

Bend Beats Burns In Close Battle; Score Is 35 to 31

Burns, Jan. 20 (Special)—Lulled into lethargy by two easy games in Lakeview, Bend's potent Bears, runners up for the championship of all Oregon last season, underestimated the Burns Bulldogs here last night, but managed to squeeze through with a 35 to 31 win in the final minutes of play, in a thrill-filled count-down battle. Against the powerful Bears, the Burns quintet, paced by Husman, Delaney and Mundy, played one of its finest games in recent years.

The struggle was a crowd pleaser, especially in the closing minutes of play, and a near capacity house is expected for the second game of the series here tonight.

The confident Bears took an early lead over the Bulldogs, and at the end of the first quarter were out ahead 13 to 6. But by halftime, the Bulldogs had definitely served notice that the contest was far from over. At the halfway mark, the Bulldogs trailed by a mere four points, 19 to 15.

Burns Takes Lead

The inter-county hoop battle raced into full fury near the end of the third quarter, with the Bulldogs taking a 24 to 22 lead. But by the end of the quarter the Bears were out in the lead again, 25 to 24. The final quarter was a fierce affair, but the Bears grimly held to their small lead, trading shot for shot and adding a few extra ones for good measure to win 35 to 31.

Ball handling of the Bulldogs was brilliant, their shooting was accurate and their guarding was good. The Bears, however, were a bit ponderous in setting up their defense patterns and their shooting was off. It was Bob James, whose total points for the evening reached 11, who saved the Bears from probable defeat. Bend converted seven out of 12 free tosses. Burns made five out of 11.

The Bears came here yesterday over the Yellowstone cutoff from Lakeview, where they won two one-sided games from the Honkers 47 to 21 and 49 to 29.

Trojans Victors Over Shamrocks

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—Fortified with a 43 to 29 victory over Carroll's Shamrocks last night, the University of Southern California Trojans tonight were to meet California's Bears, defending basketball champions in the southern division of the Pacific coast conference.

The Trojans, favored to dethrone the Bears, are expected to encounter little difficulty with California, which has already lost to the University of California at Los Angeles, 37 to 28. Southern California whipped UCLA, 53 to 25.

Hudson Is Loser To Cleo Shans

Hollywood, Jan. 20 (AP)—Cleo Shans, a ripping body puncher who likes his action at close quarters, even up his score with Eddie Hudson here last night by winning a close split decision in their 10-round main event.

Shans fought a non-stop fight on top of Hudson, who staved him off with lefts to the head in the first five rounds but wilted under the furious pace as the fight progressed into the stretch.

Shans, 134½, is from Los Angeles; Hudson, 134, San Diego, Cal.

Colonel MacPhail May Receive Post

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—A report in local sport circles that Col. Larry MacPhail, former head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is slated for "an important new post in Washington," revived rumors to-day that he might be named national wartime sports coordinator.

Sports personalities, who have urged the administration to establish such a post, have mentioned MacPhail frequently as a likely candidate. The coordinator would take over the handling of such problems as sports manpower, transportation, and curtailment of sports if necessary.

By Jack Cuddy
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. Benny Leonard believes that Sgt. Joe Louis will continue campaigning as a top-flight heavyweight—perhaps as champion—for five or six more years.

Leonard, sparring with a breaker of jamocha at Toots Shor's last night, smilingly relegated Louis' latest statement, about retiring after one title defense against Billy Conn, to the pigeon hole of smart operations.

"Louis is a smart operator, and he has shrewd advisors," explained the blue-garbed officer of the U. S. maritime service who ruled the lightweight division for seven busy years. "They don't want the public to forget that when peace comes the big fight—the million-dollar fight—is that return bout between Louis and Conn. I wouldn't be surprised if Joe would keep promising retirement, until that bout is over. This would help concentrate attention of fight fans on the bout."

Benny, in charge of recreation and morale at the big Sheepshead bay maritime service training station, said he was convinced that the Brown Bomber would continue active for five or six years for three reasons: (1) He loves the fight game; it's his life; (2) He has the body to do it, and (3) needing money when he gets out of the service, Sgt. Joe will try to hammer out enough wealth to make him independent for the rest of his life.

Leonard emphasized that Louis has the physical equipment for long service in the ring. The heavyweight champion will be 31 in May. That would be a ripe age in divisions below the 160-pound, middleweight class, where contestants are "burned out" more quickly by blistering pace. But Benny stressed that heaves mature later than smaller men. He remarked that Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson were both 37 when they lost their titles to Jim Jeffries and Jess Willard, respectively. Willard was 36 when he took the Toledo beating from Jack Dempsey, to.

He continued, "at 30, Louis has a grand fighting-body. When he entered the army in 1942, Joe had about 53 bouts in nine years. He had been active enough to keep sharp; meanwhile his punch prevented most of his opponents from doing him much damage or lasting the scheduled distances. He suffered no bad beatings, except in the first Schmeling fight; and his shuffling style burns up little tissue. Moreover, he has been a clean liver—not given to any dissipation. He has had no illnesses; and his body still is still comparatively young.

"Joe has been fortunate, since entering the army, that his duties have kept him going through the motions of training and fighting. That's very important. It's true that there is no substitute for tough competition to keep one razor sharp; but going through the motions almost daily, like Joe has been doing, will prevent him from losing his speed, timing and judgment of distance. And his sparmates are good enough to keep him alert.

Benny knows how important it is to "keep going through the motions." He retired as undefeated lightweight champion in 1924, and concentrated on business quite successfully. Needing money, he started a comeback in 1931—seven long years after his retirement. He trained for six months, paring down from a blubbery 180 pounds to 150, and began campaigning as a welterweight. After five exhibitions, he had 21 pro bouts, ending with his Madison Square Garden knockout by hard-hitting Jimmy McLarnin. Considering his long lay-off, and the age of 36 when he met McLarnin, Benny did fairly well on his come-back. He said, "I'm positive I would have done much better—might have beaten McLarnin, if I had kept up some sort of training during my retirement, like Louis is doing in the army."

Seattle Firemen Win From Eagles

Portland, Ore., Jan. 20 (AP)—Staving off a third period drive by the Portland Eagles, the Seattle Ironmen won a 3 to 2 decision here last night and took undisputed possession of first place in the northern division of the Pacific coast hockey league.

Seattle netted two goals in the first period and one in the second for a 3-0 lead until the third period. Then Portland's well-coordinated attack accounted for two goals, and the Eagles from then on kept the puck in Seattle's territory.

3 Goals Scored

Pete Wrywolsk, a newcomer to the Ironmen ranks, teamed with Manager Frank Datten to ram over the first Seattle goal, and "Shorty" Coombs got the second just before the period's end. In the second period, Coombs scored another, with Datten getting credit for an assist.

Portland's goals were made by Red Carr and Aubrey Webster.

The two teams had been tied for first place with 23 points, each on 11 victories and one tie. Portland will have another chance to share the lead with the Ironmen when the Eagles play the Vancouver Vanguards here on Sunday night.

Alaskan Fliers Add Another to Arctic Rescues

Seattle (AP)—Alaska fliers have added another epic to the growing saga of Arctic rescues.

Bush fliers and airplane pilots teamed up to save a couple marooned in a desolate, snow-clogged valley at 40 degrees below zero when their small plane crashed.

The victims, Pat Bliss and his wife, left Fairbanks for Kotzebue on Nov. 30, on a routine flight. Some 200 miles northwest of Fairbanks, however, in the trackless expanse of bush, they were forced down by engine failure.

The trail plane was completely wrecked but the Blisses crawled out uninjured. With the small radio, which was intact, Bliss made contact with a radio station. He transmitted their approximate position and the information that they had no emergency equipment to combat the Arctic cold. "Please hurry," he pleaded.

In the old days it would have meant days of bitter journey by dog team, with the chances 100 to one that the fastest team of huskies would arrive too late. But modern Alaska boasts of as fine a system of airways as any section of the United States and one of the largest groups of skilled private fliers in the world.

Cougars Victors Over Oregon Five

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 20 (AP)—The Washington State college Cougars defeated the University of Oregon basketball team 54 to 43 here last night in a contest that saw both teams exchange the lead several times with WSC forging ahead in the last eight minutes.

The Cougars scored first but Oregon had it tied 21-21 at halftime. Opening of the second half, Oregon jumped into the lead with a basket by Jim Bartlet, but the Cougars put on a scoring spree and after eight minutes of second half play led by 10 points. Then scores by Hays, Hamilton, Smith and Wilkins, narrowed WSC's margin to 38 to 38. In the final seven minutes, Washington State built up a five-point lead to 11 points before the final whistle.

Washington State's Vince Hansen—a 6-foot, 8-inch center—scored 19 points and played a good defensive game under the basket. He was closely pressed, however, by Del Smith of Oregon with 16 points. Washington State converted 14 foul shots, against Oregon's 9.

The defeat dropped Oregon to a full game behind the leading Washington huskies, but left Oregon State tied with Washington State for third place in the standings.

Cubs Plan Mimic Show on Monday

Unknown Golfer Leads in Tourney

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 20 (AP)—Par on the El Rio Country club golf course was destined for another battering today as the nation's top professionals and amateur golfers set out to catch Joe Zarhardt, Norristown, Pa., a comparative unknown whose five-under-par first round 65 yesterday led the field by one stroke.

Nineteen other golfers broke par in the first round of the $5,000 open tourney, indicating that Duration National Open Champion Craig Wood's 72-hole course record of 264 may be endangered.

Zarhardt's 65 was the fifth five-under-par round of the week, the other four coming in practice play.

Pressing on the leader's heels were Claude Harmon, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich.; Leonard Dodson, Kansas City; Bruce Coltart, Atlantic City, N. J.; Leland Gibson, Randolph Field, Tex., and Jimmy Gaunt, Ardmore, Okla., whose 66 held the lead until Zarhardt, one of the last finishers, topped them.

Another stroke behind were professional golfer's top threesome—Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., pre-tournament favorite; Sammy Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Harold (Jug) Mcspaden, Sanford, Me., all knotted at 67 with Jack Gage, Santa Barbara, Calif.
