

Lack of Teachers In State Worries

Salem, Ore., Dec. 29 (AP)—Despite a constitutional requirement that a uniform and general system of education shall be provided in Oregon, the educational advantages for children of the state are as varied as the developments in 1898 school districts, Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, said here yesterday.

The economic disparity of school organization in the counties has caused a situation where it is impossible to obtain fully and adequately trained teachers in some sections, Putnam said.

In explaining the financial setup of the state school system, he said that the state provides 30 per cent of school support, including the $5,000,000 income tax-derived support fund, while 12 1/2 per cent comes from the individual counties and 57 1/2 per cent is supplied from taxes on real property of the school districts. The latter figure varies from district to district, Putnam declared, citing one instance where property worth $5000 would pay $3, while in another district it would pay $143.50.

There will be 1300 teachers needed in the state next year, he said, and teacher training institutions will graduate only 245.

Sixth Army Group, France—"Oh, we're taking it easy right now," explained Lt. Col. Leon A. Brock of Honea Path, S. C., commanding officer of the 630th Field Artillery battalion. "We've been pumping shells in all morning, but it's been quiet for about an hour now."

The gun crew of one of the battalion's batteries of big howitzers was working on their gun a few yards away. The mud was deep and cold. In the distance several French batteries were banking rapidly.

The entire battalion, veteran of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, was one of the American artillery battalions supporting the French First army in its drive to Germany along the Swiss border. In support of the start of the drive, this one battalion had fired more than 4,000 rounds—400 tons—of ammunition.

Targets were the 1870 forts guarding the Belfort gap, neutralizing them for the attack of the French infantry. German batteries, many miles away, were silenced by these powerful and accurate American guns. German supply columns felt the power of the big howitzers.

The battalion itself, which has been supporting French troops in Italy and France for a year, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre for its work with the French expeditionary corps in Italy. One of the battalion's members holds the Croix de Guerre. Another holds the distinguished service cross, two hold the legion of merit, 17 have silver stars, six have bronze stars, and another six, aerial observers, hold air medals, each with an oak leaf cluster. In addition, the battalion holds a Croix de Guerre awarded by Marshal Foch in World War I. Six citations have been given the battalion.

"But we're prouder of our record for accuracy with our guns," Col. Brock said. "When we fire, we hit what we're shooting at. We've caused Jerry a lot of trouble and we're going to cause him a lot more until he quits."

Among the soldiers in the battalion is Cpl. Ralph H. Knopsnyder, Bend, Oregon.

Legislation to change the presidential electoral system of the United States and to limit the president's tenure of office to four years is proposed by Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, republican national committeewoman, which issues she hopes to get presented to the state legislature at the approaching session.

She has inquired of the Multnomah county legislative delegation on this matter as well as the possibility of getting this year's legislature to appropriate funds for the installation of two statues of outstanding Oregonians in the "hall of fame" in Washington as provided for each state by an act of congress in 1864.

The delegation showed more interest in the statues, though doubting the likelihood of success but suggested that a committee might be appointed by the legislature to take a popular subscription to pay for them. It was decided by the 1921 legislature that the statues should be of Dr. John McLoughlin and Rev. Jason Lee of pioneer days.
