Illinois Plans 103 Million for Its Public Works

Chicago (AP)—Illinois will benefit from a $103,554,647 postwar public planning works program set up by the Illinois postwar planning commission here recently.

The program includes construction of buildings and other permanent improvements in the state university and colleges, state hospitals and penal institutions, government buildings at Springfield and the acquisition of a state office building in Chicago.

Chairman Anderson Pace said construction would be started as soon as Gov. Dwight H. Green and the state assembly approve the program and men and materials are available. The projects are expected to help "furnish employment for many men released from service or war production."

Separate Program

The commission emphasized the public works project is independent of the state highway program and other projects which will draw $200,000,000 from specially reserved funds.

Under the program an advance of $10,000,000 would be made to counties, municipalities and school districts who would match the funds to make local postwar improvements.

Veterans' hospitals and recreation facilities would receive $7,988,600; tuberculosis hospitals, $3,000,000, and the armory board, $9,155,045, to carry out its plans to set up 14 additional armories for veterans' organizations.

One-fourth of the entire project is slated for improvements to the University of Illinois and five normal universities and teachers' colleges. The Urbana campus would receive $11,769,000 to construct residence halls, a Betatron laboratory and buildings for chemical engineering, fine arts, electrical engineering, veterinarian studies, band and physical education.

3 Million for Chicago U.

The university's Chicago campus would receive $2,500,000 for an addition to the general hospital, atmospheric research, utilities distribution system and land acquisition.

Also to receive improvements are Illinois State Normal university at Normal, Southern Illinois Normal university at Carbondale, Northern Illinois State Teachers' college at De Kalb, Eastern State Teachers' college at Charleston and Western Illinois State Teachers' college at Macomb.

Other projects included were a state office building in Chicago, estimated at $5,000,000, construction and improvements of state buildings at Springfield, erection of six regional health centers and expansion of the health department's laboratory building at Carbondale.

The commission also approved $10,304,000 for the maintenance construction at 19 state hospitals and institutions; $2,500,000 for an Illinois security hospital and additional sums for improvements at Alton, Kanakee and Dixon hospitals.

38 Prison Projects

Thirty-eight separate projects to improve facilities at Statesville, Joliet, Menard, Pontiac and Vandalia penal institutions will cost approximately $5,341,580.

The department of conservation, initiating a program to control water levels throughout the state, and the Illinois aeronautics commission, planning an airport program in connection with the federal airport network plan, would receive a grant of $3,000,000.

there, Coyne said the turtle was evidently somebody's pet because it had the number 13 painted on the back of its shell. The firemen kept it as a mascot.
