

Baseball's Future Up to Congress

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The future of professional war-time sports apparently rested today on congress' decision of how far to go on the work or fight legislation recommended by President Roosevelt.

The feeling was general that events in the next 30 to 60 days will decide definitely whether the nation can fight the last phases of a great war and have a full measure of sports events, too.

Rep. Samuel Weiss, D., Pa., a National league professional football official and the sports world's champion in congress, said that passage of work or fight legislation "will fold up the minor leagues and drain many players from the major leagues."

"It will put the majors close to the borderline," he said. "But I think they will be able to survive somehow and scrape up enough players to carry on."

Passage of the work or fight bill along the outline recommended by Roosevelt probably would strip the major leagues of virtually all of their players and remove the majority of top performers from all other professional sports.

Roosevelt in his message to congress said that "while this bill is not a complete national service law, it will go far to secure the effective employment in the war effort of all registrants under the selective service law between the ages of 18 and 45."

If a strict interpretation of that outline were followed, only five of the 500 men now on major league rosters would remain unaffected. These are players under 18, none of whom were given a chance to become regulars. Among the remainder, there are 232 classified as 4-F's, 31 as discharged veterans, and 32 who are over the military age of 38, but who are under 45.

Melt shortening in moderately hot frying pan; drop rice mixture into hot shortening by tablespoonfuls; fry until golden brown turning once. Serve with heated syrup. Makes 12 small or 6 large cakes. FRIED MUSH 4 cups water 1 tsp. salt 1 cup corn meal Bring water to boil in top of double boiler over direct heat. Add salt. Add corn meal gradually, stirring constantly. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water; cover. Cook 30 to 40 minutes. Pour in dampened mold or bread pan. Let stand several hours. Unmold and slice in 1/2-inch-thick slices. Fry in hot shortening until golden brown. Serve with syrup. Serves 6 to 8. LITTLE HINTS FOR EASY BREAKFASTS Cereals may be measured out the night before, ready to cook upon the addition of water. When cooked in milk they have added nutritional value as well as a different flavor. Using brown sugar instead of white on cereals gives them a new flavor. Molasses for sweetening is very good, and if eggs are scarce, it helps make up for the iron we would normally get from them. A crispness and added flavor is given to ready-to-serve cereals if heated in a moderate oven (375° F.) a few minutes before serving. Safeway Homemakers' Bureau JULIA LEE WRIGHT, Director
