

Government To Use 26,000 In Farm Census

By Ruth Gmeiner
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington (AP)—Early in January 26,000 government census takers will sharpen their pencils, tuck record books under their arms and set out to count agricultural noses.

It will be the two-month task of these census bureau interviewers to make a comprehensive tabulation of U. S. farms, farmers, farm dollars, livestock, crops and other miscellaneous agricultural data.

The first farm census was taken more than 100 years ago, in 1840, and was repeated once every decade until 1920 and once every five years since then.

Congress Opposed Funds

There still is some doubt that the 1945 census ever will be completed and made public. It is a $12,500,000 job and so far congress has appropriated only $7,250,000 for the purpose—enough to carry out the interviewing and pay the 26,000 enumerators.

The 78th congress in a last rebellious gesture refused to authorize the additional $5,000,000 needed to add up the figures and publish the findings. Anti-census legislators termed the survey a political pork-barrel and said it duplicated work of the agriculture department. However, the census bureau plans to proceed with the census the first week of January with the hope that a new congress will appropriate the rest of the funds.

First question census takers will determine is, "what constitutes a farm?"

The official answer will be, if three or more acres are devoted to the output of agricultural products, or if farm commodities valued at more than $250 were produced in 1944, the acreage becomes a farm for census purposes.

Detailed Livestock Survey

The same basic questions will be asked every farmer: His name, age, race, farm location, number of buildings on the farmstead and facilities. However, queries on field crops, fruits and vegetables and other produce harvested will vary according to the section of the country.

Perhaps the most detailed questions will cover the livestock population. The enumerator will determine the number of chickens and turkeys raised, income from poultry, number of cows and heifers milked, how many gallons of milk produced and quantity of butter sold.

In addition, the number and age of horses, mules, cattle, sheep, hogs and goats will be tabulated. The amount of wool shorn, mohair and meat produced with their market value will find their way onto the interviewer's ledger.

The nation's mobile farm labor force will be determined by recording the number of persons employed on a farm on a given date.

Questions On Crops

Farmers will be questioned in detail about the kinds of crops planted, acreage, how much was consumed on the farm and the income received from their sale. Farm properties and debt position will be determined. An inventory of farm machinery will be included.

Utilization of land will be disclosed by questions on idle fields, crop failures and pasture or grazing land.

Operators and tenants of ranches, truck farms, combined victory garden projects, nurseries, greenhouses, fruit orchards, poultry lots, hatcheries, apiaries and feed lots all will be interrogated.
