Red Cross Chief Visits Portland

Portland, Ore., Feb. 17 (UP)—The American Red Cross probably will be called on to do even more after the war than it is doing now, in the opinion of Basil O'Connor, national chairman.

O'Connor is making a tour of 21 cities throughout the country to give Red Cross workers at home a report of overseas activities of the organization and to see what the home workers are doing.

In his clubs in Great Britain, O'Connor said, the Red Cross served 1,500,000 meals a month and gave beds to 875,000 servicemen. Red Cross workers number nearly 6,000,000 and many of the overseas workers are negroes, he said.

He left for Seattle Friday night.

Amanda Anderson Roseburg Coach

The Roseburg team coached by Miss Anderson took eight of the 11 first places in the statewide contest. Competing were 12 Oregon high schools, including Bend.

Germans to Use 'Wonder Weapon'

Stockholm, Feb. 17 (UP)—There were reports from Berlin today that the nazis were about to unveil a "wonder weapon" which might cause the allies to retaliate with poison gas.

The reports were taken to mean that high nazi quarters were giving serious consideration to the possibility of gas warfare.

The nazis were represented as sidestepping any intimation that they themselves might start using gas. Their "wonder weapon," they said, could not be classified as "chemical warfare." At the same time they frankly admitted the possibility that the allies would take a different view of the matter and use gas in reprisal.

Noted Landmark In Prineville Sold

Prineville, Feb. 17 (Special)—A real estate deal in Prineville this week of more than usual importance, because of its historic interest, was the transfer of the two-story Manhattan on the corner of East Second and Belnap, from Claude Seeds to L. M. Bechtell.

This site was a part of the original Oregon land grant and was owned by the pioneer John B. Vanderpool from 1895 to 1902 when he sold to another pioneer, Jesse Yancey. In 1905 the late John B. Shipp purchased the lots and erected the present structure, then a pretentious residence.

In 1915, Mrs. Addie Yancy became the owner of the house. She and her daughter, Eleanor, gave it the distinguished name of the Manhattan and ran a first class boarding house catering to the business and professional class. Many teachers of the earlier days look back on the Manhattan as their one time home in Prineville.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Seeds purchased the property in 1925 and the late Mrs. Seeds continued with table board and rented apartments until she took over the management of the Ochocho inn dining room and kitchen in 1927. Bechtell bought the property for an investment and will continue it as an apartment house.

Confirmation of Wallace Expected Washington, Feb. 17 (UP)—House passage of the George bill cleared the way today for senate confirmation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce.

There appeared little doubt that Wallace would be confirmed after President Roosevelt signed the bill stripping the commerce job of
