. He says he got most of them from brokers at the custom house.

"They are filed away in a cabinet, now so packed that he has started saving them in cigar boxes."

Among Schmitz' favorites are two folders from a Chicago florist, which he describes as the "prettiest" in the collection. He also like a "Remember Pearl Harbor" folder, which contains matches with Japanese faces on

Jungle Corporal Aids With Makeup

Cpl. Robert Garcia, now teaching camouflage at the Redmond army air field after many months spent in Pacific jungles, thrilled participants in the "Christmas Eve in a Foxhole" scene in the Methodist Christmas program by bringing his own jungle clothing and make-up equipment and "making up" the boys who appeared as jungle soldiers. They were David Coyner, Albert Miles and Bill Higgins. The pageant was directed by Mrs. M. F. Lyons while Mrs. Craig Coyner was in charge of the music.

The program was presented at the Methodist church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.
