

Athletic Leaders Battling Bettors; Headway Shown

By Walter Byers (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Jan. 26 (UP)—Athletic directors of Big Ten schools and other leading midwestern universities are waging a winning war against gambling syndicates that have turned to collegiate sports since the U. S. ban on horse racing.

A United Press survey showed today that bookies are experiencing stonewall opposition on the collegiate front from midwest universities and several newspapers which have combined to cut off gamblers from "tip" sources. Some Firms Quit Unable to get information to make up their prediction sheets, many betting syndicates have folded, while others have been forced to drastically curtail their operations.

Intent on blocking all organized gamblers' entrance into the collegiate sports field, athletic directors have issued instructions to their coaches, university officials and players not to give any information to anonymous callers. There is also a standing rule at these schools to throw into the waste basket any letter apparently from a betting house asking for "dope."

Sheets Unanswered "I never answer any information sheets sent here," said K. L. (Tim) Wilson, Northwestern university athletic director and secretary-treasurer of the N.C.A.A. "They go into the waste basket and I've instructed our publicity department, coaches and players not to answer any calls for information."

The report was the same from athletic directors L. W. St. John, Ohio State; Z. G. Clevenger, Indiana; Conrad Jennings, Marquette; Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin; George Venecier, Iowa State, and so on down the line. The effect has been good, especially in local areas.

Cindered Paths Quit By Dodds Los Angeles, Jan. 26 (UP)—Gil Dodds, fleet footed track star, hung up his spiked shoes and today prepared to go "wherever the Lord leads" as a minister. Although he said he was through with competitive sports, Dodds said he would keep running for his health.

In a brief workout at the University of Southern California's Bovard field yesterday he toured a quarter-mile in 51.5 seconds after a 10-minute warmup. "I expect to take workouts a couple of times a week," he said. "I want to keep my body strong and healthy so I can serve more efficiently."

After a brief southern California preaching tour, Dodds will go to Texas where he will remain until Feb. 14 and then go to the state of Washington to await his preaching call. Dodds—who completed his theological studies at the Gordon college of Theology—ended his track career by winning a two-mile run in Boston last Saturday.

Oregon, Huskies Battle Tonight Eugene, Ore., Jan. 26 (UP)—Out to avenge four defeats at the hands of the Huskies last year, the University of Oregon Webfeet will meet the University of Washington tonight in McArthur court here in the first of a two-game series.

Today's Sport Parade (United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, Jan. 26 (UP)—When the major league owners meet in New York a week from tomorrow they will announce the continuation of plans to play the 1945 baseball season.

The meeting will not be confronted with the possibility of closing the parks. No such crisis exists as yet, we learn from an authoritative source. Instead, the heads of key agencies in the capital urge that preparations for opening be continued.

According to our authoritative informant, these Washington brass hats believe that baseball not only should be played during the '45 season, but that it can be played; and that only an unexpected emergency—such as a grave reversal in the European war theater—could cause a black-out of the national pastime.

The "official" opinion, as related to us, is that the re-examinations and unjust reviews of 4-F's and discharges will take away enough seasoned performers to lower the standard of play in the majors and upper minors, but will not threaten the game's existence. A sufficient number of 4-F's and discharges should be left to form the nucleus of teams, since the physical standards for fighting men have not been lowered and there is no increased demand for men in limited service.

Nelson Favored To Win Tourney

San Antonio, Jan. 26 (UP)—"Lord" Byron Nelson, golfdom's top-money winner last year, reigned as pre-tournament favorite today as a field of 66 professionals and 104 amateurs teed off in the opening round of the 18th Texas Open Golf championship. Nelson was favored primarily on the basis of a six-under-par 65 warmup round yesterday and the absence of Sammy Snead, who retired from tournament play for a two-week rest after the Phoenix Open last week.

Other contestants in the three-day four-round tourney included defending champion Johnny Revolta, Frank Stranahan, amateur and former Trans-Mississippi national now in the army, duration National open champion Craig Wood and Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y. Stranahan carded a 68 in yesterday's practice round, while Wood and Turnesa both turned in 69's.

Turner Matched To Fight Pease

Portland, Ore., Jan. 26 (UP)—Leon (The Lion) Turner meets Mickey Pease, Portland cop, in the 12-round main event of tonight's boxing show here. Proceeds of the show will go to the infantile paralysis fund, and the advance ticket sale has been good.

Both of the main events fought to a draw here two weeks ago, but many of the fans thought Pease was entitled to the decision. Only a last round rally saved Turner.

Supporting bouts will feature John L. Sullivan and "powder" Proctor in a 10-round affair; and Johnny Suarez vs. Eddie Weller. Young Firpo—former batter from Burke, Idaho, will return as referee. Firpo fought here five to 10 years ago in many of the headline bouts.

FIGHT RESULTS (By United Press) Boston—Elmer (Violent) Ray, 195½, Los Angeles, stopped Henry Jones, 207½, Philadelphia (9); Archie Gibbons, 142, Hartford, Conn., decisioned Ray Dooley, 148, New York (6).
