

Federal Income Tax Limit Goal Of Legislators

By Eric W. Allen, Jr. (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Salem, Ore., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Oregon legislature today started on its first payless day after the defeat of a resolution favoring a 25 per cent limit on federal income tax and a public hearing that developed strong support for a Japanese deportation act.

The income tax resolution, which was killed yesterday 48 to 10 with an indefinite postponement by the acceptance of a majority "do not pass" committee report, asked congress for repeal of the 16th (income tax) amendment and substitution of the "22nd amendment" limiting income taxes to 25 per cent.

Motive Explained
John Hall, chief proponent of the resolution, said that it was a movement in the direction of stopping the "wild spending" of the present administration and that experience had shown that a lower tax with a broader base brought more revenue than did an unlimited tax.

"Tax limitation would create the possibility of putting more money into 'venture spending,'" Hall said.

Rep. E. R. C. Frisbie, Baker, questioned the motives of the backers of the movement—saying that it was proposed by Publisher Frank R. Gannett and other wealthy men and promoters.

"The result of this movement would be economic chaos," Frisbie said. He asked where the money would come from to pay the costs of government, the interest on the national debt and the debt itself, and social security payments.

Benefits Explained
The benefits of the measure would be only in the upper income brackets, Frisbie said, a statement echoed by Rep. Joseph Harvey, Portland, who said that it came "straight from Wall Street."

"Someone must pay the debt," Harvey said. "Why saddle it onto the little fellow?"

Rep. Robert Bennett, Portland, made an impassioned plea in favor of the resolution, saying that the aims of the resolution were: 1—protection of the sovereignty of the states; 2—maintenance of the American way of life, and 3—an expanding economy.

Rep. Giles French, summing up much of the thought in the house, said that objections to paying taxes at present, as exemplified in the measure, was almost as bad as striking in a war industry or desertion in face of the enemy.

States Back Measure
Hall said 18 states had approved the measure.

At the anti-Japanese hearing, a strong majority appeared in favor of the measure (HJR7) which would provide for deportation of alien Japanese and those who have been proved disloyal or to have dual citizenship.

Rep. Vernon Bull introduced the measure, and was the first of a dozen speakers in favor of it. There was one opponent.

In 1942, approximately 83% of all shoes made for civilians had leather soles; this percentage dropped to 73% in 1943 and to 53% in October, 1944.

General Watson, FDR Aide, Dead

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Edwin M. (Pa) Watson, White House secretary and military aide to President Roosevelt, died last week while en route home from the Crimean conference, it was learned today.

Watson, artillery officer in World War I and former West Point football player, had been ill for some time. It was reported he died of a heart attack.

He was named military aide to the president when Roosevelt was first inaugurated in 1933 and was given the additional duty of a White House secretary six years later. He also had served as an aide to President Wilson at the Versailles peace conference.

Watson was 61. Throughout the 12 years Roosevelt has been in the White House, Watson has been his constant traveling companion and was regarded as one of his closest friends.

Escaped 'Conchie' Held for Trial

Awaiting trial on charge of violating his probation, Lloyd Brown Reed, who escaped twice from the conscientious objectors camp at Wickiup, near Lapine, today was being held in the Multnomah county jail in Portland, according to word received from there today.

Reed surrendered to the United States probation officer in Portland, after being absent from Camp Wickiup for more than a month.

According to officers, Reed previously had fled the camp, but had agreed to remain there for the duration, or not to exceed five years.

Big Truck Bill Signed Into Law

Salem, Ore., Feb. 27 (AP)—A compromise "big truck bill," which extends for two years the emergency powers of the state highway commission to issue special permits allowing gross weights for logging trucks in excess of statutory limits, (SB 42) has been signed into law by Gov. Earl Snell.

The governor has also signed SB 47, which strengthens the laws relative to safety equipment in logging operations.

Plan to Cut Up Oregon Districts Stirs Hornet Nest

Salem, Ore., Feb. 27 (AP)—The controversial senate reapportionment bill (SB271) dropped into the hopper Monday as the house passed a bill which would set up a uniform salary scale for county school superintendents and a set of standards and qualifications for such officers.

By proposing to redistrict certain eastern Oregon senatorial districts, Senator Marshall Cornett and Rep. Henry Semon of Klamath Falls touched off a hornet's nest. Opponents immediately countered with the proposal that the law requires a complete reapportionment after each federal census. Since this would give Multnomah county almost half the senate seats, instead of five as at present, the upper house was sharply divided on the new move, which may prove a barrier to adjournment in two weeks.

Bill Defeated
A similar bill was narrowly defeated four years ago. Major provisions call for a separate district for Klamath county, a new district for Deschutes, Jefferson, Crook and Lake counties, and elimination of the 19th district, now held by Rex Ellis of Pendleton. Since Umatilla county already comprises an entire district (20), the bill proposed to give Ellis' other two counties, Morrow and Union, to adjoining districts.

Cornett contends his 17th district is too large, comprising one-quarter of Oregon with 75,000 people and 22,000 square miles in the counties of Klamath, Lake, Deschutes, Crook and Jefferson.

The senate sent to the governor a bill raising compulsory education in Oregon from eight grades of grammar school to the age of 16 years or graduation from high school (HB322). Other school bills given final passage permit school districts to be paid for five days of teachers' institute, (HB206); permit boys 16 to 18 years of age to drive school buses during the next two years, (HB208), and permit school boards to buy liability insurance for student athletes, (HB266).

The Monday session in the house was quiet, with about half of the day's calendar finished at noon.

Lyle Thomas, chairman of the education committee which introduced the school superintendents' bill, said that the new standards of salary and qualification would eventually tend to increase the prestige, effectiveness and efficiency of the offices.

Main objection to the bill came from representatives who said their county budget committee had not approved raises for their superintendents, and felt that the salaries called for under the bill would be out of line with those of other county officers.

The bill protects incumbents in the office by permitting them to run for re-election even if they do not meet qualifications.

Polio Donations Still Coming In
Although the campaign for funds ended more than a week ago, contributions to the Deschutes county foundation for infantile Paralysis fund continue to come in. It was announced today by Mrs. J. F. Arnold, president of the local chapter.

Latest contributions are from the Independent Bowlers' League, $17.40, the Knights of Columbus, $65, and Mrs. Frank R. Prince, $10.

Here's sixty tons of trouble for Tokio. This majestic Boeing Superfortress can carry forty 500-lb. calling cards for Hirohito, and a heavy armament of cannon and machine guns to take care of any of his interceptors that try to interrupt delivery.

The Superfortresses Boeing Aircraft Company builds in the west are test-flown and delivered on Chevron Aviation Gasoline, as an extra safeguard against one thing that can stop even a B-29—engine trouble. Boeing, like others who build and fly fine aircraft, have found there's a world of dependable power and performance behind the Chevron label. You'll make the same discovery the day this great Chevron Gasoline comes down from the sky.
