

Steel Shares Lead On East Market

By Elmer C. Walzer
(United Press Financial Editor)

New York, Feb. 28 (UP)—United States Steel corporation common stock advanced today to lead an advance in the stock market to a new high for more than seven years in expanded trading.

The rise extended the rally that got under way just prior to the close on Monday. Bullish sentiment was bolstered by declaration of increased dividends on common stock of Continental Motors and American Locomotive and the disclosure of record sales and higher net income in 1944 for Freeport Sulphur and Goodrich.

Another factor aiding the advance was the immediate oversubscription at 25% of a special offering of the New York stock exchange of 32,400 common shares of Dome Mines.

All sections of the list joined the forward movement. With "Big Steel" up 2 points, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube rose more than a point to new highs in 1945. Motors were up small fractions.

New Strike Looms In Eastern Mines

Washington, Feb. 28 (UP)—Bushy-browed John L. Lewis took the center of the stage today in a mounting drama whose final act may bring a strike in the nation's war-wital bituminous coal mines.

Lewis called his United Mine workers policy committee into a late afternoon session for what a spokesman called a "full dress rehearsal" on the wage demands that the mine chieftain will present to coal operators tomorrow.

The present coal wage contract expires March 31. Four days before that time, the government will conduct a poll among UMW membership to determine whether they want to strike in event a satisfactory wage settlement is not reached.

The UMW demands will not be made public before they are presented to the operators. But they are known to cover wages, working conditions, mine safety, veterans rights and anticipated post-war problems.

Outlines Views

As his ship approached the American coast, he spent an hour with three press association correspondents who joined his party at Algiers, going over the accomplishments of the Yalta conference. He made these specific points:

1. He looks forward to a time after the war when armament of all nations, including the United States, England, Russia, China and France, will be decreased.
2. Germany and Japan should at some time be added to the assembly of United Nations members, but only after they have shown a definite trend away from militarism. This possibly will require more than 50 years of concrete proof.
3. Until Germany and Japan have made considerable, unmistakable progress toward peace-keeping forms of government, the United Nations should, by force if necessary, see that they are utterly incapable of arming or preparing for war in any manner.
4. A plan of American-Russian-English occupation of Germany has been worked out, but will have to be changed according to the degree of French participation in the occupation.
5. The "Big Three" meeting and the later conference between the president and Churchill at Alexandria, Egypt, were concerned with Europe and not the Pacific. In fact, the president said the Pacific situation just did not come up in his later talk with Churchill. It did not arise in the tripartite conversations because Russia is neutral toward Japan and this country is respecting that neutrality.
6. The people of the United States, particularly in face of European successes, too often blow hot and cold about the war in the Pacific. The actual situation is that even once Germany is defeated, we face a long, hard war in the Pacific. This fact, the president said, needs particular industrial emphasis in this country.

Special Meeting Of C.A.P. Called

A special meeting for CAP members and cadets will be held at headquarters in the Bank of Bend building tonight at 7:30 for the purpose of showing a film that will be returned Thursday, J. O. Blumman announced today. The film, "Learn and Live," deals with aircraft accidents due to carelessness and shows applicable and actual incidents, he stated.

This meeting will be informal and cadets and members will not be required to attend. Those who do wish to come will not be required to appear in uniform and non-members interested are welcome to attend.

Bend Veteran of 40 Missions Takes Test to Fly Plane Here

Capt. John A. Runge, Jr., B-29 pilot, knows that there is quite a lot of red tape in the army but when he came home recently after 40 bombing missions in the south Pacific the red tape angle souped his mind. He just forgot all about it and when his sister, Mrs. Mary Ellen Davis, asked him to take her up he said, "Come on."

They went out to the Bend municipal airport and the captain produced his pilot's license. The license had a lot of fire power. It gave him permission to fly planes ranging in horsepower from 225 to 6,600.

The training planes at the airport hover around 65 horsepower. The man at the airport was sorry, but—

So the B-29 pilot with the distinguished flying cross, the air medal, oak leaf clusters, the major engagement stars and other hardware of a similar nature, had to go back to the Civil Aeronautical authority office in Bend and fill out the proper forms. Then he had to take a written examination. (He passed it.) After that he had to make an engagement with the instructor at the local field. Then he had to go out, enter a trainer, let the instructor ascertain that his safety belt was properly fastened, and be officially checked out for an hour's solo flight.

The hour's solo was a little monotonous, the
