Apartments With Sunshine Plan of New York's Mayor

By Frederic C. Othman (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia now can doff his horn-rimmed spectacles (revealing a not-so-far-away look in his peepers) and see a New York City where each housewife wears a ribbon in her hair and whistles while she works in an apartment with a window in every room.

"And sun shines in every window," hissoner added as he looked, for the benefit of Sen. Robert A. Taft and Co., toward that happy day. It was snowing outside, but Mayor La Guardia saw sunshine, only: That was obvious.

The one trouble, said the Little Flower, snapping out of it and donning a scowl, is that the rest of the country also has got to build apartments with windows and sunshine.

"Or I'm sunk," the mayor said. "I can't absorb any more people in New York City." LaGuardia was wearing a double-breasted coat as light as a 578 room-and-a-half domicile on 52nd street; he unbuttoned it, sank gratefully into a semireclined easy chair and told the postwar economic and planning committee that he already has 69,395 people living in more than 16,000 apartments complete with sunshine, two per cent financing, and a federal grant.

Only thing worrying the mayor (almost but not quite turning his customary purple at the thought of 'em) are those babies in the building trades, acting like buggy whip manufacturers trying to buck the horseless carriage. He's their pal and he wants that understood, but when the buildings with the sunshine start going up, he doesn't want them to gum the works with strikes.

"Like when we were building one of those apartment centers and a quarrel developed between the sheet metal workers and the carpenters over who should put in the baseboards," he said. "That held us up for weeks and weeks and a d d e d enormously to the costs." The mayor said when you're building for people who pay only $20 a month for a four room apartment, you've got to watch your outgo and as of now he's a little concerned over cement floors.

Shevlin Sailor on Leave Meets Tiny Sister First Time

Shevlin, Jan. 17—Returning after 18 months with the navy in the South Pacific, John Robert Posey, fireman 1/c, arrived in Shevlin in time to celebrate the six months birthday of his sister, Patricia, whom he had never seen. Patricia reached the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Posey on Monday night—before his sister had her half-year birthday.

Fireman Posey, who was stationed aboard a light cruiser, participated in many sea engagements with the Japs, all the way from New Guinea to the Philippines. During his long stay in the South Pacific, John met one Central Oregon boy—Dan Sumpter of Lapine. This meeting took place at Cape Gloucester while another Sumpter boy, Wilbur, was aboard a nearby vessel but they did not meet.

Posey, who attended Gilchrist schools before enlisting, is on a 30-day leave. George Lee Posey, a brother, is taking boot training in the Farragut, Ica., naval training station.

Voice Recording Given to Parents

A recording of the voice of Lt. Don Metke, heard several weeks ago over radio station KBND from the south Pacific, today was presented to this naval flier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Metke, 1434 West Fourth street. The presentation was made by H. H. McCartney, representing the Electric Auto-Lite company, sponsors of the radio program on which Metke talked. Lt. Metke now is stationed in Jacksonville, Fla.

Metke, who was pilot of a PV-1 Ventura which helped sink five Japanese ships, spoke on an unique three-way short-wave broadcast between Honolulu, London and Hollywood, on radio singer Dick Haymes' program, "Everything for the Boys." The transcription not only recorded Lt. Metke's conversation with Haymes and Jimmy (Schnozzle) Durante, who was a guest on the program, but sent the young flier's greetings to his family in Bend.
