THE BEND BULLETIN

and CENTRAL OREGON PRESS
The Bend Bulletin (Weekly) 1903 - 1951 The Bend Bulletin (Daily) Est. 1915
Blanck Every Atternoon Except Sunuay and Certain Holmays by The Isens Valletin
- 738 Wall Sitest ond Class Matter, January 6, 1917, at the Postoffice at Bend, Oreg Under Act of March 5, 1879

BOBERT W. SAWYER—Editor-Manager HECRY N. FOWLER—Associate Editor
FRANK H. LOGGAN — Advertising Manager

An Independent Newspaper Standing for the Square Deal, Clean Business, Clean Politics and the Best Interests of Bend and Contrast Oregon

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

REDISTRICTING

Having urged the injustice of the present senatorial district set-up as between Klamath, Lake, Jefferson, Crook and Des-chutes on the one hand and Umatilla, Morrow and Union on the other we have been glad to read that Senator Cornett would introduce a bill to bring about a change. Here is what Malcolm Epley has sent to the Klamath Herald and News on the subject by way of editorial correspondence from Salem:

Another effort to erase a long-standing injustice in sena-torial representation will be launched next week by Senator Marshall Cornett of the 17th district.

The Klamath senator has disclosed his intention of intro-ducing a measure to redistrict a portion of the state in a manner to eliminate startling inequalities which stubborn senates previously have refused to touch.

manner to eliminate starting inequanties which stubborn senates previously have refused to touch.

The Cornett plan, which has been forecast in this column, calls for elimination of the 19th district including Morrow, Umatilla and Union counties. A new district would then be formed out of Klamath and Lake counties, now part of the 17th district. Deschutes, Crook and Jefferson counties would continue as the 17th district.

Umatilla, Union and Morrow would still have representational course. Partitle out the district in itself and is Umatilla, Union and Morrow would still have representation, of course. Umatilla now is a district in itself and is over-represented because it has one senator alone and shares a senator with Morrow and Union. Union already is in the joint Union-Wallowa district while Morrow can be added to another district without harm to its representation status.

The population figures of the areas involved in the proposed re-vamping plainly show the justice of Senator Cornett's plan.
There are gight counter of residential.

There are eight counties of northeastern Oregon with a total population of 79,805, and with five state senators. The 17th district (Cornett's) has five counties with a population of 72,996 and one senator.

(The eight counties mentioned above are Baker, Gilliam, Morrow, Sherman, Umatilia, Union, Wallowa and Wheeler.)

This is an old story to the legislators down here at Salem. No reasonable person would deny the injustice of the situation and only unworthy political factors have prevented its remedy in nast sessions.

remedy in past sessions.

Whether such forces will work again against just reapportionment remains to be seen, but Senator Cornett has been laboring vigorously to line up senate support for the

That has taken time, which explains the reason why the proposal is coming out late in session. The arguments are so clear in its favor that there should be no great loss of time in clear in its favor that there should be no great loss of time in bringing it to issue. It is not a new complicated proposal, but rather one that everyone understands. Such bills have been before the legislature in past years.

The personal angle is the only real danger to the proposal. Eliminating a district means eliminating a senator, and there's the rub.

The senator representing the 19th district, which would be eliminated, is Rex Ellis of Pendleton. Last session it was the senators' clubby feelings for Mr. Ellis that defeated the same proposal. (It passed the house of representatives but lost in the senate in 1943.)

This is the personal situation in regard to Mr. Ellis. His

This is the personal situation in regard to Mr. Ellis. His termexpirus before another session of the legislature. So also does the term of Senator Carl Engdahl of Pendleton, who represents the Umatilla district which would survive the proposed reapportionment.

So Mr. Ellis and Mr. Engdahl could both run for the Uma-

Hence, it is seen that the plan does not squeeze Senator Ellis out. He has to run anyhow if he wishes to return to the senate and there will be an opening in his home district.

SAYS LEAGUE "OFF BASE"

It has been a satisfaction to learn that we are not alone in our criticism of the league of Oregon cities for its effort to seour criticism of the league of Oregon cities for its effort to secure the approval (through senate bill 195) of an abbreviated budget publication. F. H. Young, manager of Oregon Business & Tax Research, Inc., and an Oregon tax and opinion expert, writes in a recent legislative news letter:

Your correspondent, in a recent public hearing, told the League of Oregon Cities' representatives that their organization was off base (being supported by taxpayers' money through city appropriations), in suggesting through SB 195, that taxpayers be satisfied with an "outline or tabular" form of local budget information. Tax spenders are slow to satisfied that taxpayers indignation might believe the satisfied of the satisfied with a satisfied that taxpayers' indignation might believe the satisfied of the satisf to realize that taxpayers' indignation might boil over some time unless confidence is maintained by adequate informa

Manager Young was right and we have an idea that he would agree with our contention that the league cannot justify appearances by its officers or members at league (and, therefore, taxpayer) expense for the discussion of controversial subjects before legislative committees.

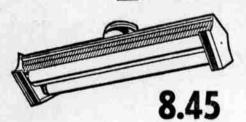

Oregon Rockets Blast Iwo Japs

Portland, Ore., Feb. 27 (IP) According to a Portland chamber of urgent needs now facing the na-commerce survey, many of the tion's production lines, navy offi-rockets being used to blast the class said today. H. N. Moore, departs for Argen

NOW Sold without restiction -while they last

Gives Better Light . . . Costs Less to Use

Streamlined design . . . and as efficient as it's good looking! Gives correct light without glars or shadows . . . reduces eye strain. Operates on 110-125 volt 60 cycle AC current. Burns two 20-watt fluorescent bulbs. Length, 25 inches.

HOUK - VAN AL

Firestone HOME & AUTO SUPPLY

Wall at Minnesota

Nation Observes Midnight Curfew

The entertainment industry rang down the curtain on aftermidnight drinking and amusement last night but there were still campaigns afoot today for modification of the nationwide cur

Compliance with the curfew, which became effective last midnight, appeared complete from coast to coast despite an overtone of grumbling from New York, Chicago and other large centers of wee-hour gayety.

Nightclub owners in New York met in a secret session after Chicago operators reported they would ask War Mobilization Director Lenge E. Description of the complex control of the contro tor James F. Byrnes to modify the curfew so that they can stay open until 2 a.m. and close one night each week.

No announcement was made after the New York meeting, but it was rumored that diamond horsewas rumored that diamond horse-show owner Billy Rose and other owners discussed raising a $50,000 fund for a Washington lobby. Rep. Clare Boothe, R., Conn., joined the modification line with two suggestions. She asked that all nightclubs be allowed to open an hour later than usual and then stay open until 1 a.m. instead of midnight.

If that wasn't feasible, Mrs Luce said, large cities such as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Detroit should be allowed an hour more of amuse ment than the rest of the nation.

The curfew, most drastic homefront directive since the ban on horse racing last month, slipped into wartime living quietly. There were no demonstrations and police and war manpower commission agents reported no deliberate vi

Police On Job

Police in New York patrolled the night club and amusement sections under orders to arrest no one. They were told merely to warn violators after taking down their names and the names of patrons in the presence of two police witnesse

Philadelphia police took no part in checking compliance with the curfew. However, WMC agents were reported making the rounds of the Quaker city's night clubs and taprooms.

Chicago crowds dispersed quickly after midnight and the streets soon were deserted. By 1 n.m. Randolph street, Chicago's Broad-way, was empty except for the cops on their beat and an occa-

Bend's Yesterdays

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO (Feb. 27, 1930) (From The Bulletin Files)

Snowfall is general throughout Central Oregon, with one inch

Irvin avenue next to the J. D. Donovan Home. Redman is Donovan Home, Redman is owner of the Bend dairy. Phil R. Brooks, owner of the Pilot Butte inn, solicits bids from Bend contractors for the building of a new addition to the hotel.

Dr. R. D. Ketchum, chairman of the school board, tells 280 parents the need for additional school facilities.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO (Feb. 27, 1920) Plans are announced for the Japs on Iwo Jima may have been made in Portland, three firms here having been engaged in producing parts for havy rockets.

The rockets are one of the most wirgent needs now facing the part.

H. N. Mose, and the Tumalo creek, makes possible the improvements.

French Moore, brother of Dr.

Supervisor N. G. Jacobson of the Deschutes national forest, re-turning from a conference at Baker, reports that the budget for this forest will be slashed $2,000 this year. Mr. and Mrs. George James, living on East Second street, re port the birth of a daughter to

Special Choice of POTTED TULIPS

PICKETT

Phone 530 627 Phone 530 We telegraph flowers anywhere. Flower Shop & Gardens 629 Quimby

A SONG to REMEMBER

critic."

boy?

article, a long one, down to the very end without saying another word. Then he looked up. "What I always say, Frederic-no one so important in all the world as a

"Who wrote it? Some school-

Jozef Elsner adjusted his spec-

Jozei Eisner adjusted his spec-tacles again, though certainly they didn't need a djusting. "Schoolboy, nothing! Whoever it is—it's the most brilliant critic in Paris! I don't think it. I have the knowledge! I know!"
"Someone you called on the "Someone you called on the other day, no doubt." "No doubt." Elsner scanned the

"No! Just plain George Sand!"
"—The lady we met the other

Madame Mercier came into the room without knocking.
"For you." She handed Jozef Elsner a letter, then waited for him to open it. It was not every lodger who received letters by experial messenger.

special messenger—a messenger, by the way, who came and left by carriage.

"I don't have to sign?"

"No, Monsieur. It came by car-

"—What!"
"Yes, Monsieur."
"—Tch, tch." Jozef Elsner looked at the letter. "Humph. Not for me." He handed it to the astonished Frederic. "For you."

Madame Mercier stretched her neck as Frederic tore open the "Bad news? You know what Angel cemetery, Portland.

column again, "George Sand!" "—Madame Sand?"

THE STURY: The disastrous news he receives just before his concert so unnerves Chopin that his entire performance is a liasco. He dreams that night of Professor Elsner's prophecy long ago that his music would one day speak for the voice of Poland, 'I ne unfinished Polo-naise now occupies all of his thoughts.

THE INVITATION

In the morning he was at the piano, in his dressing gown, working out the great themes when Jozef Elsner, rubbing the sleep (and perhaps the dreams also) day."

"—Tch, tch. It doesn't make a bit of difference—" "—I am not going to quarrel, Frederic. How can I quarrel? I know what was in your head. I don't even blame you—" "Any notices?"

-Tch, tch-Frederic continued playing. The themes were taking shape.

"—Good. Very strong."
"Do you catch it, Professor?"
"—Eh?"

"The spirit of Poland?" "Yes, of course. Indeed."
"Yes, of course. Indeed."
"Well, Professor, what did they say—the critics—the great critics of Paris? Come, come, you have every morning paper in your room—and I know it. Why, with-out your papers—"

"Tch, tch ed."
"Tch, tch ed."
"Tch, tch ed."
"He han

mrs room—and I know it. Why, withas out your papers—"
"—Madame Mercier did bring a few up. I don't lie, Frederic, usethere's no need to lie,"
"And how bad are they?"
Jozef Elsner put his chubby on had to his hair. "Well, not bad, bed But not enthusiastic, I would say.

But not enthusiastic, I would say.
Just more or less ordinary—"
"Really!"
"-Not exactly ordinary — not exactly. What's said it said. Critics!—What do they know? Nothing! There is not a critic in the world—" He returned to his room and came back with a bundle of morning papers. "Stuff—stuff—nothing but stuff — the most abominable—enough to turn your stomach—"

Then something caught his eye as he was conteming caught his eye as he was contemptuously leafing through them. He held the paper to his nose. He adjusted his spectacles. He held the paper farther away, at arm's length. "—Tch, tch—this looks almost intelligent—" "Read it, Professor, I am in a mood for anything."

mood for anything." Jozef Elsner read. "'-A genius—'"

"Sarcasm," Frederic said.
"—Not exactly Frederic

"Sarcasm," Frederic said.
"—Not exactly, Frederic." He continued: "—'A genius such as this Frederic Chopin appears only once in a hundred years—!"
"—Umm! How is that! In print!—Right here—just as I said—tch, tch—" He said: "—A star has risen among us—" Jozef Eisner s. chest swelled. "—A star has risen among us brighter than we have ever known—'"
He removed his spectacles. He wiped them on his sleeve.

wiped them on his sleeve. Frederic stared. Jozef Elsner returned his spec tacles to his nose. He fastened them behind his ears, in a busi-nesslike manner, then read the

> ORDER QUALITY

BABY

CHICKS POULTS BAKER FFFD CO

> Phone 188X Redmond, Ore.

FOUNTAIN SERVICE

LUNCHEONS HOME-MADE PIES

SPORTSMEN'S HEADQUARTERS

DOUTHIT'S FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

NNA HEAR FROM ME

AGAIN!

I FIXED HIM! THAT LITTLE DROOP WON'T EVER SQUEAL ABOUT DOIN' YOUR HOMEWORK
FOR YOU! --- IF HE EVER OPENS
HIS BIG TRAP ABOUT IT, HES GONNA HEAD BOOM NE BOY, HECTOR

pre-heated.

We thought you would be interested in knowing of the care our returning wounded receive on hospital trains.

Navy to make up a hospital train with various types of cars. We assemble the cars, sometimes from distant points. The cars are inspected, thoroughly cleaned and

The train is then moved to the hospital receiving sta-

When the train pulls out, a Train Commander-a commissioned medical officer-is in charge. To assist him, we assign an experienced railroad representative to accompany the train. On board, too, are Army or Navy nurses and enlisted medical corpsmen who expertly care

En route, the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen-all the trainmen-are thinking of every man aboard. They know that sudden starts and stops can cause discomfort to the wounded. That is why they try to handle these hospital trains extra gently.

for the wounded, night and day.

tion where the wounded are carefully taken aboard.

This is the procedure. We are asked by the Army or they say, Frederic, it never ELECT WOMAN DOORKEEPER keeper in the New Hampshire Concord, N. H. (IP-Miss An- legislature. Frederic read the letter twice in "How can it be worse?" Jozef Elsner asked. "Read it, Frederic." Frederic read it a quiet voice: "My dear Chopin: It would please the Duchess of Orleans—" "—What!" Frederic continued: "'—if you and your teacher would attend a reception at her home tonight." Jozef Elsner's chest expanded. He worked his jaw, his head stretched from his collar in the direction of Madame Mercier. "—From the Duchess of Orleans, Madame!" "No," said Frederic. "—What!" "No, Professor, not from the Duchess of Orleans—" nette Leclerc, a 28-year-old insur-ance agent in Berlin, has become the first woman ever elected door-ly than forest fires.

City Drug Co. — City Drug Co. —

SPECIAL

Duchess of Orleans—"
"—Tch, tch."
"The letter is signed—George

Sand."

"—The Duchess of Orleans—!"
Jozef Elsner gazed into the startled face of Madame Mercier.
"George Sand? Humph. How could she know it would please the Duchess? Eh?"

(To Be Continued)

(To Be Continued)

James Henehan, 69, a retired employee of the S. P. & S. and a member of the Seaside city police, was found dead in his Seaside home yesterday, Bend relatives were notified. He is believed to have died late Sunday of a heart have died late Sunday of a heart

Mr. Henehan is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Hatch, Port-land, and a nephew, William R. Hatch, 1022 Hill street, Bend. Hatch left this morning for Seaside to complete funeral arrange-ments. A requiem high mass will be held in Seaside at a date not yet set. Burial will be in the Mt.

James Henehan

Heart Victim

Sand.

BOTTLES

City Drug again has a good selection of hot water bottles of good grades priced from-

City Drug Company

Your Friendly Nyal Store

909 Wall St.

Handle with care!

Dispatchers all along the line make every effort to keep hospital trains rolling with the fewest possible

Schedules are worked out in advance. On movements where some of the wounded are assigned to different hospitals, a car or cars will be detached at junction points. These cars will then be attached to regular trains for movement to other hospitals.

Southern Pacific is keenly aware of its great responsibility in moving the wounded. Every skill is brought into play to operate hospital trains smoothly, efficiently and on time.

These are Southern Pacific's most important trains.

Many of the less critically wounded travel on our regular trains. So if you find it difficult to secure a Pullman reservation, even for essential travel, it may be because some wounded man is occupying the space that otherwise might have been given to you. We know you'll agree these reservations are more urgent than yours.

The friendly Southern Pacific

By MERRILL BLOSSER

HALF BUCK!